A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says:

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience, have never seen a preparation that I would prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can that's Catarrh Cure manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours truly,
L. L. GORDON, M. D.,

$10 REAL VALUE FREE!

Our new stamping outfit is free to every reader of this paper. It contains 100 Perforated Patterns and includes a great variety of all sizes that are needed. This outfit is a real work of art, as no such stamping outfit has ever been offered heretofore. It is worth anything like as much as this, but in order that its wonderful utility was brought to bear, with each outfit a box of paint, STAMPING Powders, Pads, and full Instructions, giving full directions for stamping, how to make the powder into shading paint, how to use Dusters, Lustre, Kensington and Braid Painting, tells where to use in painting—red, white, blue, yellow, pink and other flowers; also common birds and many others in other nature, too numerous to mention. Remember, you receive 100 patterns at a time, at one price, viz., $10. Although it is free, yet this is the Regal Queen of Stamping Outfits and every lady should be acknowledged to be superior, yes, very much superior, and very much more desirable than those high priced outfits selling at $1 each and upwards. As having 200,000 of these outfits on hand, and during the dull season, we get them at that rate, the manufacturer was glad to sell us the entire stock, that his help might be kept at work. All may depend that it is the very best, most artistic and up-to-date outfit ever put before the public. Farm and Homestead says: "It large pages, 64 long columns, regular price $1 a year; is generally acknowledged to be the best general agricultural, horticultural and family journal in America; is in every way worthy of great success, as well as the liberal patronage it receives." It has a large staff of brilliant writers. We have lately become managing owners of that grand old paper, Sunshine, for youth; also, for those of all ages whose hearts are not withered. It is large pages, 32 long columns, regular price 75 cents a year; is a model family paper in every respect; is as near perfection as the best minds in America can make it. The best writers for youth, in the world, are its regular contributors. It is now quoted all over the world as the best of its kind. Both papers are issued weekly, illustrated, and have been stricken. We will send 26,000 trial year subscriptions at a price which gives us but a moderate portion of the cost.

FREE! Furthermore, every trial year subscriber, for the papers as follows: 1 name and 1 mark, 12 cents; 2 subscriptions and 2 outfits, at one time, 25 cents; 4 subscriptions and 4 outfits, if sent at one time, 50 cents; send a dollar bill, but for less, send 1 cent postage stamps. Better at once get these friends to join you, at 25 cents each; you can do it in a few minutes and there will thank you; papers will be mailed promptly. Address, in full, as above.

FREE! trial year subscriptions are served for much less than cost, it proves the rule that a very large proportion of all who read either paper for a year, want it thereafter, and are willing to pay the regular price of 75 cents a year, through life, as these subscribers do.

FREE! The trial year subscriptions are almost free, and the $10 Regal Queen of Stamping Outfits is the best ever known to the public. Large sizes of patterns—every size that can be desired in a book of 100 patterns, all other outfits surpassed, by far, the best. No space to tell of the Regal Queen. Before we go over 26,000 of these outfits, the present low price will be withdrawn. Better at once get these friends to join you, at 25 cents each; you can do it in a few minutes and there will thank you; papers will be mailed promptly. Address, in full, as above.

One of the most curious natural phenomena in Florida is a boiling fresh water spring right in the Atlantic Ocean. This spring is situated about seventeen miles southeast from St. Augustine and about four miles out from the coast. Soundings have been made in it, but the force of the water throws the lead out one side or another.

Napoleon's Lost Treasure.

