TONOPAH BELMONT.

It now develops that the new strike on the north level of the Devers Queen workings of the Tonopah Belmont comprises two parallel veins. One vein is now plus feet wide, showing ore that runs from 400 upward a ton. The second vein is three feet wide and equally rich.

The two ore shoots are contained in the richest showings since the 1911 vein was encountered. One 200-ton lot of ore has been shipped during the month.

Shipping.
Gross earnings in August were $212,967, comparing with $111,999 in July and $184,809 for the month of July. Much of the August output is due to the mine. Owing to prevailing conditions in the silver market $185,750 in bullion were shipped during the month.

Miami.

Don Lee, vice president of the Florida Phosphate company of America has brought suit in this state against the Miami Copper company for infringement of patent of the Florida process.

The company lost out in the suit against one of the Florida mines, but has concluded to raise a chance at the Miami company in a new phase of the method.

It is said that the company can bring suit against any corporation using their method in all the various districts in which they are doing business, as they now intend to do.

COPPER BRINGS TWELVE CENTS.

Large Sales of Electrolytic Ore Made. Market Put to Test.

The American Metal Market says: "Some large sales of Electrolytic copper have been made to consumers at twelve cents, delivered thirty days, thereby breaking a deadlock that has existed for some time. The business was done on representations by leading producers that they would accept twelve cents if a suitable amount of orders were given them, and it is understood that the business ran into a fairly large tonnage.

The Lake producers have not yet announced a corresponding reduction in their quotations, but are still holding at nominal prices of from 12 1/2 to 13 cents, outside offers at 12 1/2 to 12 3/4, are being wanted on "good ordinary brands," which are the basis for the prices we publish below.

The copper market is being put to a severe test. American consumption is increasing. It has been at any time since the war started and the same condition prevails in England, which is the only country to which we can export with any freedom. Production, we understand, is down to about 50 per cent of normal but stocks are large and cannot be forced for sale on a market like this.

LIGHT VOTE IS OUTLOOK IN NEW YORK ELECTION

Intricate Ballot May Keep Many From Polls Tuesday

New York, Sept. 26.—On Tuesday next the voters of New York will go to the polls to make their party nominations for the numerous candidates to be voted for at the November election. Nominations will be made for United States senator, representatives in Congress, governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state controller, state treasurer, state engineer, attorney general, judge of the court of appeals and members of both branches of the legislature.

Most interest naturally centers in the contest for the senatorial and gubernatorial nominations. Republicans and Democrats will have three names each on the ballot for the United States senatorship to succeed Elihu Root, who declined to become a candidate for re-nomination. The Democratic candidates are Franklin D. Roosevelt, James S. McDonough and James W. Gerard, the present ambassador at Berlin. The three Republicans are David Jayne Hill, James W. Wadsworth, Jr. and William M. C. Cullen, Jr. Colby of New York city will be unsupported for the Progressive nomination for senator.

Seven For Governorship.

There are seven candidates of the different parties for the nomination for governor. The fight among the Democrats is between Governor Glynn and John A. Hennessy. The three Republican candidates are District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, Job E. Hodges and Harvey D. Hinman. Frederick M. Davenport of Oneida, a former state senator, seeks the Progressive nomination. Mr. Davenport was once candidate for lieutenant governor, opposed to him for the Progressive nomination for governor is former Governor William Sulzer. So far the Progressive leaders seem to have been unable to estimate to their own satisfaction just what proportion of their vote can be controlled by Mr. Sulzer, who is a candidate on his own invitation.

Picking candidates in the primaries will not be the easy job this year it has been in others. There never was a time in the history of this state when an enrolled voter could not go into the voting booth on primary day and by merely folding a ballot and handing it back to the election official could perform all the duty he was called upon to perform in a primary election.

Mark For Every Candidate.
This year it will be different. With the new direct primary law in effect every voter when he enters the polling place Tuesday will be called upon to exercise both his mental and physical faculties to a greater extent than in any previous primary or general election in this state.

The new ballot is a modified form of the Massachusetts ballot, necessitating the marking of one X mark in the voting space which appears in front of every candidate for whom he desires to vote. This will require the enrolled voter to mark his ballot in at least thirty-five different places, and in some instances he may be called upon to mark it fifty times, provided he desires to vote for the candidates for the County Committee from his election district. An organization control will depend entirely on the ability of a leader to control the County Committee, it is likely that good organization men who in other years have done their full duty by "voting the straight ticket" will be held to the necessity of picking out laboriously from a list of from twenty-five to twice that number of candidates for County Committee places the candidates wanted by the organization leaders.

Fifty Marks on Ballots.

With the election of members on party committees and the nomination of party candidate for offices, there are districts where the enrolled voter may be required to mark his ballot in as many as fifty places in order to vote the full ticket. Nor will the primary ballot in use for the first time this year have the party emblem, familiar from of old, to guide the loyal organization man in picking out the candidates bearing the organization sign in the form of emblem placed at the top of a party column.

The present primary ballot was designed frankly for the purpose of discouraging "straight ticket" voting and to compel the enrolled voter to practice discrimination in the picking of his candidates for nominations or party positions. That incidentally the ballot should become a baffling puzzle to the illiterate voter did not deter the enthusiasts for election reform from pressing their plea for the elimination from the primary ballot of the party emblem, which they contend should not be used as a means of giving advantage to one candidate over another in a family quarrel. They did not win their point without opposition from the machine element of both the older parties in the legislature, and it was only after the law had been enacted that the discovery was made that it provided for numbers in the space beside the name of each candidate where a party emblem will appear on the general ballot.

JAIL GERMAN BARONESS.

London, Sept. 26.—Baroness Marie von Neuber, a member of the German nobility, was sentenced to twenty-one days' imprisonment for failing to register as an alien enemy of Great Britain. Her husband is commanding the Eighth German army corps. The baroness keeps a private school in London, and has a son in the British service.

SHELL PEACEFUL TOWNS.

German Ambassador Points to Attack on Dusseldorf.

New York, Sept. 26.—Count von Bernstorff discussed with some spirit the criticism leveled at the German army for dropping bombs upon cities out of airships. He observed that while the Germans had dropped their bombs upon fortified cities, it appeared that the French and English fighters had sent them down upon unfortified cities. "According to English official news, English aviators threw bombs on unfortified Dusseldorf, which, would, in my opinion, throw an interesting light on the professed indignation of the allies when the Germans threw bombs on the fortified cities of Antwerp and Paris," commented the ambassador.

Java possesses ruins of temples of a vanished religion that in vast wealth of sculpture surpasses anything Egypt can show.
