

WILL M. U. WIN? 2,000 SHOUT "YES"

Rousing Mass Meeting Held on Night of the Tigers' Departure.

JAYHAWKER IS BURNED

Songs and Speeches Express Rooters' Confidence in Football Team.

All the latent and unspent energy and enthusiasm of 2,000 Tiger rooters was turned loose last night. Some of it had lain dormant all season, and with that which had been awakened since the last outburst of Friday, it was released and cheer after cheer was given for the Tigers on the night of their departure.

It was the last football mass meeting of the year, and it was an hour or more of cheer and song and laughter and expressions of confidence. It was as if as many as 2,000 warriors were themselves preparing for battle.

The meeting was divided into three parts. The big auditorium was packed a quarter of an hour before the formal opening. There was music by the band and an outburst of cheering and then James S. Summers, a graduate of the University of Missouri, on behalf of the Kansas City Y. M. C. A., sent here as a representative of that organization, made a short speech, inviting the Tiger rooters to be guests of the big association in the city Wednesday night and all day Thursday. He said that this invitation had not been extended in this way before because of a lack of facilities of the association.

"But now" he declared, "the association is in its handsome new building and we have ample room and ample facilities for receiving you. We have more than 200 homes at your disposal where you may stay at night, if you so desire, and at a cost of more than $200 we are going to serve luncheon at noon for 25 cents and dinner at night for 50 cents in the association building to the students of the University of Missouri. You are cordially invited to be with us."

Mr. Summers told the Tiger rooters, all bent on knowing of the situation among the friends in the city of the two schools, that University of Kansas alumni in Kansas City were painfully silent. They met a bitter defeat last year and they are going back this year, he said, in even stronger force.

"You will have to go one farther than you did last year," he continued, "they have not only the determination to win as they had last year, but a determination, as well, to avenge last year's defeat."

The throng of Tiger rooters was turned out, and led by the band, they paraded through the streets, past the gymnasium, and on to Rollins field. Here they burned in effigy a spy from the Jayhawk camp. The funeral service was pronounced by Orville Zimmerman, president of the all-senior class.

At the conclusion of this ceremony there was a rush for the auditorium. They crowded into the building and there their gaze met a large picture of the coach, standing by the president of the University.

This was thrown upon a screen and the audience cheered every minute the picture was in view. The picture of a real tiger head was given as great an applause. Then followed the speeches. The captain of the Tigers talked for a few minutes. He said he believed his men would fight as hard as their strength permitted. He asked that every Tiger rooter do as much.

A. G. Alexander, a former Tiger, was called on for a talk. He called out in clear tones these words:

"Will the Tigers Win?"

The response came back as if from every throat:

"They will!"

His speech was short.

The coach was next.

"I can not tell you," he said, "how I appreciate this support. We have had many happy experiences here together. Of course, we have all made mistakes. I have made mistakes; the team has made mistakes, and I don't know but that you have made mistakes.

"A game like this Kansas game is no ordinary affair, even in football. A great game, such as this is, is a wonderful inspiration and we feel it, we see the expression of it here tonight.

"I cannot tell you what its outcome will be. Football games are not always won by the teams that understand the technique of football best.

SHOWERS TONIGHT, PERHAPS

Weather Will Be Cooler Tomorrow, the Forecast Says.

The weather forecast for Columbia and vicinity is: "Partly cloudy with showers late tonight or Wednesday. Warmer tonight; cooler Wednesday afternoon."

The temperatures:

7 a. m. 31	11 a. m. 45
8 a. m. 33	12 noon 50
9 a. m. 35	1 p. m. 55
10 a. m. 42	2 p. m. 59

It depends as much on the determination to fight so long as there is hope, and you have a part in that fight.

"The men have never been in better physical condition all year; but they are lighter by about ten pounds to a man than the men they are to meet, and that is a great handicap for a football team. But every bit of this weight and every bit of this strength will be put into play."

That was enough. It was all the 2,000 rooters wanted the coach to say, and they expressed their pleasure and satisfaction in their applause.