The New York Tribune writes as follows of one of the most remarkable historical incidents of the century, the disappearance of the first Napoleon's fortune: In 1810 he was far and away the richest individual in the world. He came out of the Italian campaign, ending in 1809, with $4,000,000, according to his own account. This, he maintained, was his private property. Taking the statements he made to his private friends and others at St. Helena, he must have hidden away when he left France the last time the enormous sum of $40,000,000 or 200,000,000 francs. This would make him very much the wealthiest man in the world, for the sum then was equal in influence to $200,000,000 now. No sovereign of his time could begin to approach him in personal fortune. Marshal Soult, the last of the imperial marshals (who died in November, 1851, just about a year before his great antagonist, the Duke of Wellington,) told a venerable French general officer, who repeated it to the writer, that when the emperor went to Elba he had 60,000,000 francs covered up in Paris alone. Of the $12,000,000 hard cash paid over at one time by the United States to Napoleon as first consul in 1803 it was common rumor—not very general, you may be sure, however—that 7,500,000 francs of the sum was never accounted for in vouchers. This might easily have been. Napoleon was then first consul for life. He could do just what he chose, and nobody dared call him to account. It is not very difficult to hide money in large sums, too, so it cannot be found, be the search ever so careful. Ferdinand Ward has some millions thus covered up, and no human being has ever yet found a clue to the stolen treasure. It was said and believed by many people, too, that Stephen Girard of Philadelphia had a large sum in his hands belonging to Napoleon I., which he would have handed over to him had he succeeded in getting away to the United States after Waterloo, as he tried to do. Louis XVIII., through his minister of finance, did all in his power to discover this hidden treasure, but those who knew would never tell. They probably took it themselves, when the Emperor died, in 1821. But it is a very interesting and romantic story, the disappearance absolutely of the greatest fortune in the world's history up to that time, leaving not a trace behind.

Telephonograph, or Speech Recorder.

The telephonograph, says The Western Electrician, is an instrument for recording in legible characters more especially articulated and musical sounds. It consists essentially in an arrangement of a flexible diaphragm to receive the impact of sound waves, which vibrated by such impact, causes vibration of the diaphragm that governs an ink-discharging point, a movable ribbon or paper being arranged to receive the discharge of the pen, whereby legible characters are recorded, representing the articulated or other sounds, as the case may be, received by the primary diaphragm.

The depending hollow pen is suspended from a second thin flexible diaphragm, so as to render the pen more sensitive in its lateral or vibratory movements. A vibratory rod connects the pen with the primary diaphragm, so as to cause the pen to vibrate in unison with the diaphragm. The pen is connected with the ink reservoir by means of a flexible tube. The ink reservoir discharges a continuous jet of ink through the pen whenever the instrument is put in operation. The ribbon of paper, having uniform motion imparted to it by clockwork, is caused to pass just under the pen so as to receive the jet of ink as it is discharged. When the apparatus is ready to receive or transmit, but the primary diaphragm is not vibrated, the ink makes a straight line on the paper. On the vibratory movement of the diaphragm, the pen moves substantially at right angles to the paper, corresponding to the sound actuating the diaphragm.

These figures always have the same character relative to the sound waves discharged upon the primary diaphragm. They are legible, and may be learned as other characters. This instrument records the spoken thoughts of men, and saves them the drudgery of the pen. It may be connected to a telephone where it will record all that is said. The listener, while hearing the words spoken at the other end, can see them being recorded.

Drew Ben's Picture.

One of the pages in the House of Representatives had a faculty of drawing. His sketches of the members were fairly good caricatures. The easiest mark for his pencil was the statesman from Massachusetts, and the caricatures of Ben began to float around the House pretty promiscuously. The matter coming to the attention of Mr. Ketler, complaint was made to the doorkeeper, who had charge of the pages. The offending boy was kept after adjournment to be reprimanded. He was taken before the statesman, who had waited to hold court on the little criminal.

"So you are the boy that has been making these pictures?"

"Yes, sir."

"Hum! How old are you?"

"Twelve, sir."

"Well, go to the cloak-room and get my hat."

The boy scampered off on the errand, glad even for the momentary respite, but revolving in his mind the possible character of the impending punishment, which was such that the judge needed his hat before going to the place of execution. When the youngster had returned and tremblingly yielded up the tile, the general, who has an enormous head, threw the hat like a candle snuffer down over the tow head and flaming face of the boy. It covered him like a second mortgage.

