Advocates Right Training For Boy Farmers of State

G. W. Dickinson Sees Need of Constructive Work For All Youngsters.

The true mission of the Michigan State Fair, as seen by George W. Dickinson, secretary and manager of the exposition for the past decade, is one of educating the rising generation of farmers in the correct atmosphere.

So far, the Michigan State Fair has been a splendid force in the lives of boys and girls on the farms in this state. This has been indicated in the enthusiasm with which the youngsters have participated in the competition to win a place in the Boys' State Fair School.

Speaking before the farmers' club division of the board of commerce at Detroit, recently, Mr. Dickinson outlined the course in manual training, judging of stock and other valuable training which is given the boys who are brought to the fair.

"I believe the Michigan State Fair can be of invaluable service in educating our boy farmers," declared Mr. Dickinson, "and I propose, this year, to concentrate on making the educational division for boys better than it ever has been before."

"The Michigan Agricultural College

Geo. W. Dickinson

and the government now are co-operating with us through an extension course and the results are boldly apparent. The course for boys will be confined to stock judging and similar instruction and the training for girls will include cooking, canning, poultry culling and other things."

As has been the policy in the past, the expenses of 150 boys and the same number of girls to and from the fair and during their visit at the exposition will be defrayed by the fair.

Forrest Lord of Mt. Clemens, will head the department of Boys' and Girls' clubs, R. A. Turner, state club leader at M. A. C., East Lansing, is superintendent.

E. T. Cameron, of Lansing, will be superintendent of the educational department, assisted by F. W. Frostic, of Wyandotte, this year.

While discussing the educational department, the fair manager branched into a discussion of the interest in dairying in Michigan. Being a frank man he doesn't hesitate to criticize what he terms lathery.

"There is a great opportunity for improvement in the Michigan dairy world," said Mr. Dickinson, "and I have had visions of the State Fair playing an important role in the realization of a greater dairy Michigan."

"This year, visitors to the fair will see the finest butter sculptural exhibition ever put on anywhere. We also will show the various cheese products manufactured in Michigan, domestic, and dairy machinery of most modern type in operation."

Fred W. Warner, of Farmington, is the member of the board of managers, in charge of the dairy department.

Ninety-Nine Miles From Anywhere

SPREAD STORY OF MICHIGAN FARMS

John A. Doelle, state commissioner of agriculture, speaking before the delegates to the 48th annual meeting of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society at Lansing, urged further development of Michigan's agricultural resources by co-operation.

He asked the visitors at the meeting to spread the story of the farming advantages of this state. He also prophesied a turning point that will halt the "hood" of farmers' sons and daughters to the cities and send them, and others with them, back to the soil.

"There will be a general going back to the farms of boys and girls who were born in the country," he said. "With this movement there will go ideas that will improve the social and economic life in the rural districts. Michigan has many resources, and development of them will make life more worth living."

Commissioner Doelle declared that although Michigan is only a partially developed state, agriculturally, it stands well up as a fruit, poultry and dairy state. He briefly sketched the history of agricultural development in Michigan and traced the shifts in the balance of population that make him believe the time is coming when more than 50 per cent of the state's population will live on farms.

FORD SALES MAKE RECORD

Retail sales of Ford cars, trucks and tractors established a new high record during June, when, according to a statement issued from the Ford factory, an average of 5,709 machines were sold daily.

With the closing of business for June, Ford records disclosed the fact that total sales for the first six months of 1922 were 652,261. July sales are expected to equal, and probably eclipse June. The estimated output of cars, trucks and tractors has been placed at 151,767, although dealers have requisitioned more than 200,000. At the present time Ford is employing 75,000 men in Detroit.

DAUGHERTY INJURED

Caro—The first annual Tuscaloosa County Masonic picnic Tuesday was marred by the possibly fatal accident of John Daugherty of the Michigan farm colony at Wahjamega.

Daugherty was injured while he was blindfolded in the wheel barrow race, when the handle of a barrow penetrated his abdomen. The wheel of the barrow ran into an obstacle while Daugherty was pushing it at a high rate of speed and he ran onto the handle. His condition is critical.

