MORE POWDER MISSING.

A Large Amount of Gun Powder Taken This Time.

Last Saturday morning THE TELEGRAM gave an account of the plundering of a powder magazine belonging to L. S. Hill & Co., and situated in the southern outskirts of this city in the "Black Hills." At that time a large amount of "Hercules" powder was stolen, and upon investigation a TELEGRAM reporter finds the statement made by this paper concerning the affair came nearest the truth, notwithstanding the fact that other reports were given to the effect that the agent of a large powder manufacturing company had come on and seized it under the cover of darkness. Yesterday morning another powder magazine belonging to John Canfield, wholesale grocer at 85 Canal street, and located near the magazine of Hill & Co., was found broken open and a large amount of powder missing. The boards to the building enclosing the entrance to the magazine were pried off as if with an ax, thus effecting an entrance. A can filled with black powder and holding twelve and one-half pounds was found entirely empty, and it is thought several kegs of gun powder have been taken. The full extent of the robbery could not be ascertained, as Mr. Canfield has not taken a complete inventory of the magazine since the burglary. It must no longer remain a secret, however, that men bold enough to break into a powder magazine at night and take therefrom large quantities of this dangerous explosive are in this city, and the character of their theft makes it plain that they want powder bad; want it in large quantities, and want it for a purpose. These cases will receive the closest attention of the detectives, and it is hoped the purposes and plans, as well as the identity of the guilty, may be ascertained before any serious results may grow out of these depredations.

The Farmers' Club Meeting.

The West Michigan Farmers' Club met yesterday at their rooms, No. 10 Lyon street, with an average attendance. The annual election was held and resulted in the following election of officers: President, S. L. Fuller; Vice Presidents, I. B. Hamilton, G. W. Linderman, L. Averill, and E. W. Heth; Secretary, F. M. Carroll; Treasurer, S. S. Bailey. Mr. Heth was also elected as Librarian, to have charge of the rooms and property of the club.

Bean culture was the subject discussed by the club, and Mr. Wilcox gave an interesting experience among the bean growers of Orleans, Niagara and Monroe counties of New York. Secretary Carroll was instructed to correspond with various railroad officials and obtain rates for an excursion to the New Orleans Exposition by the club in the month of January. A question box for the use of members or others interested in agriculture, in which to deposit written questions for discussion or general information was announced as being ready for use. The subjects for discussion at the next meeting are, "What is the Best Time to Trim Apple Trees?" "What is the Value of Sorghum as Cattle Food?" Messrs. Carroll, Linderman and Hamilton were appointed a committee to revise the by-laws.

Game at First and Last.

Some time previous to election, T. Stewart White, Esq., bet I. M. Weston that the man from Maine would be the winner in the late presidential race, Mr. Weston stacking his hopes on the ex-sheriff of Erie county, New York. Mr. White being the loser, paid the bet last night by giving one of the best dinners ever given in this city. The menu was served in the Peninsular Club House. It consisted of thirteen courses, each course, except the dessert, comprising game. Among those who participated besides the two gentlemen immediately interested were E. F. Uhl, Stewart Ives, Willard Kingsley, W. D. Gilbert, C. W. Mills, John S. Lawrence, Thomas Friant, Francis Letellier, L. E. Hawkins, W. D. Stevens, Geo. C. Pierce and John Patton, jr. They lingered long and merry at the election feast, the side-entertainment consisting of toasts and speeches, all conceived in a witty vein, and having especial bearing on the occasion. In the party were Democrats and Republicans, but long ere separating party lines were broken, and all departed in a merry spirit entirely oblivious of the fact that politics had anything to do with such intermingling of good fellowship.

Amusements.

Amee had another good house last night, and both play and company were received with the same cordiality as on Monday night. To-night Edwin Thorne will make his first appearance in this city in the Black Flag, a drama that has brought him fame and money. Thus spoke the Philadelphia Enquirer: "The Black Flag" has become identified with Edwin Thorne's name, and his performance of it is familiar to Philadelphia audiences. It is a favorite here, and always draws good houses. It was given at Arch Street Theater last evening, and showed that it had not lost its power to please. The company is a good one and the performance one of even excellence.

A Farmer Disappears.