J. A. Gibson, assistant coach, read a number of poems on the game which brought much laughter. He had Kansas beaten and humiliated in every line, and of course it pleased Mr. Gibson read these in a droll, Irish way, and the clever arrangement of the verses and the laughable form of delivery aroused more real fun and sent the serious, but ever-shouting rooter out with even a little more merriment in his cheer.

The Tigers were drawn to the train in a large dray wagon by the men who had been shouting and were yet to shout for them. They wanted a part even in the carrying of the men to the station. The crowd followed in series of long lines which extended from curb to curb, and all the way they sang. At the station, the Tigers were boosted on to the Pullman; and with the singing of "Old Missouri," when every head was bared, they were drawn away. They will rest until Thursday morning, the day of the game, in Excelsior Springs, and at noon on Thursday, they will go into Kansas City.

TOMORROW A HOLIDAY

This Arrangement Made to Allow Students to Catch Kansas City Trains.

There will be no classes in the University of Missouri tomorrow. President A. Ross Hill made the announcement at assembly this morning. This action was taken because the Wabash railroad had set the hours of departure for its special trains to Kansas City at 10:30 and 10:40 and no other arrangements could be made.

President Hill emphasized the fact that class would start promptly at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

100 MEGAPHONES PAINTED

Many More Needed to Form Black "M" on Old Gold Background.

Fewer than 100 megaphones to be used by rooters at Kansas City Thanksgiving day had been painted at noon today. It will require about 500 yellow megaphones and seventy-five or eighty black ones to carry out the color scheme proposed at mass meeting last Friday, to make a black "M" on an old gold background formed by the megaphones.

H. B. Sennott, yell leader, and Charles Barkshire, an assistant yell leader, were on the campus in front of the Engineering building yesterday and today painting the megaphones brought to them. Fifteen had been painted black and about eighty had been painted yellow at noon.

TWO TIGERS STILL HERE

Thompson and Fitch Will Go to Excelsior Springs Tomorrow.

Proctor Thompson, center, and Russell Fitch, guard, of the University of Missouri football team will leave Columbia tomorrow morning to join the Tiger squad before the game with Kansas. Owing to a shortage of funds the athletic committee refused to permit Coach Hollenback to take more than twenty-four men to Excelsior Springs, besides coaches, trainers and rubbers.

President Hill to Kansas City. President A. Ross Hill left at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon for Kansas City. He will attend a meeting of the Board of Curators at the Baltimore hotel there at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and will see the Kansas game Thanksgiving Day.

DEATH OF CRIPPLED MULE AIDS SCIENCE

"Jack," State Farm Celebrity Lays Down Life for Sake of "Vet" Students.

OBJECTS TO BEING "GOAT"

Shrewd Animal Knew Autopsy Was No Personal Gain—His Picture Taken.

Jack is dead. After a varied career on three legs he has given up his life in the interest of science. Jack was only a mule and a crippled one at that. For more than a year his left hind foot did not touch the ground. He had a broken stifle joint. But life was just as sweet to him as if he had four good legs. He could kick as hard and enjoyed life just as well as if he had two hind feet with which to kick the unwary freshman in "vet" laboratory.

Only three days ago, when hard pressed, he jumped over a stone wall five feet high. He was the most active mule on three legs that Missouri could boast of. For a year he has caused aspiring veterinary students to scratch their heads and wonder what could be the matter with his "kame" leg. It was a puzzling problem. At last it was decided that Jack must lay down his life in order that science might be the wiser.

Thursday morning was the time chosen for the elucidation of Jack's crippled condition. So he was caught. Two husky and valiant "vet" students ran the gauntlet of his flying heel and succeeded in placing a halter on the protesting mule. Four ounces of chloroform were required to put the old mule in a condition rendering proximity to him safe. With a long drawn out sigh, he finally closed his eyes.

He was operated on and found to be a hopeless case. So it was decided to kill him. When Jack came to, he was assisted to his feet. The serious expression in his eyes changed to one of despair when he saw the grave faces of the surgeons about him.

But his service to science had not yet ended. He must have his picture taken in order that the exact position in which he stood could be noted. He was then led away to be shot.

