LARDNER & BAXTER.

ARE OF ONE MIND

The Doctors Employed by Leonard's Relatives.

DELUSION AND DISSIPATION

Seen From the Evidence to Have Been His Prominent Characteristics—Status of the Case Yesterday.

The Leonard case continues to attract much attention, the room being filled with spectators every day. Mrs. Charles Leonard is in daily attendance, but Mrs. Fred Leonard has not appeared so far this week. Dr. Palmer was on the stand yesterday morning and again Fred was obliged to listen to the diagnosis of his case. He was apparently unaffected. Dr. Palmer in his testimony described insanity from the standpoint of an expert. He said that Fred had failed considerably since last July, and although there may be intermissions, the disease is always there and the apparent gain is always temporary. The progress of the disease is sure and its results certain. On cross-examination Dr. Palmer said he formed no opinion regarding the case before he saw Fred.

Fred's Frequent Drunken.
While in Petoskey the witness spent five hours with Fred. During this time Fred visited the saloon seven times and after each drink he lit a fresh cigar. The symptoms of paralysis could not be caused by liquor. The witness might be mistaken in his diagnosis, but he was very positive that he was not. Fred is, he said, suffering from general paralysis. Witness had watched Fred in court and he was more nervous now than he was last summer, and in his opinion Fred cannot live long. He had heard of the gold cure for the liquor habit, but had no faith in it as a permanent cure from what he had observed.

The afternoon session opened with Dr. Palmer on the stand. He said his opinion as to Fred's sanity was formed from Fred's own statements regarding himself.

More Specialist Testimony

Dr. Justin Emerson of Detroit, a specialist in nervous diseases, was the next witness. He testified to having practiced in Kalamazoo insane asylum. He had first seen Fred Leonard in Windsor, where he had gone to see Fred by the request of Charles Leonard. Fred told the witness of large silver mines he owned near Windsor. Dr. Emerson made arrangements with Fred to go to the mine, but Fred backed out. He had also talked with Fred regarding his refrigerator. Fred told witness of his affliction, and told him of the many places he had visited for treatment. Fred told the witness that he had discovered a remedy which was doing him good, but he refused to tell what it was. Witness said Fred's talk denoted paralysis, he being unable to sound the R in his words. He believed Fred to be suffering with a certain form of insanity peculiar to persons of nervous temperament. He thought Fred was incompetent to manage his property.

Insurance Person's Oddities.

On cross examination he said his attention was first called to the case by Charles Leonard, who notified him that there was a suit pending, and that he was to examine Fred Leonard and to form an opinion of Fred's sanity. He was accompanied by Detective Morse of Cleveland, Ohio. Morse told Dr. Emerson that Fred had been drinking a good deal, but it was not particularly noticeable. Fully as many persons of a high degree of intelligence become insane as those of less intelligence. Detective Morse and Charles H. Leonard had given the witness a detailed story of Fred's former intelligence, by which the witness was to form an opinion of Fred's present condition. He said that while he didn't consider the refrigerator scheme one of Fred's delusions, he considered it impracticable, as he didn't think the generation of the gases from the chemicals could be performed in a small vessel. Witness had never heard of the mines near Windsor.

Another Expert.

Dr. David Ingles was the next witness. His occupation is that of professor of mental and nervous diseases in the Detroit medical college. He had examined Fred with reference to determining his mental condition. He also went with Detective Morse to Windsor, where Fred was staying. He was introduced as "Mr. Burns." Fred said he had been feeling very well and was greatly pleased over his gold mine. He said Fred claimed to have struck a vein twelve feet under ground which assayed $2,000 to the ton. Fred intimated that the whole county was permeated with gold and deluded upon his great wealth. He told the witness of his refrigerator and claimed that his patent included all refrigerator cars. The doctor noticed that Fred was partially paralyzed, and that there was a general weakness in his muscular movements. Mr. Morse said at that time offers to buy a portion of the gold mine, but Fred refused to sell. The witness did not consider Fred competent to manage his business or to take care of himself.

On cross-examination he said that Detective Morse advised him to take the name of "Burns the lawyer" when he met Fred, as he had a great hatred for M. D.'s. The witness formed his opinion of Fred's sanity before he ever saw him. On direct, the witness said that insane persons often had lucid spells. Witness did not think it naturally followed that Fred was insane, because he paid his livery bills and made his relative presents on Christmas.

An Acquaintance Testifies.

George W. Best of Chicago was the next witness. He had known Fred for thirteen years. At present he resided in Chicago, but formerly lived in Oswego, N. Y. He had seen Fred every year when he lived in Oswego; had seen him on the St. Lawrence river. Witness always considered Fred a brilliant young man. Witness is connected with the United States Insured Fiber company, and Fred called on him for money, and he was reimbursed by Leonard & Son. This was in 1888; Fred's appearance was then entirely changed. He was very shabby. Witness thought Fred a licker for Mexico City, when he made that trip in 1888. On one occasion Fred asked for a hundred dollars, but the Fiber company did not give him the money until they had wired Grand Rapids concerning it. On cross-examination witness said he did not know that Fred drank, although he had been with Fred on times when, if Fred was a drinking man, he would have found it out.

