

BOOST Ellsworth Food Fair, Jan. 27-Feb. 1,

OBITUARY.

MRS. JULIA A. KINGMAN.

Julia A., widow of Calvin Kingman, late of Waltham, passed away suddenly, from a weakness of the heart, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. James A. French, in Ellsworth, on Thursday, Jan. 9, at the age of eighty-one years.

Mrs. Kingman was born in Waltham Jan. 3, 1832, daughter of Nahum and Harriet (Kimball) Haslam. She was one of a large family, yet with all her disadvantages, by her energy and diligence, at the age of sixteen, she was teaching school, which work she continued until after her marriage on Sept. 26, 1850.

She lived in Waltham until after the death of her husband, about fifteen years ago, when she came to Ellsworth to live with her daughters. By her quickness and energetic nature she was able to accomplish much, and was ever ready and willing to do for others. For many years of her life in Waltham she was depended upon to nurse and administer unto the sick. She was very active, and retained the full use of all her faculties to the last. She was often seen walking on the streets with the alertness and appearance of a woman of fifty.

Mrs. Kingman was endowed with a gift of talent which was quite remarkable, a sort of second sight, and was sought by many far and near for information relative to business or lost or stolen articles, and the accuracy of her readings often startled those soliciting her aid. This gift she had since she was a girl. With this talent, and a strong memory for remedies for accidents and sickness, she was a valuable member of her community.

Her husband was the owner of a lumber mill, many of the crew often boarding in the family, but she was ever ready to share the burden, and was quite capable of doing so. She was also a great help in her husband's business affairs, and in the business of the town in the various offices he filled for many years.

To Mr. and Mrs. Kingman were born five children, all of whom survive—Mrs. Charles Martin and Hervey W. Kingman of Waltham; Mrs. James A. French and Mrs. Lynwood F. Giles, of Ellsworth, and Elmer L. Kingman, of Brewer. She is survived also by one sister—Mrs. John F. Morrison, and one brother—Wellington Haslam, both of Ellsworth.

The funeral was held at the home of Mrs. French Saturday afternoon, Rev. R. B. Mathews officiating. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The remains were placed in the tomb here, and will be taken to Waltham for burial in the spring.

MRS. JOHN D. HOPKINS.

This community is deeply pained to learn of the death yesterday noon, Jan. 14, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Bedman, in Dorchester, Mass., of Caroline M., widow of John D. Hopkins, in the seventy-eighth year of her age.

Caroline M. Jordan was born in Ellsworth April 25, 1835. Her father, Samuel Jordan, was the second son of Col. Melatiah Jordan. Her mother was Clarissa, daughter of John Blunt, of Lamoine; she was the youngest and last surviving member of a family of eight children.

In 1854 she was married to Charles E. Jarvis, of Castine, and by this union was born a daughter—Julia A. Jarvis (Redman), who survives her. Upon the death of her husband in 1862, she returned to her former home, and in 1866 was married to John D. Hopkins, late of Ellsworth. Since the death of Mr. Hopkins her home had been with her daughter, Mrs. Redman, in Dorchester.

For several years Mrs. Hopkins had been in failing health, and finally death, though not wholly unexpected, was hastened by bronchial pneumonia. During her active life she was prominent socially and in the church. In her early life she was an attendant at the Ellsworth Congregational church, which was built by her grandfather, and for a number of years was a member of its choir. After her marriage to Mr. Hopkins they together actively engaged in the work of upbuilding the Unitarian church in Ellsworth.

Although on account of ill health Mrs. Hopkins had not been able to visit Ellsworth for a number of years, she will be remembered by many as a woman of energy, who contributed much to the welfare of the community in which she lived. She was possessed of a generous and sympathetic nature, and the hospitality of her home was known and enjoyed by many besides those of her own family.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Redman, she is survived by two step-daughters—Mrs. Maria H. Howell and Mrs. Charles A. Lyon, of Bangor, and two grand-children—Caroline H. Redman and Fulton J. Redman.

Prayers were said this morning at her late home in Dorchester by Rev. Dr. Anderson, of All Souls' church, Roxbury, and the remains will be brought to Ellsworth. The funeral service will be at the Congregational church tomorrow at 2 p. m., conducted by Rev. R. B. Mathews.

MRS. ADELIA C. MOORE.

Mrs. Adelia C. (Swan) Moore, a native of Waltham, daughter of Daniel S. Swan, died at the home of daughter Mrs. Frank Horn, in Pleasant Valley, Cal., Friday, Jan. 3. Her own home was in Paicines, Cal. She had been in poor health several months, and on Christmas day was taken to the home of her daughter.