He is to be dissected and the trouble located and described fully. Poor Jack will never know just what was the matter with him. Pictures of the injured joint, of the muscles and the position which they were drawn into will be taken and studied. The carcass will be kept in the veterinary laboratory for some time and studied by the students in that department.

The Missouri team will leave Columbia tomorrow morning. Those who will go are: J. E. Stowers, captain; M. W. Lowenberg, coach; J. M. Hawthorn, pointer, and the team composed of D. W. Johnson, W. W. Burden, C. E. Sexton, D. W. B. Kurtz and J. D. Hudson.

The dinner is to be in the auditorium, and will start at 12:30 so as to finish before reports of the Missouri-Kansas game come in. WANT TO KEEP GAME IN K. C.

Alumni of Two Universities Adopt Resolutions Against New Ruling.

The Kansas City alumni of both the University of Missouri and the University of Kansas are making efforts to keep the annual football game between the two universities in Kansas City. Both organizations have adopted resolutions protesting against the new ruling by the Missouri Conference whereby the game must be played on the grounds of one of the universities.

The Kansas City alumni of the University of Missouri held their annual election yesterday at the Kansas City Athletic Club. Kimbrough Stone was chosen president. Other officers elected were: John A. Kurtz, vice-president; B. D. Davis, secretary; J. V. Holmes, treasurer.

The alumni adopted a resolution that all those occupying seats in the Missouri alumni section at Thursday's game wear yellow chrysanthemums, and that the roster's club of the University furnish a yell leader for that section.

The officers of the alumni were instructed to confer with the athletic managers of both universities in an effort to show the advantages of continuing the annual Thanksgiving game in Kansas City.

EXHIBIT OPEN UNTIL DEC. 12

Time For Removal of Water-Color Paintings Extended.

The Fourth Annual Exhibit of Water-color paintings will continue until December 12. The scheduled time for closing was yesterday, but because of a change in the itinerary of the exhibit which involves the omission of another city from its schedule, the Art Lovers' Guild has been able to retain the pictures.

That the "Free Days" have tended to popularize the exhibit in causing students to visit the art museum who would not otherwise do so, is the opinion of Dr. John Pickard.

"Many persons came who had never been inside the archeological museum before," he said this morning. "Quite as much interest was evinced in the statuary as in the pictures." No lectures will be given in the art museum during Thanksgiving. The exhibit will be open Thursday afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock.

FOR HELPING THE CRIMINAL

He's a By-Product of Our Society, Dr. Fredenhagen Says.

"The Criminal" was the subject of an address at assembly this morning by Dr. E. A. Fredenhagen, founder of the Society for the Friendless. Dr. Fredenhagen believes that crime is the crux of all the great problems of today. It is what makes the racial situation a problem, and it the real evil of the liquor traffic.

However, the criminal does not differ much from the rest of us, as a rule, according to Dr. Fredenhagen. He has about the same aims and ends, but his means are different. He is a little weaker and much more tempted. The criminal is a by-product of society, he says, and this is an age when the by-products are utilized and often prove of great value. The object of the Society for the Friendless is to reform the criminal and thus reclaim him to society.

NO MONEY IN SIGHT FOR MORE POLICEMEN

Dr. Gordon Doesn't Know Where the Funds Would Come from.

HARD TO MEET BILLS

Another Committeeman Says Additional Officers Are Not Necessary.

Two members of the city council committee on police think more patrolmen cannot be employed because the city's revenues are too limited.

Dr. James Gordon says that he thinks additional men on the force are desirable, especially at night, but that he is unable to see where the money is to come from. The city council finds difficulty in meeting its bills even with the present force.

T. J. Hatton thinks that the revenue available does not justify even a second man on the day force. He says also that he does not think additional policemen necessary even if the city had the money to pay them. He thinks that, on account of the large area covered by the residence sections, an extra half dozen men could not give the city a clean record in the way of keeping down petty stealing and hold-ups.

A negro couple procured a license but did not know how old they were.

Today another man from Oklahoma got a license to marry a Boone county girl. He is Ira Sexton of Tulsa and will marry Miss Lucinda Ury. He is 29 years old and Miss Ury is only 16. Her father gave his consent to the marriage.
