

GIVES CAUSES CONTRIBUTING TO HOSTILITIES

Anthony Lucas Discusses Austro-Servian Troubles

The virtual annexation of the provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina during the wane of the recent Balkan war by the dual monarchy of Austria-Hungary, has been a fruitful cause of the Austro-Servian war, according to prosecuting attorney Lucas of Calumet, a close student of European political history, particularly as it pertains to the Austro-Slovenian nations. Prior to the Balkan war, Austria exercised only a protectorate over these provinces, and Servia always cherished the hope that some day they might become a part of King Peter's domain inasmuch as they are peopled by Slavs and closely allied with Servia in tradition, religion and commercially. This and Austria's refusal to permit Servia to retain a very desirable seaport, acquired by conquest in the Balkan war, aroused among the Servians a feeling of intense hatred for Austria and all things akin to Franz Josef's government.

This feeling of hatred was openly cultivated by propaganda and public utterances, which the government made no effort to restrain, according to Mr. Lucas, and finally the whole kingdom was fired with this intense feeling. The cowardly assassination of Crown Prince Ferdinand, Austrians believe, was deliberately planned and with the full knowledge of the Servian government. It is the desire of Austria to suppress for all time this feeling among Servians as much as the spontaneous outburst of indignation at the assassination of Ferdinand, that caused Franz Josef to let loose the dogs of war to chastise that country.

The impression existing generally that Croats are in open sympathy with Servia, because they also are of a Slavonian race, Mr. Lucas denies. Croatia, while not on the best of terms with Austria, politically, is a peaceful nation and such acts as Ferdinand's assassination are abhorrent. With the Austrians, Croats lay responsibility for this murder at Servia's door.

Loyal to Austria.
Croats, Hungarians, and other branches of the mixed races which compose the great monarchy, will remain loyal to Austria for another reason, in Mr. Lucas' opinion. All have served in the Austrian army at some time or another, and it is not easy for them to forget the respect for the flag and allegiance to the government that flag represents.

Austrian Poland is ideally situated from an Austrian viewpoint if Russia seeks fit to take a hand in the present trouble. Being located directly between Russia and the old empire of Hungary, the Poles will fight with Austria for their very self-preservation in keeping out any possible Russian invasion.

Such a conflict has long been planned for by the Austrian government and the Austrian Poles have been furnished with three splendid rifles and the best of equipment to be used in case they are ever called upon to act as a buffer between Russia and the Austrian empire. It is a question if they would fight so willingly for Austria against any other foe, but there is nothing on earth they dread as they do Russian oppression and in the struggle that now seems probable, they would fight to the last ditch.

POWDER MAKERS' REFUSAL TO SUPPLY AMMUNITION MAIN REASON FOR HUERTA'S FALL

Washington, Aug. 2.—That the refusal of the government's powder-makers, the Duponts and other American manufacturers of munitions of war to supply Dictator Huerta was one of the reasons of his downfall, is a recent revelation. Secretary of the Navy Daniels has contributed this information to recent history. Secretary Daniels said the powder companies were under no restraint from the government and praised their action as one of patriotism.

This gives a somewhat different picture of the "war trust" than the one circulated during the critical period of the Mexican trouble. Dictator Huerta banked upon the latter estimate of the American powder companies when he defied the United States. Simultaneously with his defiance he called large orders to American powder manufacturers. When Vera Cruz was first occupied the Dupont company, it is now learned, sent its vice president to Washington to see Secretary Daniels. He was assured that the government would not stop shipments of powder to Mexico.

At this the company's representative declared that not a pound of powder would go to Mexico while any danger remained that American powder might eventually be shot at American troops, and all Mexican orders were immediately cancelled, regardless of financial loss.

ONLY ONE WOMAN HOLDS CAB DRIVERS' LICENSE IN ENGLAND.

London, Aug. 3.—England, according to census returns published has but one woman cab-driver. She has held a license for twenty-six years, can be seen every day outside Bembridge station, Isle of Wight. The holder of this license bears the truly British name of Mrs. John Bull. Her uniform consists of a neat blue skirt and coat and a hard bowler hat. For funerals and weddings she assumes the added dignity of a top hat.