Mrs. Moore was born Dec. 26, 1839, at Waltham, Me., where her childhood was spent. Later she moved to Lawrence, Mass. In January, 1864, at Waltham she was married to Eben M. V. Sowle, of Gouldsboro a half-brother of B. T. Sowle, of Ellsworth. Mr. Sowle enlisted in the Civil war, and was killed in battle May 7, 1864.

On Oct. 28, at Gouldsboro, she married Alfred Moore. They moved to Island Falls, Me., where they lived until 1877, when they moved to California.

She is survived by her husband—Alfred Moore, at Paicines, a sister—Mrs. Charles Smith, at Watsonville, Cal., the last survivor of Daniel S. Swan; and the following children: Abijah C. Moore, of Paicines; Mrs. Arvilla Brewster, of Corralitos, Cal.; Mrs. Arvilla C. College, of Galt, Cal.; Mrs. Ida M. Thompson, of Fruitvale, Cal.; Mrs. Salina Horn, of Pleasant Valley, Cal.; Eli C. Moore, of Corralitos, Cal.; Mrs. Mabel L. Williams and Edwin S. Moore, of Paicines. She leaves also seventeen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

STATE SOLONS.

Legislative News of Interest to Hancock County Readers.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.

The fight is on in the Maine legislature for election of a United States senator. The vote in the House yesterday was tied up by four progressive members, who voted for E. M. Thompson, of Augusta, Mr. Burleigh, and Mr. Gardner each received 72 votes. In the Senate, the vote was on party lines—Burleigh, 21; Gardner, 10. The failure of the House to give a majority yesterday throws the election into joint convention to-day.

The voting in the House yesterday was preceded by a lively row when an order was introduced to unseat three members, who are postmasters. Parliamentary tactics to delay the vote on this order were resorted to, with the result that only one had been installed when the hour for voting for senator arrived, and other business had to be suspended. The fight will be renewed in the House this morning, with the Burleigh supporters resorting to every means to prevent a final vote on unseating the postmasters before the hour for joint convention arrives.

In the meantime, the postmaster-members have telegraphed their resignations as postmasters to Washington, in hopes of retaining their seats by this method.

The progressive members held a convention last night, after which it was announced by one of them that while he had considered himself bound to vote for Mr. Burleigh on the first ballot, he no longer felt so bound. How many others there are who take this view is uncertain.

This is an exciting day at Augusta, and the voting at the joint convention will be the climax.

Standing committees of the Senate were announced Wednesday. Senator Hagarthy is on the committee on bills in the second reading, and Senator Patten on the committee on engrossed bills.

Senate and House on Friday passed an order limiting the date for receipt of petition and bills for private and special legislation to Wednesday, Feb. 5.

In the Senate Thursday, Senator Hagarthy introduced a bill to repeal the act under which the clerk of courts is recorder of the Ellsworth municipal court by virtue of his office, and providing for the appointment of a recorder by the governor.

Senator Hagarthy on the same day presented a bill to amend the laws in regard to boards of registration, providing for their appointment in towns of 3,500 instead of 4,000 as at present. The enactment of this law would make a board of registration necessary in Ellsworth, instead of the work of registering voters being done by the municipal officers as at present, the population of Ellsworth according to the last census being 3,549.

In the House Thursday Rep. Sherman presented a resolve in favor of an appropriation of $2,000 a year for the Bar Harbor hospital, and Rep. Ricker presented an act to amend the scallop law. Mr. Ricker's bill provides a penalty of $50 for depositing scallop refuse over, on or near scallop beds. It is the present practice of those catching scallops to throw all shells and rinds of the scallops overboard, which, it is claimed, is an injury to the beds. It is understood the law is advocated by the fishermen themselves.

Rep. Bragdon, of Sullivan, on Friday presented a bill to prohibit the taking of smelts in Egypt bay, Franklin bay and Taunton bay and river and their tributaries lying above Sullivan Falls, in any manner except by hook and line. The penalty for violation is a fine not more than $30 or imprisonment for not more than thirty days for each offense. The bill was accompanied by several petitions in favor of the same.

The honor of presenting the first petition of this session for woman suffrage, fell to a Hancock county representative, J. M. Hutchins, of Penobscot, who presented petition of Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, president, and Isabel H. Stickney, corresponding secretary, of the Maine W. C. T. U.

Rep. McBride, of Mt. Desert, yesterday presented four petitions for the opening of all roads in the town of Mt. Desert west of Somes sound, to automobiles.

BAR HARBOR AUTO LAW.

Two bills providing for the admission of automobiles into the town of Eden were presented Wednesday, one by Senator Patten in the Senate and the other by Rep. Sherman in the House.