James Doyle, a young farmer residing in Talmadge township, is being anxiously looked for by his father and friends since yesterday. On Monday he brought a load of buckwheat to this city to sell and since that day none of his friends know of his whereabouts, or what became of the bay team he drove, or the buckwheat. He is about twenty-six years old, of light complexion and wore a sandy mustache. The supposition by many is that the young man has gone into a speculation of his own account, and having sold his outfit is about to seek his fortune in pastures new.

PERSONAL.

Wm. A. Luther, founder of the village of Luther, is in the city. J. W. Hutchinson, of Muskegon, was in the city on business yesterday. Mr. Emily Ford, of Orange, N. J., is visiting Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Bocher. Fred L. Reynolds, manager of the Muskegon opera house, was in the city yesterday taking in the sights. Chas. Clarke, soliciting agent for the Grand Trunk, visited local ticket and railroad offices yesterday. F. W. Peck, of this city, formerly sheriff of Kent county, has been appointed railway postal clerk, and will be assigned to duty in Texas.

A PASTOR'S RECEPTION.

An Event that Brought Gladness to Many Hearts.

A pleasant social event was the formal reception tendered Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Bocher at Mission Wood Presbyterian church last evening. The beautiful little chapel was handsomely decorated for the occasion, and was filled with members of the church and congregation and friends of the newly-wedded couple. The pastor and bride were allotted chairs near the centre of the church under a floral triangle, in the centre of which was suspended the floral initial "B." They were attired in full wedding costume, the bride wearing a beautiful white gros grain silk with brocaded front, point duchesse lace, jewels and natural flowers, while the groom looked most manly in the convenient suit of black.

The evening passed pleasantly in congratulations, hand-shakings and the bestowing of best wishes upon the twain, while music, recitations and short speeches by the resident pastors present served to break up formality and make the welcome warmer and happier. The honored ones have been the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, among the number being two large steel engravings in massive gilt frames presented them by the church and Sunday school. Mr. and Mrs. Bocher will soon take up their residence at Park Place, where they will be "at home" and glad to welcome all friends.

A beautiful window is the one arranged by the Star Clothing House yesterday for the holiday season, and the merchant who tries to surpass it will have a difficult task. A small cottage chamber stands in the window that contains a small bedstead, under the clean coverlets of which two children are sleeping. Their clothes are on the floor by the bedstead in the same careless child-fashion, "just as they got out of them;" the unit lamp is there; the little clock upon the mantel that shows the time to be 12:05, and two stockings hang from the mantel-piece. Old Santa Claus is just entering the door. His long locks and beard are white with snow, and behind him he draws a sled bearing a Christmas tree laden with presents of all kinds. The cheerful room within and the cold and snow-cold scene without form a beautiful picture that everyone can appreciate. See it.

Oscar Wilde has had his curls cut off, and his head is a little out of keeping with his hat of the Wild Bill pattern. His wife, it is said takes great pride in Oscar's vagaries.

MARKED.

MURPHY-RHODES.—In Muskegon, at the Congressional passage, by Rev. M. W. Fairgold, Dec. 8, 1884, Mr. A. H. Marbury to Miss Jennie V. Rhodes, both of Muskegon.

Artificial Light.

In these days of progress there is a demand for better means of illumination than ever before. The dazzling brilliancy of the electric light makes our common kerosene lamps as dim as tallow dips in the comparison. This demand has been fully met by the introduction of the Sun Lamps. They are necessarily made of metal because the draft or chimney extends down through the center of the lamp. The wicks are five inches wide and give a light of forty-five candle power, equal to three gas burners. These lamps were brought out at the close of last season, but the price was so high—$6 each—but few were sold. Owing to the enormous demand which has sprung up, they are now produced at a price within the reach of all, and sold for $3 in brass and $3.50 in nickel, complete with ten-inch porcelain shade. To persons troubled with weak eyes or those who desire to preserve their eyesight by means of a good light, the Sun Lamp will prove a blessing.

The New Styles of Hanging Lamps are made of a gold color solid bronze metal, and trimmed with cut glass prisms and decorated shades. The dome-shaped shades look the best, but we imagine the angle of reflection from the cone shape is best for throwing light down. These lamps are also much cheaper than last year. They are now sold at from $5 to $7 each. Fine table lamps are furnished with duplex or two-wick burners, giving double the light of the single wick burners. There are many styles of these lamps on exhibition, including solid bronze and the popular hammered brass. For information received thanks are due Messrs. H. Leonard & Sons, importers, 16 Monroe street.
