WINNER'S Canadian Vermifuge.

THE best remedy ever yet discovered for all kinds of WORMS. It not only destroys Worms and invigorates the whole system, but it dissolves and carries off the superabundant slime of mucus, so prevalent in the stomach and bowels of children, more especially of those in bad health.—The mucus forms the bed or nest in which Worms produce their young, and by removing it, it is impossible for worms to remain in the body. It is harmless in its effects on the system, and the health of the patient is always improved by its use, even when no worms are discovered; the medicine being palatable, no child will refuse to take it, not even the most delicate.

Sold Wholesale and Retail by J. Wright & Co., 151 Chartres st., New Orleans. A. E. RICHARDS is the agent for "Winner's Canadian Vermifuge," in Plaquemine, and also for the sale of "Dalley's Pain Extractor." mar11 ly

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25, 1848.

To Dr. Sherman's Agent, 151 Chartres street: Dear Sir—Having derived great benefit from the use of Dr. Sherman's Balsam, you will permit me to address a few lines to you. I have been troubled for a long time with a bad cough, together with raising blood, to such a degree that I could scarcely talk without coughing. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Sherman's Balsam, and in less than two weeks after its use, I find myself perfectly well, and able to attend to my business. I have recommended it to several of my friends, and in all cases with success.

Yours, dear sir, with respect. J. E. BRISCOE.

Clerk for T. L. White, 53 Canal st. Residence, 24 Maria street, New Orleans STILL THEY COME!

Having accidentally become acquainted with the virtues of Dr. Sherman's All-Healing Balsam, I have no hesitation in declaring that its use in my family warrants the assurance that it possesses all the gifted qualities attributed to it. In one case, where the medicine was taken on my recommendation, the effort was almost magical, as the Cough and Expectoration of mucus matter bore a strong analogy to a decided consumptive tendency. I believe a more general knowledge of this medicine is only required to place it among the best curatives extant, for Consumption, Dyspepsia and other diseases arising from a disorganized state of the stomach and affections of the lungs.

JAMES REESE, 13 Camp st., New Orleans. MOBILE, December 7th, 1847.

I hereby certify, that for 18 months I had been lingering under Consumption, and expected every day to be my last. At length I procured a bottle of Sherman's Balsam, and it raised me as it were from the grave. It cured me, and I am now able to attend to my daily avocation of a boatman.

The Albany Meeting.

The squall at Albany has purified the air, and the Whig party, instead of suffering dissolution, has been strengthened and invigorated by the commotion of the political elements. A letter from Albany to the New York Express, says:

ALBANY, Aug. 20.

The newspapers will give you the particulars of a meeting on Monday evening, which has resulted, I may add, in doing great and good service to the Taylor and Fillmore ticket. We have been much indebted to Mr. Collier for the admirable manner in which he directed the excited feelings of the assembly on Saturday evening—an excitement created altogether by false telegraphic representations from New York. Mr. Wheaton made a very able speech, and came out heartily for Taylor.

The resolution to support the electoral ticket nominated by the State Convention, was carried almost unanimously. There were not, I think, a dozen voices in the whole meeting against it, and these, I presume, were Locofocos—so that this indignant meeting, called expressly for the purpose of denouncing Taylor, was turned into a real ratification meeting—about the best, and I think the very best, and most effectual, that we have had during the campaign.

For the benefit of our Loco readers we subjoin the report adopted at the adjourned meeting. They are heartily welcome to all the comfort they can find in it:

REPORT.

The committee to whom was referred the correspondence between Mr. Pringle, as chairman of a Taylor meeting in Charleston, S. C., and Gen. Taylor, respectfully report: That they have given the subject their careful and deliberate consideration, and are led to believe that the respectable meeting, by whom your committee were appointed, have acted under some misapprehension as to the position assumed by Gen. Trolor in this correspondence.

It seems to have been supposed that this nomination, communicated in the Pringle letter, and accepted by Gen. Taylor, emanated from a Whig meeting, who had repudiated the nomination of Millard Fillmore, our candidate for Vice President; and under that impression, it might well be expected that such an act of supposed treachery, on the part of Southern Whigs, would have provoked the just indignation of the Whigs of the North, and particularly of his friends and fellow-Whigs in his own State. It turned out, however, that this nomination of Taylor and Butler, in truth, comes from a body of seceding Locofocos, who have very properly discarded their own candidate, Gen. Cass, and put a better man in his place; and that Gen Taylor, in his answer, while he accepts the nomination on its face to come from the "Democratic citizens of Charleston," expressly tells them, his acceptance is "without pledges or conditions."