Mrs. Bull started with a pony and gig, and from the earnings of that provided herself with a horse and smart landau. It is her boast that she grooms her own horse and can harness him and be in attendance at any residence in the parish within ten minutes of receiving orders. Mrs. Bull gained her knowledge of horses while in the service of Sir Donald Currie, and afterwards on a ranch in Texas.

With the business of cab proprietor she combines that of pig breeding, and may frequently be seen taking stock to Newport market. She attends market personally and strikes her own bargains with the dealers.

SAYS GREATEST VIRTUE IS LOVE

Overshadows All Relations of Men, Says Rev. L. K. Long

Sunday morning at the Calumet Congregational church the pastor, Rev. Luther K. Long, took for his text I Cor. 13:13, 14—"Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong. Let all that ye do be done in love."

He said in part: "These words suggest to our minds, not a man of such physical stature, but one tall and strong who speaks in trumpet tones. Paul in the preceding chapter, the great resurrection chapter, has become so engrossed with the perfection and glory of the resurrection of body and life that he speaks out of the strength of a present participation in the power of the risen life, and is able to give the Corinthians advice of unusual wisdom.

"Watch ye." This is counsel to be alert, open-eyed, quick to perceive, awake to all the interests and dangers and opportunities of life. As the Indian in his alertness takes note of every unusual sound and motion and condition, and is not easily caught or surprised, so the Christian amid the many enemies and pitfalls of life is to be on the lookout that he be not taken unawares or fall into the power of sin.

"Stand fast in faith." The great Christian teachings are to be studied, understood, believed and made a part of the Christian's being. The fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, the divine order of the universe looking toward the establishing of the Kingdom of God on earth, the possibility and blessedness of union and fellowship with God here and in the world to come—these are some of the teachings of greatest importance. Too often standing fast in the faith is taken as meaning allegiance, most of all to the narrow sectarian beliefs that are responsible for the scandal of an unnecessarily divided Christian church.

"Quit you like men." Childhood is interesting and attractive. But Paul would have one who has reached the physical size of a man to also attain the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ. Too many times manhood has not been the most characteristic thing about men. Sometimes they have been known to thrust their women into the front of the battle. Boys have been known to make use of the feeble-minded to gain unworthy ends. This use of the methods of an ancient relative who takes the cat's paw to draw chestnuts from the fire is not calculated to make men who will be true men.

"Be strong." This seems to command the impossible. Can the sick be well at will? Can the weak be strong at will? In a sense, yes. The will to be well can gather the forces of health resident within the body, and lay hold of the means at hand for recovery. The will to be strong can rally the elements of strength already in one's possession and wisely direct them, and can take hold of the divine help without which all our strength is but weakness.

"Paul had become so possessed of the ideas on the greatness of love which he had so wonderfully conceived and expressed in the thirteenth chapter of this letter that he can not leave these practical suggestions which he is making without recalling the spirit in which all their lives are to be lived. So he says, 'Let all that ye do be done in love.' This, that is greater than wisdom, or knowledge, or foresight, or faith or hope, is to overshadow and permeate and sweeten all the varied relations of men. 'And now abideth faith, hope, love—and the greatest of these is love.'"

COUNCIL WILL DISCUSS MANY IMPORTANT PROJECTS

LIGHTING CONTRACT LIKELY WILL BE SIGNED—EXTEND TAX WARRANT.

One of the most important meetings of the Laurium village council is scheduled for tomorrow evening when the lighting contract with the Houghton County Electric Light company will come up for final action. At the July meeting, a proposal was offered on a five-year basis and it is not unlikely that this plan will be adopted. Included in the contract is a clause pertaining to the ornamental lighting on Hecla street and tomorrow's meeting will lay plans for the erection of poles from which the new lamps will be suspended. The lighting company proposes that the businessmen pay for the lighting for the first year and after that period, the village take over the ornamental system. In order to obtain an expression from the merchants, a petition was circulated and freely signed, in which they desired that a new Tungsten system, similar to that in Portage Lake town, be installed. The cost will be slightly in excess of that now paid for the incandescent lamps but the latter is deemed inadequate.

