

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on Monday, a petition was presented from the colonization society, praying congress to recognize the independence of the republic of Liberia.

On motion of Mr. Dickinson, the deficiency bill was taken up. The chair decided that Mr. Benton was entitled to the floor, which he took and concluded his remarks which were commenced on Friday. He warmly and vehemently advocated the admission of California as a separate measure.

Mr. Douglass wanted the vote taken, and therefore moved that the resolutions of the committee be laid on the table, and that the senate consider the bill for the admission of California as a state. He wanted something practicable.

Mr. Cass explained briefly. He fully agreed with Mr. Clay, and added that the committee could do no harm, for there was but one more way of settlement of the question. He considered the debate about separating the bills as irrelevant, as there was time enough for that when the committee reported.

Mr. Foote opposed the motion of Mr. Douglass for a test vote at the present time, as many senators were absent, and moved that the subject be postponed till Thursday, with the understanding that the debate should then close.

Mr. Bradley said he wished to speak on the subject, and it was postponed. In the House, the judiciary committee reported the census bill, which was made the order of the day of Thursday.

Sir JOHN FRANKLIN REPORTED NEW.—Mr. John Franklin, fish merchant, New York, has received a letter from his brother at St. Paul, Minnesota, dated March 12, stating that a dog train had arrived at that place the day before, from the Sitkik settlement, some distance above Lake Superior, which reported that an American vessel had sent a letter by some Indians, stating that Sir John Franklin had been found. News had also been forwarded from Capt. Todd, of Fort Games, by Capt. Kirkman, stating that a party of Esquimaux reported Sir John Franklin had been seen, with his ships frozen up in the ice. But a second report makes it the Plover, which was sent out in search of Sir John.

THE HOUSE IN PANAMA. The Panama Star states that, on the 12th of March, an armed party of Spaniards assaulted an American named Finnegan, who was at the time quietly entering his house with some friends, first shooting him in the shoulder, and afterwards showering missiles upon him. It is thought he would have been killed, if the Americans had not rescued him. A number of other Americans were injured during the night. Serious difficulty was apprehended by the Americans in that place.

A RECENTER took place on the 14th, in a battle, between two American, G. W. Turner, of Texas, and James Parker, of N. Y. in which the latter was mortally wounded. There seems to be great need of a strong government in that region.

MEXICAN BOUNDARY LINE. A letter in the New York Commercial Advertiser, states that the Commissioners to run the boundary line between Mexico and the United States, had decided that in the present state of things in California, it would be impossible to run the line beyond the mouth of the Gila towards New Mexico; and have therefore adjourned to meet at Paso del Norte on the 14th of November next. The Commissioners are said to have got on together in the most harmonious manner. They had decided to erect a white marble obelisk at the initial point of the line, on the Pacific, nine feet high, having the names of the Commissioners and Surveyors, in English and Spanish, the latitude and longitude, direction of the line, &c. There is to be a similar monument near the mouth of the Gila. There are also to be erected five east-west monuments of about four hundred pounds weight each.

THE POLLY OF TAKING SLAVES TO CALIFORNIA, is thus exemplified in a recent number of the St. Louis Republic.— "In some instances, at least, the experience of Missouri goes to this extent, that the slaves remain with their masters, just long enough to get to California, and then they set off for themselves. Slave property is no use there."

The gaming law of Kentucky makes it a penitentiary offence to play at cards. The severity of the punishment has heretofore rendered the statute wholly nugatory. One poor fellow, however, with whom games of hazard had become a passion, a few weeks since was visited with the untimely rigor of the law, and sentenced two years in the penitentiary. It is said he wanted to bet his gold watch against a hundred dollars that he could bet the sheriff, who was accompanying him to the place of his imprisonment, the best five in seven at a game of euche.

About 120 kegs of powder exploded in the powder magazine of the Andover Mine, in Sussex Co., N. J., on Tuesday last, by which two promising boys, sons of William S. Johnson, one of 12, and the other 11 years of age, were instantly killed. Their bodies were blown into fragments. The cause of the explosion is unknown. The concussion was sensibly felt at the distance of 10 or 12 miles.

A despatch from Washington says that there are four millions of dollars of specie in the U. S. mint—at the sub-Treasury not included. One million was paid out of the sub-Treasury on Monday, on account of the Mexican war indemnity due in June.

The New York Herald complains very severely of the verdict of the Jury in the Webster case, it says, "we do not assert that the prisoner was not guilty; but we do assert that he was not proved to be guilty, by any legal evidence of a reliable character, and we defy all the lawyers to the contrary."

INTERFERENCE OF ENGLAND WITH THE SLAVE TRADE OF CUBA. By the Europa, accounts are received to the effect that Lord Palmerston has addressed an energetic note to the Spanish Government complaining of the scandalous manner in which the Slave trade is carried on in Cuba, and the threatening to blockade the Island if his representation is not attended to.

AVOCATE. We find the following good anecdotes in the columns of the Boston Post, and recognize it as a "true bill."

South May, of Winthrop, Maine, is a great wag, and one of the most successful lawyers in the state. He is a politician, too. He was once a democrat, and even now he never loses an opportunity of getting off a good joke at the expense of the whigs, though he left the democratic party several years ago, and joined the liberty party. In 1841, after the whig party was thrown into convulsions by the bank votes of President Tyler, we heard him of acting with the liberty party for the sake of drawing off whigs, and asked him if it was so. "Really," said May, "your assurance reminds me of an incident that transpired last fall. You know, brother Virgin," he continued, "that you whigs could not hold a mass meeting then without having a log-cabin and cider-barrel to enforce your arguments. One morning, when great parade was being made for a gathering of the commons in Winthrop, I was about crossing a street, when Gen. Clark, the marshal of the day, accosted me with 'May, what do you think of that?'—at the same time pointing to a banner which was streaming from a liberty-pole, with the inscription painted on it, 'Harrison and reform.' The assurance of his manner reminds me of yours, brother Virgin. I hastily looked at the banner, and observed that the painter had made the name of Harrison about twice as large as the words 'and reform,' which followed. I also perceived that the liberty pole, though on an eminence, was set in the burial-ground. 'Why, general,' said I, 'I think it is great Harrison, little reform, and whiggery in one corner of the graveyard.'— Now, sir, do you not think that was a prophecy? Harrison, a good man he was, has passed away. Your vice president, Tyler, (you doubtless remember your old song)—

"Will vote for Tyler therefore, Without a why or wherefore," has vetoed your bank-charters, and your whole party is now dressed in mourning."
