THE FLOOD.

Council Bluffs a Literal Archipelago.

Incidence.

Council Bluffs, April 9th, 1881.

We met the water of the angry old muddy just above Hamburg on the K C., this morning at 6 o'clock. It was over the rails in many places and running like a tale race. Our train could go no further than Pacific Junction, so we took the C. B. & Q.east to Malvern, then the Wabash northwest to the Bluffs and reached here at noon, but as all the tracks were submerged around the Union Depot it was impossible to reach it over any line, and our little party concluded to lay over at Council Bluffs until we could get away. After dinner we took a stroll up the bluffs out of town, and as we sat up on the high, dry point 300 feet above low water mark we and by the use of a field glass we could see the inhabitants fleeing from the turbulent water and crashing ice barges.

Our communications are cut off from the upper Missouri country and we can form no idea of the amount yet to come.

The R. I. round house and all other buildings in that vicinity are standing from two to ten feet in water, and still the water is rising.

Every man that can procure tools and lumber is constructing boats.

It is almost impossible to secure a wagon and team at any price.

Streets which are above the water are so muddy that it requires four good horses to draw a light load.

By the use of our glass we could see two trains plying between the washout west of the Union depot and Omaha, but could not tell what they were doing.

All the hotels in the upper part of town are crowded, and private families have opened their doors and extended their hospitality to strangers.

The high bluffs east of town constitute one vast camp of homeless inhabitants, but so far most all their houses stil stand, yet many of them are filled with water to the second story, but a north wind would drive the ice against them and soon they would be swept away.

No trains except the Wabash have left here since yesterday, and if the water continues to rise at the present rate, not a train can come in or go out by noon to morrow.

It was quite cold this morning and many men, teams and wagons that got wet carried ice on them until nearly noon.

The excitement is not so great as one would expect under the circumstances

Unless the wind and ice should turn against us there will be no great loss of life or property, before morning at least.

LATER.

Water is still stealing upon us, but is said to be falling in the channel.

BURTON.

EXPERTS.

A few day since a woman in New York city was convicted of forgery, on the testimony of one Ames, an expert, the same who swore, with others, that theMorey letter was written by Garfield, when a school boy would have known that only the signiture resembled Garfield's writing. Not only Ames but a half dozen swore the same; while a dozen others put it on Philp, who neve saw it, as now every one admits, till after publication. It is now known who forged the letter; one Huntley. This ought forever to do away with reliance on expert testimony to hand writing.

The Greatest Blessing.

A simple, pure, harmless remedy, that cures every time, and prevents disease by keeping the blood pure, stomach regular, kidneys and liver active, is the greatest blessing ever conferred upon man. Hop Bitters that remedy, and its proprietors are being blessed by thousands who have been saved and cured by it. Will you try it? See another column.

POT AND KETTLE.

Forever will the pot call the kettle black. St. Nicholas for April, describes the foolish ceremonies of Mumbo Jumbo among the savages of Africa and concludes with asking "why do these people believe a thing which they know is all nousense"?

Why do we believe so many things that we know are utterly nonsensical and impossible? Are we not followers of Mumbo Jumbo too?

The Illustrated Scientific News.

The April number of this interesting and popular magazine is jut out.

Among the various subjects illustrated is an engraving of the late Emperor of Russia's steam yacht Livadia; views illustrating wood working attachments for foot lathes; Prof. Secchi's solar photographic apparatus, with six distinct views of the sun taken by this instrument; engaveings of the boats and apparatus; used on Lake Geneva for determining the velocity of sound in water; a new machine for decorating enameled surfaces; engravings of several cursous animals and objects in natural history, and an elaborately illustrated article on Bee Culture.

Every number contains thirty-two pages, full of engravings of novelties in science and the useful arts. Published by Munn & Co., 37 Park Row, New York, at $1.50 a year, and sold by all news dealers.

A few years ago a discovery showed us how by means of the sun spectrum we may tell just what things are burning in the sun. A still later invention shows us that we may ere long distinctly hear the roar of the flames in the sun itself.

A fern grows in China which bears such a resemblance to a lamb that the English call it the Tartarian lamb fern. It is covered with a thick, soft, vegetable wool, of a yellow color. The main stem lies flat, a short distance above the ground, while the hanging stems touching the earth look like little legs supporting it. Covered with this vegetable wool, the resemblance to a lamb is quite curious.

We hope the trade of this country will be killed out. These great capitalists have no more right to control our money affairs than they have to put us on bread and meat rations. Divine right of kings and church and state have been wiped out among free people. So have slavery, and torture of prisoners, and whipping of inmates. We acknowledge no legal masters, but are ground to death by financial usurpers and scallawag statute makers.

Given up by Doctors.

"It is possible that Mr. Godfrey is up and at work, and cured by so simple a remedy?"

"I assure you it is true that he is entirely cured, and with nothing out Hop Bitters; and only ten days ago his doctors gave him up and said he must die!"

"Well-a-day! That is remarkable! I will go this day and get some for my poor George—I know hops are good."

Carlyle's Reminiscences.

"By special arrangement" with the American public, the Literary Revolution will issue immediately a beautiful Acme edition, elegant cloth binding, of the "Reminiscences of Thomas Carlyle, price 30 cents, postage 6 cents, and it can be had of the nearly 2,000 booksellers who are agents of the Literary Revolution in all parts of the United States.

Thomas Carlyle, more than any other man of the nineteenth century, taught the American public, and people of good sense throughout the world, to despise pretense and humbug whether exhibited by monarch or menial. Sensible people who want a good book at an honest price will buy it where they find it. There is in this country no law which gives to a foreign author, as it gives to an American, the right of the monopoly of the publication of his book. If publishers choose to pay a foreign author anything, they can do it only as a "donation," because he can give them in return no protection from competition. Readers have the privilege of making such donation, if they choose to do so without paying it to the publishers and trusting to the possibility of their paying it to the author for them. There is no donation included in the price above named. Readers who want to combine a possible donation, and a positive price, can get an edition of this same book from other publishers at from two to eight times the price.