The tax warrant will come up for discussion and following a custom which has been in vogue for several years, it likely will be extended. This is only a formality but to legalize the extension of tax collections, the step is necessary. The final warrant fixes the time limit for the third Monday in October.

The street and town hall improvements will be given attention and advance payments on both contracts likely will be made. The work on both has advanced satisfactorily and there is little doubt that they will be completed within the specified time limit.

COMPLAINT IS FILED.

Dairy Company Charges That Inspector Rowe Was Overzealous.
Asserting that the milk cans destroyed in Marquette by Deputy Dairy and Food Inspector Rowe, of Laurium, were in good condition when they left the dairy in Appleton, the Poets Woods company has made complaint to the state dairy and food commissioner against the methods they allege were used by Mr. Rowe, says the Marquette Mining Journal.

On his recent visit to Marquette, Mr. Rowe saw the cans in the M. M. & S. E. freight depot, considered that they were in bad condition, because of rust and other faults and destroyed some of the worst of them. The others he sent back to the owners, with a formal complaint about their condition.

The state dairy and food commissioner has asked Mr. Rowe for the reasons for the course he took. Dr. Main, the city health officer, says Mr. Rowe's action was fully justified and he will write the state commissioner to that effect.

STRAND-JOHNSON NUPTIALS.

The marriage of Miss Madelin Johnson, the daughter of Mrs. Mary Johnson of Calumet, and Rudolph Strand, was solemnized at the home of Rev. A. E. Monell Saturday evening. The ceremony was witnessed only by a small number of friends and relatives of the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Strand left Saturday evening for Milwaukee and St. Paul where they will spend their honeymoon.

THE WAR IS ON

The Copper Country has declared WAR on inaction; WAR on idleness; WAR on indifference; WAR on "Letting well enough alone."

The response to the call for volunteers has been more than satisfactory.

The opening engagement will occur tomorrow. This is a war of construction rather than a war of destruction.

This is a battle for better homes; better towns, better times.

This is a war for independence, industrially, financially, commercially, socially.

It is a time for every loyal, patriotic Copper Country citizen to stand to his guns.

It is a time for YOU to show that you are brave enough to make a sacrifice for your home country.

Calumet and vicinity will be canvassed tomorrow, (Tuesday,) by more than 100 voluntary solicitors. These gentlemen who are donating their time and influence to the cause will call upon every house in this territory. They will ask for subscriptions to stock in the Copper Country Holding company. They will give you an opportunity to help yourself by helping your community.

These solicitors will ask you to invest your money in a corporation which will pay no salaries, but which will devote every penny of its capital to the industrial development of the Copper Country; a corporation which will maintain no expensive offices; a corporation composed of and officered by your home people, and which will be 100 per cent efficient.

The Copper Country has for more than half a century been a one-industry community. The entire district has been supported by the wages of 15,000 to 18,000 men employed in copper mining. When the wages of those men ceased for any reason the income of the entire district was cut off. The object of the Copper Country Holding company is to bring into this region a diversity of industries, making for greater independence and greater stability. The object of the Copper Country Holding company is to bring in industries which will furnish employment for the boys and girls and the men who for one reason or another cannot be employed in the mines.

The Copper Country has deliberated and pondered for a quarter of a century. The time for action is here. LET US ACT.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN INSURANCE?
THEN REGARD EVERY DOLLAR INVESTED IN STOCK OF THE COPPER COUNTRY HOLDING COMPANY AS INCOME INSURANCE.

BY ASSURING THE FUTURE INDUSTRIAL STABILITY OF THIS DISTRICT YOU ARE INSURING YOUR OWN INCOME AND THAT OF YOUR CHILDREN AND THEIR CHILDREN.

HOW MUCH IS THAT WORTH TO YOU?
BE READY WITH YOUR ANSWER WHEN YOU ARE CALLED UPON TOMORROW.

A few men or a few corporations cannot make a success of the holding company project. Do not endeavor to shift the burden to other shoulders. WE NEED YOU AND YOUR SUPPORT AND INFLUENCE.
BE READY.