Pocketbook and Humanity

Pocketbook is in the saddle with humanity trudging along behind.

This is especially true with regard to the strife between labor and capital.

The men in control of our great industrial and commercial enterprises are fattening at the expense of the stockholders who have invested their wealth. They draw big salaries and pull out fat fees while the stockholders have to be content with modest dividends.

The same is true in the ranks of labor. The head men are rolling in comfort, draw large salaries, live high and revel in their despotic power, while the rank and file of the unions toil and sweat and cough up—or take a forced vacation.

The average stockholder in an industrial concern is essentially honest and does not look for any more than is fair and just. He is by no means sure of even that much.

The laboring man who performs the actual toil is in the same class. He would be content with a just wage and steady employment if the czars and agitators would leave him alone. But they won't.

There is one great trouble with the leaders on both sides. The greed of pocketbook prevails over the cause of humanity. They see nothing except that which is pleasing in their own sight.

Hence the breach, and the bitterness, and the strikes, and the stagnation in business, and the idleness, and the privations and want.

Hence the endless turmoil where peace should reign.

PHILLIPS RE-UNION

The fifth annual Phillips re-union was held July 26th at the home of John Phillips, near Yale. A very enjoyable time was reported by all.

A bountiful chicken dinner was served at noon, after which a very nice program was rendered, following which young and old entered with enthusiasm into the ball game and other amusements of the day.

The following officers were elected:—

President—Henry Phillips, Decker;

Secretary—Mrs. Minnie Phillips, Snover.

Treasurer—Mrs. E. Holcomb Deford.

The sixth annual re-union will be held at the home of John Phillips the last Wednesday in July, 1923.

The Phillips family wishes to express their appreciation to the neighbors and friends for their kindly assistance in the day's pleasures.

SPEAKERS FOR BIG FARM BUREAU PICNIC ASSURED

County Agent Kidman informs us that speakers for the big Farm Bureau picnic to be held in the County Park, Goodells, on Tuesday, August 15th, have been secured. H. W. Moorhouse, director of Research of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has been secured as the principal speaker of the day. Mr. Moorhouse will bring the people of St. Clair county the message of the American Federation.

C. L. Brody, former County Agent of St. Clair county, now secretary-manager of the Michigan State farm bureau, will give one of his usual straightforward talks regarding the status of the Michigan State Farm Bureau.

A band concert, ball game, horse shoe pitching contest, tug-of-war etc., are other features of the program being planned for the day.

Present indications, says county Agent Kidman, point to the largest gathering of farmers ever assembled for a county picnic in St. Clair county.

Mark Tuesday, August 15th on the kitchen calendar and plan now to take the whole family to the St. Clair county Farm Bureau picnic, County Park at Goodells on that day.

MILL CREEK DRAIN

Claiming that the city of Yale cannot bring suit in chancery on behalf of original property owners, Larry O'Neill, county drain commissioner has filed an answer in circuit court to the city's amended bill of complaint.

He also claims that Yale, which has filed the suit in chancery to obstruct construction of the proposed south branch of the Mill Creek drain, is not entitled to be heard in a court of equity as it has adequate remedy at law for any alleged wrongs.

Mr. O'Neill admits the city's allegation that the persons named in the bill have not been served with notices, but states that he does not know that they should be served. Yale claims they are joint owners of property along the course of the drain.

68 WED IN MONTH

Sixty-eight marriage licenses were issued by the county clerk during July. This is slightly above the average for the same months in other years, but is 19 below the number issued in June.

While 12 divorces were granted in circuit court during the month, it is not a large number for July, as more chancery cases are disposed of in the summer when there is no jury than during the remainder of the year.

WESTHAVEN GARDEN PARTY

At Westhaven on Friday and Saturday, a delightful garden party is to be given by the Marathon Guard of Port Huron Review, Woman's Benefit Association.

