WINER'S Canadian Vermifuge. THE best remedy ever yet discovered for all kinds of WORMS. It not only destroys Worms and invigorates the whole system, but it dissolves and carries off the superabundant slime of mucus, so prevalent in the stomach and bowels of children, more especially of those in bad health.—The mucus forms the bed or nest in which Worms produce their young, and by removing it, it is impossible for worms to remain in the body. It is harmless in its effects on the system, and the health of the patient is always improved by its use, even when no worms are discovered; the medicine being palatable, no child will refuse to take it, not even the most delicate.

Read what it has done! More Home Testimony in Favor of DR. SHERMAN'S ALL-HEALING BALSAM. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25, 1848. To Dr. Sherman's Agent, 151 Chartres street: Dear Sir—Having derived great benefit from the use of Dr. Sherman's Balsam, you will permit me to address a few lines to you. I have been troubled for a long time with a bad cough, together with raising blood, to such a degree that I could scarcely talk without coughing. A friend of mine advised me to try Dr. Sherman's Balsam, and in less than two weeks after its use, I find myself perfectly well, and able to attend to my business. I have recommended it to several of my friends, and in all cases with success. Yours, dear sir, with respect, J. E. BRISCOE, Clerk for T. L. White, 53 Canal st. Residence, 24 Maria street, New Orleans STILL THEY COME! Having accidentally become acquainted with the virtues of Dr. Sherman's All-Healing Balsam, I have no hesitation in declaring that its use in my family warrants the assurance that it possesses all the gifted qualities attributed to it. In one case, where the medicine was taken on my recommendation, the effect was almost magical, as the Cough and Expectoration of mucus matter bore a strong analogy to a decided consumptive tendency. I believe a more general knowledge of this medicine is only required to place it among the best curatives extant, for Consumption, Dyspepsia and other diseases arising from a disorganized state of the stomach and affections of the lungs. JAMES REESE, 13 Camp st., New Orleans. MOBILE, December 7th, 1847. I hereby certify, that for 18 months I had been lingering under Consumption, and expected every day to be my last. At length I procured a bottle of Sherman's Balsam, and it raised me as it were from the grave. It cured me, and I am now able to attend to my daily avocation of a boatman. JOHN WILLIAMS, Prepared and sold by A. SHERMAN, M. D., 106 Nassau st., New York. Sold also in New Orleans by J. WRIGHT & Co., 151, Chartres st., and by mar 11 y A. E. RICHARDS, Plaquemine. Frauds upon the People.

Having nothing true to allege against the gallant patriot whom the Whigs have taken up as their candidate for the Presidency, the veto party, the advocates of War and Carnage, the abholders of Monarchical principles in this Republican Government of ours, are, says the National Intelligencer, resorting in the most contemptible frauds to sustain their candidate and to detract from Gen. Taylor. The five Lives of Gen. Cass have been already sufficiently exposed on the floor of Congress, so that the People are upon their guard against the fables in the English tongue which have been devised to bolster up the Democratic candidates. But how are the libels in other tongues, such as those described below to be guarded against? We know of no way but to direct the finger of scorn against every man who has any thing to do with either the manufacturing or circulation of them. Shame on all who publish wilful lies in defamation of the pure, the upright, and single-hearted Taylor!

[From the Indiana State Journal.] For the purpose of misleading and deceiving the Germans, the Locofocos are circulating pamphlets, written in the German language, among that portion of our people, filled with the most gross and infamous abuse of Gen. Taylor. It is asserted in the pamphlet that Taylor is in favor of prohibiting the right of suffrage by all foreigners until they shall have resided in this country twenty one years. Desperate, indeed, must be their cause when they resort to such means to advance it.

[From another Indiana paper.] Searched a day passes but the Locofocos are detected in the perpetration of some fraud or other; but the last and the basest that we have seen for some time is a pamphlet in German, and addressed to the Germans of the country, in which the most unblushing falsehoods are dealt out at wholesale in regard to Gen. Taylor's alleged hostility to our honest Irish and German citizens. These pamphlets are no doubt secretly distributed throughout the length and breadth of the country by floods.