John Holsted of Chatham, Ont., testified that he lived in Windsor during 1891 and part of 1892. He was employed as a clerk at the British American hotel. He met Fred at the hotel on April 2, 1892. His wife was with him. Fred had asked for rates, saying he was going to stay three weeks, but he left in three days. He came back again the same day, but left again the same evening. After two weeks he came back and stayed a few days, when he left for Marquette to look after a gold mine. The witness had always had charge of Fred's papers, which contained a contract for 50,000 tons of ore to be shipped to the old country. The value of the shipment was $250,000. Fred had told the witness about the refrigerator and had said that he had interest in the largest refrigerator factory in the world; also said that he was going to put out as his brother as his brother was robbing him. Fred told the witness that he was "on his uppers" and was obliged to pawn his ring for $2. It was a ring which he claimed his wife gave him. Fred was very untidy and complainants were made regarding the state of his room. The witness did not think Fred able to care for his property.

On cross-examination, witness testified that he was not arrested in Windsor in May, June and July for being drunk and disorderly; nor had he been discharged from the British American hotel. He said he had seen Frank Leonard in "Blister & Winay's" (Fletcher & Wentz's) office. On re-direct examination witness stated that Fred Leonard was not drunk when he made the statements regarding the refrigerators and the gold mines.

ANOTHER CHARITY HOME.

Holland Union Benevolent Home to Be Opened Next Week.

If the number of charitable homes in the city are to serve as an indication Grand Rapids is one of the most charitable cities in the world. There are homes for the aged, homes for the orphans, homes for children, homes for the sick, homes for fallen women and a home for the old soldier.

Next week a new home will be opened at the corner of College avenue and East Bridge street, which, while not as imposing as some of the other homes of the city, will do a grand work no doubt, as it is to be conducted by a class of people most humane and kind to the poor and aged. It is the Holland Churches home, which is now being fitted up in a cozy manner for a home for the aged of their denomination.

The house is roomy enough to accommodate twelve persons, and is being fitted with new furniture throughout. Plain but substantial carpets cover the floors, tasty paper adorns the walls and a few appropriate pictures are hung in the main rooms. The home is located at the northwest corner of College avenue and Bridge street, in a house formerly occupied by Sergeant Webb of the police force. It stands far back from the street, with fine old oak trees covering the spacious lawn. Back of the house is a large barn, which will be moved up to the house and added to it when the present home needs to be enlarged. C. A. Vander Veere and wife are in charge of the home and will be in charge when it is opened. The doors will be thrown open to the public the latter part of next week.

The plan of having such a home was first proposed by the Rev. A. Kruckard, who communicated his desire to members of his own church and then to members of other churches. The result was the formation of the Holland Union Benevolent association about one year ago. The officers are: President, the Rev. A. Kruckard; treasurer, J. A. S. Verdier; assistant treasurer, J. C. Heyboer; secretary, Dirk Moenge. Some hard work has been done in raising funds and the result is a very fine home. One of the first inmates will be J. Van Leman, formerly editor of the "Yankee Dutch."

BELKNAP GAINS.

The Committee Discovered Plenty of Errors Yesterday.

At the recount committee session yesterday Belknap's string was increased by six votes. Errors were found in every township counted. In Boone Richardson gained but one vote, although his petition for a recount claimed that in that township twelve votes which had been cast for him are as follows: Lowell, first precinct, Belknap, 232; Richardson, 130; Clute, 33; not counted, 13; Belknap's gain, 1. Lowell, second precinct, Belknap, 182; Richardson, 161; Clute, 33; not counted, 9. Belknap's gain, 4. Byron, Belknap, 140; Richardson, 229; Clute, 27. Not counted, 14. Belknap's gain, 4. Gaines, Belknap, 144; Richardson, 118; Clute, 43. Not counted, 8. Richardson's gain, 1. Caledonia, Belknap, 231; Richardson's gain, 1. Not counted, 8. Richardson's gain, 1. Boone, Belknap, 173; Richardson, 112; Clute, 17; not counted, 10; Richardson's gain, 1.

Yesterday's session ends the count of the county outside of the city; in all, about one-third of the votes have been counted.

Sued the City on a Patent.

Nathan D. Ross of Peru, Ind., began suit in the United States circuit court in Grand Rapids yesterday against the city of Grand Rapids. Ross claims that the contrivances used in tripping the engine house doors in this city are an infringement of a patent procured by Robert Bragg, but assigned in 1885 to I. C. Walker. In September last these patents were assigned by Walker to Ross. He therefore brings suit to have the city enjoined from using the contrivances in use or to pay a royalty for the use of them. This is the suit which has been threatened for more than a year.

His Head Bled by Cut.

An unknown man was thrown out of Henze's saloon at No. 68 Canal street shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Parker McAuley, a bartender, and was seriously bruised and sustained an ugly scalp wound over the parietal bone. He was taken to St. Mark's hospital where he was attended by Dr. Lupinski.

Do Not Miss This.

This evening there is one of the grandest treats in store for those who attend the entertainment given at the Ladies' Literary club rooms on Sheldon street, by the Burns club. The celebrated violinist, Prof. James Paddon of New York, late from Paris, where he has studied under the greatest masters of that city, and who is now with the West Michigan college as the master instructor of the violin will appear among the first numbers on the programme, and those who have not heard him will have an opportunity to do so, if they come early to the entertainment. Also the renowned lecturer, Rev. William A. College of Cadillac, will talk for one hour upon the characteristics of the Scotch nation. His name alone is sufficient to draw a full house. Mrs. Dr. Hosken, Mrs. Andrew Fyfe, Mrs. Nellie Owens Coats, Miss Alice Ross, Mr. Andrew Fyfe and Dr. W. H. Ross will take part in the programme. All who can should attend, as the entertainment will be very instructive and enjoyable in every feature.

This is St. Andrew's Day.
