PROVERS FOR SUBSCRIBERS

"A wise son maketh a glad father," and a prompt paying subscriber causeth an editor to laugh.

"Folly is a joy that is destitute of wisdom," but a delinquent subscriber causeth suffering in the house of a newspaper maker.

"All the ways of a man are clear in his own eyes," except the way the delinquent subscriber hath in not paying for his newspaper. "Better is a little with righteousness than a thousand subscribers who fail to pay what they owe."

"A just weight and balance are the Lord's," but that which is due upon your newspaper belongs to the publisher thereof.

"Better is a dry moral and quietness therein," than a long list of subscribers who cheat the printer.

"Better is the poor man that walketh in integrity," and payeth his subscription, than the rich man who continually telleth thy "devil" to call again.

"Judgments are prepared for scorners," stripes for the backs of fools," and everlasting punishment for him who payeth not for his newspaper.

"Hope deferred maketh the heart sick," is a proverb easily realized by the publisher who sendeth out bills.

"A righteous man hateth lying," hence an editor waxes wroth against the subscriber who promises to call and settle on the morrow, yet calleth not to settle.

"It biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder," when the adder gets through adding up the amounts due from his subscribers.

Of 974 persons arrested last year by the police of this city, 869 were men and 105 were women. The women according to these statistics are eight times as virtuous as the men.

This is caused by their not participating in politics. Were they to go once a year to the polls and deposit a ballot, very much as they now go every day or two to the postoffice and deposit a letter, they would soon become as virtuous as the men. It is the "muddy pool of politics" that does all the mischief. Remove the men of the duty of self-government and they would soon become as virtuous as the women. Men do not corrupt politics, it is politics that corrupt men. At present it seems true that we are governed exclusively by that sex which, according to the statistics we have given, is eight times less virtuous than the disfranchised sex, but isn't this better than purchasing miserable votes by sacrificing feminine virtue? How generous man are!

How willing to be demoralized by politics that they may save their mother's, wife and sisters from like demoralization! Their disinterestedness in that direction has never been fully appreciated. Under the circumstances wouldn't it be well to disfranchise all moral men that are left, that they may be protected from the corrupting influences of self-government? Let the blacklegs, who are already about as bad as they can be made, carry on the government. Or, better still, why not take the corrupting ballot from men as well as women and vest the government of the country in a long? If opponents of impartial suffrage are right such an arrangement would greatly conserve good morals among men.—Grand Rapids Post.

An ex-constable was in the criminal court at Washington on business the other day, and was asked by one of the bailiffs if he was looking for Marshal Douglas? "No, sir," was the reply; "not now, but there was a time, when he was a fugitive slave, when I tried hard to find him."

Each prince of the Prussian royal family has to learn a trade, and the two younger sons of the crown prince presented their grandfathers, the emperor, on his birthday, with specimens of their workmanship, one giving an engraving; he had made, and one a book he had bound.

Rev. W. H. Murray, speaking of unequal voting with unbelievers, says: "If I were a young man and unmarried, I should take an amiable sinner for my wife, sooner than I would a sassy-tongued saint, and stand my chance at it anyhow."

The right of representation is a right inestimable, and formidable to tyrants only.

WINE AWAKE for June opens with Tyrant Tom, a decidedly jolly story by Mary L. Bolles Brown, for which Robert Louis Stevenson has reported frontispiece. Equally jolly, and equally suggestive to papa and mamma, is a "Nocturnal Lunch." Please and Roy find their way into and out of Great Tobaccation. The rooms of this magazine are especially good. Mr. E. M. B. Pratt writes a book about the Baby. Mrs. Whiton answers the universal query of children, "What shall we do?" Mary E. C. South contributes a poem for the country here. Sheep-washing, and Miracles has one of his most amusing adventures, most amply illustrated by L. Hopkins. "Child Marian" is still in Rome. She takes a splash in the famous fountain of Trevi, and gets under Garibaldi. Gunpowder Galk, by Sophie May, reaches a climax of interest. And there is a delightfully funny illustrated paper, by Mrs. Nellie Lyster, about Long Sing Row, a real little town of San Francisco, Cal. Perhaps the most noticeable article is No. X, of the "Kost's Homes" Series, concerning William Dean Howells, editor of the Atlantic. Four artists illustrate the paper with views of the home exterior and the study interior, a fine portrait, and a view from a painter by G. P. Orzech, of the palace homes of Mr. Howells when exiled to Venice. Two school children will find in A Dream of the Centuries something especially adapted to their closing exercises. Only $2.00 per annum. Ella Farman, Editor, D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers, Boston.

LITTLE'S LIVING AGE. The numbers of this standard eclectic for the weeks ending May 19th and 26th, have the following valuable contents: "Mr. Wood's Discoveries in Epilepsy" from the British Quarterly; Maria Theresa, the Empress Queen, Temple Bar; Harriet Martineau's Autobiography, Quarterly Review; A Coming-Globe Approach of Mars, by Prof. Richard A. Proctor, Gentlemen's Magazine; Charles Kingsley, Corbhill; The Norwegian Looming and its Migrations, Popular Science; The Moral Treatment of Insanity, a Sketch of its Rise and Progress, Fraser's Park; Donnie and his Grandson, by the author of Episodes in an Obscure Life, Sunday Magazine; A Japanese Newspaper, All the Year Round; Italian, Spanish and German Comedy, New Quarterly; Stone Adzes in the Pacific, Leisure Hour; Children of the East, Picture World; Processionary Caterpillars Harlequin's Science Gossip; together with instalments of George Macdonald's Marquis of Lossie, and Wm. Black's new serial, and select poetry and miscellany. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3000 pages a year), the subscription price ($5) is low; while for $10.00 the publishers offer to send any one of the American 24 monthlies or weeklies with the Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Little & Gay, Boston, are the publishers.

LAWSON'S CURATIVE

As the Beacon Light

Is to the mariner on the stormy coast so is

LAWSON'S CURATIVE

to the distressed and suffering subject of

Rheumatism or Neuralgia!

We cannot be too grateful for the discovery of any remedy which will alleviate the sufferings of humanity, not only in the pangs of pain which the patient alone suffers, but in the distress which it entails upon others. Most every sufferer from his own personal experience is aware that the ordinary methods of treating Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica and kindred diseases by internal medicine, is of no avail, and so fast is this impression gaining hold upon intelligent patients that they demand a more potent remedy. The discovery of Lawson's CURATIVE was a priceless boon to thousands who have been cured, and the thousands who are now being relieved of their terrible agonies bear willing testimony to its virtues.

Here we have a CURATIVE agent which though applied externally exerts a powerful and beneficent influence on the whole nerve system—a remedy of indisputable efficacy— seldom failing to afford prompt relief in cases of acute or chronic pains in the nerves or muscles.

For every kind of Rheumatism, for Neuralgia in every Form, for nervous or Sick Headache, for Nervousness, for Lame Back or Side, for Erysipelas, for Diphtheria and Sore Throat, for Chilblains, for Sprains Bruises, Cuts, Wounds, for Burns and Scalds, for Toothache in fact for all Pains, Inflammations and Swellings no remedy is known which possesses the remarkable healing and soothing qualities, which is so universal in its character and scope or so simple and safe in its application. For these reasons LAWSON'S CURATIVE should have a place in every family. It will there prove its value in innumerable cases to prevent lingering diseases and should be kept at hand ready for instant use.

Sold by all Druggists.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs,

such as Coughs, Colds,

Whooping Cough,

Bronchitis, Asthma,

and Consumption.

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvellous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it, acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords instant relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health.

This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it is constantly producing are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.