The Whigs ought to be on their guard against such outrageous frauds. Were the Germans a forward and talkative people, such Locofoco efforts would always soon come to light; but their well-known soberness and taciturnity almost precludes any thing of the kind. The Locos must be horribly frightened at the prospect of the honest Germans and Irishmen of the country going for Gen. Taylor when they stoop to such means to prejudice them against him.

Washington and Taylor.

Speaker Winthrop in his Washington Monument oration on the 4th of July, adverted to the fact that Washington had no more public education than was afforded by the common schools of Virginia.—Hence his vigorous use of his own resources. Such a man is Taylor. Washington was distinguished by a certain Doric simplicity of character perfectly admirable. So is Taylor; but he is a slaveholder! So was Washington. And the mercy, the humanity, the practical wisdom of such slaveholder, we would any day and in any crisis prefer a thousand fold to the restless and random benevolence of your genuine abolitionist, who screams out his motto, Fiat justitia, ruat cælum.—They would bring the pillars of the republic about our ears, but erect no structure on its ruins. The integrity of Washington—it was complete. So is Taylor's. Both developed a firm and calm reliance on God in the hour of alarm and peril. Each in the midst of his little army was a host in himself. Vigilance after victory was exhibited by both, as much as skill and intrepidity amid the shock of arms. Both knew too well the miseries of war, to lightly throw away the blessings of peace.

It eminent in war, both will go down to posterity more so in peace. One little difference may not pass unnoticed. Washington had no predecessor to name him. But Gen. Taylor was named by his predecessor, Mr. Polk, though he 'meant it not so.' The order that sent him to the Rio Grande, laid the first stone of his inauguration on the 4th of March, 1849, to the Presidency of this great Union, now filled with his fame. It is thus that men plan and propose, but Providence disposes.

Mr. Fillmore's Personal Appearance.

In the Boston Atlas we find a letter from Newport, R. I., which thus describes the personal appearance of Mr. FILLMORE, the candidate for the Vice Presidency on the Taylor ticket:

Hon. Millard Fillmore, (next Vice President that is to be) has returned to the urgent calls of his office, Albany, leaving his lady and son among the gaieties of the place. As he remained only two days at Newport, my opportunity of meeting was not frequent, but sufficient to impress me with the same happy opinions as I find in the New York Mirror which I subjoin as being just and complimentary:

"During his brief visit he has made hosts of personal friends, and produced an impression among men of all parties, who enjoyed the pleasure of his society and conversation that can never be forgotten. As much as we have always respected the political character of our candidate for the Vice Presidency, we were not prepared to find him, in every sense, so much superior to the ordinary politicians of the day.

He is, to begin with, one of the finest looking men in the nation; nearly six feet in height, a perfect model in his physical proportions, and his manners, movements and conversation exhibiting that happy union of dignity and affability which gives assurance to all who come in contact with him, that he is every inch a man and a gentleman. We have no lack of fine looking, dignified and accomplished gentlemen, as all acknowledged who have seen our Sixty Senators "in Congress assembled;" but among all the noble heads and stalwart frames of that dignified body, there is not one who looks better qualified to preside over the Solons of the nation than Mr. Fillmore.

His arm has the strength of the blacksmith's, his walk the freedom of the Indian's, his face the honesty of the farmer's, his brow the intellect of a scholar, and his manners the polish of a gentleman. It is to be regretted that the laborious duties of his office confine him so close at home that the people have but little opportunity of seeing him. Where are all the picture-makers? Let us have his likeness, at least to circulate with Old Zack's; they would, together, admirably represent the Rough and Ready ticket; and even the "counterfeit presentment" of our handsome candidate for the Vice Presidency would make converts among the ladies by thousands. The admiration which he excited yesterday among the mermaids on the beach, when taking his first plunge in the surf, and out-swimming the most expert of bathers, made us wish that in the coming contest the ladies could be heard at the ballot-box; and no doubt many "strong minded women" will be able to give us a proxy vote for Taylor and Fillmore when the day comes round."

An exchange says, there have been many definitions of a "gentleman," but the prettiest and most poetic, is that recently given by a girl. "A gentleman," said she, "is a human being, combining a woman's softness with a man's courage."

Cheat the doctor by being temperate, cheat the lawyer, by keeping out of debt; and cheat the demagogues of whatever party, by voting for honest men.