The Senate bill provides for the opening up of any and all public highways within the town if the citizens so vote.

The House, bill repeals the present automobile exclusion law, and permits the use of motor vehicles on two highways leading directly through from the town of Southwest Harbor and Tremont to Eden town line. The House bill further provides that at a town meeting the voters may close to motor vehicles the following highways: Norway drive, beginning at Liscomb's corner and extending on the Eagle Lake road to the Young's district schoolhouse; Breakneck drive between Hull's Cove and the Eagle Lake road; Ocean drive, beginning at the bridge at the foot of the hill near the Satterlee property to a driveway of the Country club near Otter Cliffs.

Both bills went to the judiciary committee. Both bills bear the emergency clause, but this is meeting with an opposition which will probably result in that clause being stricken out, as it can hardly be urged that the admission of autos to Eden concerns the "health, peace or safety of the State," as required to constitute an emergency act.

Thus the admission of autos would be delayed until late in the summer, when the law, if passed, would become effective without the emergency clause, and opens up still further possibility of delay if the law passed requires submitting the question to vote of the citizens of Eden, or if the referendum is invoked by the anti-auto faction. It is easily possible that the bars against autos will stay up through another summer.

LEGISLATION OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In the Senate Wednesday an order for a joint select committee to investigate the high cost of coal in Maine was presented. There was a breezy little discussion on this order Thursday, and it was given a message and sent down to the House, where it was passed Friday.

A resolve to change the date of State elections in Maine from September to the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, was introduced in the Senate Wednesday.

In the House Thursday there was a lively little tilt on the question of reference of the proposed public utilities bill referred by the last legislature and recommended by Gov. Haines in his message. There is a movement on foot to send the bill to a special joint committee instead of to the legal affairs committee. Some of the members see in this a deeper significance than appears on the surface. The advocates of the public utilities bill plan doing away with the railroad commissioners. In the place of these will be a body of men who will have supervision of not only the steam and electric roads, but the electric light and power companies. It is understood that three would be named for the body.

The good roads bill was presented in the House Thursday.

A memorial to Congress in favor of the bill now pending to create a national park at Mt. Katahdin, has been passed by both branches of the legislature.

The much-heralded public utilities bill, a summary of which is printed elsewhere in this issue, was presented in the Senate Monday.

ELLSWORTH FALLS.

Miss Helen King, of Bar Harbor, is visiting Asa C. Flood and family.

Harvard Clough is home from Boston, where he has been for several weeks.

Winslow D. Moore, of Otis, spent Monday night with his mother and sister here.

W. M. Davis and wife spent Sunday at Amherst, guests of Mrs. Davis' parents, E. R. Giles and wife.

W. J. Johnston, of Bar Harbor, was here over Sunday, the guest of Charles W. Smith and wife.

Raymond R. Haslam, of Machias, was here one day last week and bought a horse from Henry E. Davis.

Ira B. Hagan, jr., returned Monday from a surveying trip of several days on townships 21 and 22.

Almond G. Jellison and wife came home Tuesday from a month's visit with F. H. Lowell and wife, of Tarrytown, N. Y. They stopped over Sunday and Monday in Lynn with Frank O. Morang and wife.

Capt. Lyman Johnson, his wife and son, of Lubeck, who have been visiting James Staples and family, have gone to Green Lake for a few days' visit with Fred E. Grace and wife before returning home.

The many friends here of D. E. Loweree and family were sorry to learn last week of Mrs. Loweree's illness of pneumonia and of Miss Frances' illness of diphtheria. Word comes this week that both patients were stricken only in a mild form, and are improving. Miss Millie A. Trewoy went to Boston to act as nurse to Mrs. Loweree.

DOLLARDTOWN.

Mrs. Stephen B. Floyd and little son, John Spofford, of Marshfield, Ore., are visiting Mr. Floyd's parents, G. B. Floyd and wife.

THRONG OF BUYERS CONTINUES

Special Half Price brings Many Patrons to G. A. Parcher's.

The people of Ellsworth and vicinity appreciate the great advantage G. A. Parcher obtained for them in getting the Dr. Howard Co. to allow the regular 50 cent size of Dr. Howard's Specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia, to be sold at half price, 25 cents, and have bought hundreds of bottles.

Unlike ordinary medicines for constipation and dyspepsia, the dose of Dr. Howard's specific is reduced after a few days' use, and the cure is soon complete and lasting.

If you have not already taken advantage of this chance to get a month's medical treatment for 25 cents, be sure to call at G. A. Parcher's to-day, for he has only a small amount of the specific on hand.