"My son," said the hero of New Orleans, "when you can fill that hat you may caricature Benjamin F. Butler. Now go."

The Discovery of Chloroform.

As seven towns in ancient Greece claimed to be the birthplace of Homer, and as five nations profess to have bought out the magnetic telegraph, so three chemists, each living in a different country, claim to have first produced chloroform. The persons who have aspired to the honor of being the first discoverer of chloroform are Liebig of Germany, Soubeiran of France, and Dr. Samuel Guthrie of Sacket's Harbor, New York. There appears to be little doubt that each of these discovered the substance that has proved to be of so great value in medicine and surgery without any hint from the other. The question of priority of discovery and of the first publication of it has always been in doubt.

The claims of each of the persons named above to priority of discovery have lately been considered by the Chicago Medical society, and a committee, after collecting evidence from three countries, have reported their belief that Dr. Guthrie is justly entitled to the honor of first discovering chloroform, and that his publication in regard to the production of the substance antedates that of either Liebig or Soubeiran.

Dr. Guthrie, who was the grandfather of O. Guthrie, Esq., of this city, was educated as a physician, but spent most of the years of his active life in the manufacture of chemicals. For many years he made the best gunpowder manufactured in this country, and its excellence was acknowledged by sportsmen everywhere.—Chicago Times.

Missing Fluid.

The great lakes are a foot and a half lower than they were three years ago. The prohibitionists must have been using the missing liquid for campaign purposes.—Rochester Post-Express.

The Proper Size.

Customer (to coal-dealer): "I want to get a ton of coal." Dealer: "Yes, sir; what size?" Customer (timidly): "Well, if it isn't asking too much, sir, I would like a two thousand-pound ton."—New York Sun.

A Little Mixed.

Nurse (to young husband): "A beautiful ten-pound baby, sir." Young husband (getting things mixed in his excitement): "Glorious! Am I a father or a mother?"—Texas Siftings.

"Nasal Voices, Catarrh and False Teeth."

A prominent English woman says the American women all have high, shrill, nasal voices and false teeth.

Americans don't like the constant twitting they get about this nasal twang, and yet it is a fact caused by our dry stimulating atmosphere, and the universal presence of catarrhal difficulties.

But why should so many of our women have false teeth?

That is more of a poser to the English. It is quite impossible to account for it except on the theory of deranged stomach action caused by imprudence in eating and by want of regular exercise.

Both conditions are unnatural.

Catarrhal troubles everywhere prevail and end in cough and consumption, which are promoted by mal-nutrition induced by deranged stomach action. The condition is a modern one, one unknown to our ancestors who prevented the catarrh, cold, cough and consumption by abundant and regular use of what is now known as Warner's Log Cabin Cough and Consumption Remedy and Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, two old fashioned standard remedies handed down from our ancestors, and now exclusively put forth under the strongest guarantees of purity and efficacy by the world-famed makers of Warner's safe cure. These two remedies plentifully used as the spring and summer seasons advance give a positive assurance of freedom, both from catarrah and those dreadful and if neglected, inevitable consequences, pneumonia, lung troubles and consumption, which so generally and fatally prevail among our people.

Comrade Eli Fisher, of Salem, Henry Co., Iowa, served four years in the late war and contracted a disease called consumption by the doctors. He had frequent hemorrhages. After using Warner's Log Cabin Cough and Consumption remedy, he says, under date of January 19th, 1888: "I do not bleed at the lungs any more, my cough does not bother me, and I do not have any more smothering spells." Warner's Log Cabin Rose Cream cured his wife of catarrah and she is "sound and well."

Of course we do not like to have our women called nose talkers and false teeth owners, but these conditions can be readily overcome in the manner indicated.

There can be no more certain and positive indication of the success and wealth in store for the farmer of Dakota, than is displayed by the progress of the past three years toward a diversity of crops. It means that he has become a stock-raiser as well as a tiller of the soil.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Cheers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.