Your committee do not see in this letter of General Taylor, anything inconsistent with the course he has uniformly pursued, and he was nominated at the Whig National Convention, with full knowledge of the position he thus occupied. If this movement had proceeded from seceding Whigs, who had abandoned Mr. Fillmore, and refused to support him, it would have presented a very different question, but we must do the Southern Whigs the justice to say, that, so far as we are informed, they have throughout acted with perfect good faith towards Mr. Fillmore; and their Whig banners are all, without a single exception, inscribed with the names of "Taylor and Fillmore." Let not the whigs of New York then, set the example of bad faith, which they have been so eager to condemn, in the mere anticipation of that disaffection which now proves never to have existed among the Southern Whigs. South Carolina boasts of never having given anything but a Democratic vote in thirty years. We have always conceded the vote of that State to Cass and Butler. Shall we put ourselves in a passion if Taylor shall help us to a split ticket in that State? On the contrary, ought we not to rejoice at it, and be glad to compromise for such a vote?

Your committee deem it the imperative duty of all Northern Whigs, and particularly of the Whigs of New York, who have been favoured with the nomination of a candidate from their own State for Vice President, to support in good faith the nominees of the Philadelphia Convention. We are now to choose between Taylor and Fillmore on the one hand, and Cass and Butler on the other. We all had our preferences, and our favorite candidates, for the nominations. We have many of us been grievously disappointed in the result. But Taylor and Fillmore are now the only candidates of the Whig party, and we surely ought not to hesitate to give that ticket our united support. So long as the Whigs of the South are true to us, let us, without faltering, be true to them:

Your committee have, upon full consideration, unanimously agreed to submit and recommend to this meeting, the following resolution:

Resolved—That the further consideration of this subject be referred to the Whig State Convention, and that we will cordially support the Electoral Ticket which that convention shall nominate.

All which is respectfully submitted:

JOHN A. COLLIER, FRANKLIN TOWNSEND, SAMUEL STEVENS, WM. GREENE, H. A. WILLIAMS, H. B. HASWELL, CHAS. S. OLMSTEAD, H. G. WHEATON.

How Cass votes are Manufactured.

On Wednesday night as the packet Cataract was coming from the West to this city, after the passengers were all in their berths, conversation continued quite lively, the temperature being considerably above the sleeping point.—Some one threw out the remark that there was not probably a single Cass man on board. Immediately a voice exclaimed, "I am for Cass." Another from a distant berth chimed in, "I too." Still another muttered, "And here's a Cass man," till twelve were counted for the great Michigander. The thing was all explained in the morning—that outrageous ventriloquist, Winchell, was aboard! Although refusing to vote once for Cass by daylight, he confessed to the twelve votes of the preceding evening.—Rochester American.

THE DEAD SEA.—Our explorers have finished their undertaking, and are on their way home. We shall soon know whether they have plumbed Sodom and Gomorrah. An English Lieutenant, Moleneux, of the Spartan frigate, made an exploration, last September, of the Dead Sea. Having arrived at what was thought the deepest water, soundings were obtained at 225 fathoms; the arming of the lead was clear, with some pieces of of rock salt attached to it. Two other casts of the lead were taken at different times: one gave 178, the second 183 fathoms, with bluish mud or clay. The water has an obnoxious smell, and is greasy and unpleasant to the touch. Iron was corroded by it, and looked as if covered with tar. No fish or any living thing was found in the water. Lieuts. Lynch and Dale state that they caught fish, and that they found birds in their experiment. The Dead Sea, however, is singularly deep, showing that it must have been a volcano.

STOPPED.—The Indiana Patriot, published at Greencastle, Indiana, stopped a few days ago with the following valedictory:

"We think there is no printer, who was ever in this place any length of time, but what would as soon go to sea on a shingle, chase a streak of lightning thro' a crabapple orchard, dip the Mississippi dry with a gourd, dam up the waters of the Niagara, or set the Pacific on fire with a match, as to attempt to establish a permanent paper in this place. The idea is preposterous."