Westhaven is the beautiful garden of Miss Bina M. West, Supreme Commander of the Association, and the gift of the use of her gardens is much appreciated by the guard, and they are sparing no effort to make this mid-summer affair a success in every way. The plans include many features, a few of which will be dancing on the terrace to delightful music, a fine program made up of Port Huron and Detroit talent, fancy and military drilling by famous Detroit and Lansing teams. Attractive booths from which desirable wares will be offered for sale, and many of the attendants will be in quaint and gay costumes. Other plans will be announced later and still others are being held as surprises. The grounds will be beautifully decorated and lighted. As the dates have been chosen because there will be a full moon, this will add to the charm of the occasion.

The garden party opens Friday evening and will be continued Saturday afternoon and evening.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

There is no question seemingly but that the next legislature will establish capital punishment in Michigan in an effort to curtail the heinous crimes of the past few years. Governor Groesbeck is favorable to this legislation under certain conditions and other state leaders are in favor of such a statute. There are far too many murders in this state and capital punishment might have a tendency to stop such crimes as the murder of the welfare workers in Jackson last week, or the warden of Marquette prison. It is worth a trial at least, for in reality it is almost impossible to differentiate between capital punishment and a living death of life imprisonment in one of Michigan's penal institutions where the culprit admits the crime.

APPRECIATES THE EDITOR

Here is a minister who appreciates the editor. At a recent editorial convention he offered the following toast: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send him every item of news of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

RE-UNION OF FORMER SINGLE DOZEN CLUB

A number of years ago, we won't say how many, because the ladies wouldn't be pleased, a dozen of Yale's bright and popular young ladies organized a social club, calling it the Single Dozen.

Such good times as were had at the regular gatherings, not one wanting to miss a single meeting of the Single Dozen Club. But as time went on one took unto herself a life-partner and thereafter could not really be called single, and then another dropped out, so occasionally new members were taken in until the marriage vows disrupted the whole club and for as many as fifteen years no gathering has been held.

The idea of a re-union was conceived in the minds of Mrs. Dolph Andreae and Mrs. Clyde Adams and the invitations to the former members received instant and almost unanimous approval and consent. The place was set for the summer home of Mrs. Andreae at Cedarwood and the time from Friday, July 28th to Sunday.

The husbands were also invited and were there to a man, enjoying the outing and old-time associations as greatly as their wives.

A wonderfully appetizing chicken dinner on Friday night started the ball rolling, and from then on something was doing the whole time. Beach parties, weenie roasts, bon fires, boating, fishing and bathing, to say nothing of the grand talks of girlhood days and Single Dozen pranks and parties. It was too short a time to crowd in all one wanted to say, to hear and to do, but parting time came at the end of ideal weather and perfect associations.

Out of the original twelve, eight were present on the memorable occasion, three were unable to come, and one has passed to another world.

Those who attended the week-end house party re-union were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Langworthy, Ann Arbor; Hattie Karn, Port Wayne, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kuhn, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Adams, Capac; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Locke, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bricker, Mr. and Mrs. Jule Hennessy, Mabelle Herbert, Port Huron; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richards, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Beard, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathews and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Andreae, of Yale.

BE A LEADER

When you work, work. Put the whole mind and heart in it. Know nothing else. Do everything the very best. Distance everybody about you. This will not be hard for the other fellows are not trying much. Master details and difficulties. Be always ready for the next step up. If a bookkeeper be an expert. If a machinist, know more than the boss. If an office man surprise the employer by model work. If in school go to the head and stay there. All this is easy when the habit of conquering takes possession. Be yourself the leader, not the trailer. Set the standard as conscience dictates. Then you will mould instead of being moulded.

Who Can Beat the Record

Melvin, July 26—Ben Steinhoff, a farmer living near Melvin, who has passed his seventieth year, cut ten acres of wheat Tuesday with a three-horse team.

Wednesday he cut fifteen acres, using two different three-horse teams.

Setting a pace for a day's work on the farm for even a young man. His son cut 12 acres of wheat Tuesday and 11 Wednesday using the three-horse team. About 160 acres of hay has been cut, besides 60 acres of wheat on the Stienhoff farm, and the old gentleman would like to hear from anyone who can beat his record.
