

Woman! I've not deceived thee, wisdom cries; My first desire end in generous light; As winter yields to spring, hate yields to love; Who think to stem, but raise the water's might!

Everywhere in Continental Europe there is a contempt for and an oppression of women. Everywhere there is laid on her the mental drudgery that must be done, but which men will not assist in doing, nor for the performance of which they will provide mechanical appliances as American men do.

The German universities to which we send our sons, each of which numbers its students by thousands, and its eminent professors by hundreds, are not for German women. Hardly is a "higher education for women" thought of in Germany.

CREATION vs. EVOLUTION.

Professor Huxley's Conclusions From the Facts of Paleontology.

In an address on "The Rise and Progress of Paleontology," recently delivered before the British association for the advancement of science, Professor Huxley said:

The whole fabric of paleontology is based upon two propositions. The first is that fossils are the remains of animals and plants, and the second is that the stratified rocks in which they are found are sedimentary deposits; and each of these propositions is founded upon the same axiom that like effects imply like causes.

Working-People in New England Fifty Years Ago.

When we talk about "the working classes," we are using very modern language, which those who formed the great mass of our population forty or fifty years ago would have found it difficult to understand.

Home Treatment, Nasal Catarrh, Throat Bronchial and Lung Affections, Deafness, Ear-Discharges, Nervous, Weak and Debilitated, the Most Positive Cure.

A five-year-old boy, who had watched a performing bear, remarked that one of the men with the bear was a deacon, because he took up a collection.

What Makes a Newspaper.

The elements that serve to make a newspaper popular are very much diversified. A man with very short hair, who had evidently just been paroled out of the penitentiary, came into the Siftings sanctum yesterday and subscribed.

A Chance for Health.

Is offered those fastidious in condition of hopeless debility. The means are at hand. In the form of a gentle medical cordial, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, restores the combined qualities of blood purifier and depurative and an alterative.

Natural Religion.

"Bishop (reproving delinquent page): 'Wretched boy! Who is it that sees all we do, and before whom even I am but a crushed worm?'" Page: "The missus, my lord."

A "BROKEN-DOWN" STOMACH.

When you come across a weary-looking, wan-eyed man or woman, being asked what is the matter, place a hand upon the stomach region and say, "Oh, I feel such a weary, aching and agonizing here!"

Allen's Lung Balm.

The church for to-day needs to be a believing church, a witnessing church, a working church, a church whose individual members shall exert a shining influence on the communities in which they live, doing what they can to make men think aright and act aright toward both God and man.

A Wise Decision.

"Deacon Wilder" was you tell me how you kept yourself and family well the past season, when all the rest of us have been sick so much, and have had the doctors visiting us so often."

"Bro. Taylor, the answer is very easy. I used Hop Bitters in winter; kept my family well and saved the doctor's bill. 'Twas well worth it of it kept us well and able to work all the time. I'll warrant it has cost you and the neighbors one or two hundred dollars, agrees to keep sick the same time.'"

At a juvenile party a young gentleman about 7 years old kept himself from the rest of the company. The lady of the house called to him, "Come and play and dance, my dear. Choose one of those pretty girls for your wife."

No young man can afford to remain away from H. B. Bryant's Chicago Business College. He will keep up in the business of life and be prepared to meet his competitors.

We heard a little girl say to her doll: "Now, dollie, don't you get the idiosyncrasy, and don't you get it awful bad, and I must 'spect you'll die; but if you do you must 'member to tell 'em you died that you died with the idiosyncrasy, and you was so crazy you had to die, coz most times when people has the idiosyncrasy they has to die, and I tell you this coz I want to 'spare you for a great 'spize party." Now 'member."

Consumption in its early stages is readily cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," though, if the lungs are wasted and emphysematous, effect a cure. No known remedy possesses such soothing and healing influence over all scrofulous, tuberculous, and pulmonary affections as the "Discovery."

An acquaintance from the country having visited some friends, and being about to depart, presented a little boy—one of the family—with half a dollar, in the presence of his mother. "Please is it a good one?" asked the little fellow. "Of course it is," replied the gentleman, surprised. "Why do you ask?" "Because I'd rather have a bud one, and then they'll let me keep it. If I get any good money it goes into the bank, and I never get it again."

To make new hair grow use Carboline, a deodorized extract of Petroleum. This natural petroleum hair renewer, as recently improved is the only thing that will really produce new hair. It is a beautiful dressing.

The Albany Journal narrates this pretty little incident. A pathetic incident related to us this morning bearing upon the great sorrow that fills all hearts. Yesterday afternoon a little girl was going along Pearl street, accompanied by her mother. Her eyes were filled with wonder as she beheld the emblems of mourning displayed from all the buildings, and, turning to her mother, she inquired with full of sorrow: "Is everybody dead, mamma?"

If a cough disturbs your rest take Pink's Cure for Consumption and deep sleep.

Use "Ridding's Russia Salve" for Rheumatism.

Allen's Lung Balm.

WHAT IS GOOD FOR MAN IS GOOD FOR BEAST.

Mr. J. A. WALTON is one of the most prominent stable proprietors and blood-stock owners in the western part of the city of Philadelphia—124 N. Twelfth street. Mr. W. has devoted the greater part of his study and training of horses, and he is considered an authority in all matters pertaining to horseflesh. Feeling desirous of hearing what he had to say in proper person regarding the merits of Dr. JACOBS' OIL as a remedy for some of the ills that horseflesh is heir to, the writer resolved to go direct to Mr. Walton's stables for the purpose of interviewing him on the matter and said: "After many years active experience I can safely say that I consider Dr. JACOBS' OIL a remarkably good liniment for horses for anything like sprains in the limbs, bruises and similar affections. It is on diseases of horses, and can save that I never knew it to fail. It is

WHAT IS GOOD FOR MAN IS GOOD FOR BEAST.

Mr. J. A. WALTON is one of the most prominent stable proprietors and blood-stock owners in the western part of the city of Philadelphia—124 N. Twelfth street. Mr. W. has devoted the greater part of his study and training of horses, and he is considered an authority in all matters pertaining to horseflesh. Feeling desirous of hearing what he had to say in proper person regarding the merits of Dr. JACOBS' OIL as a remedy for some of the ills that horseflesh is heir to, the writer resolved to go direct to Mr. Walton's stables for the purpose of interviewing him on the matter and said: "After many years active experience I can safely say that I consider Dr. JACOBS' OIL a remarkably good liniment for horses for anything like sprains in the limbs, bruises and similar affections. It is on diseases of horses, and can save that I never knew it to fail. It is months since I first commenced using that Oil on my horses, and I shall continue to use it. I happened to commence using Dr. JACOBS' OIL on horses in this way. My father had over thirty years ago and is subject to many of the ailments incident to old age. Among other things he has Rheumatism, which pains in his limbs and joints, and aches in different parts of his body. He commenced using Dr. JACOBS' OIL several months since, and after rubbing himself freely with the liniment night and morning according to the printed directions he has obtained the most decided relief. Whenever he has any pain he uses Dr. JACOBS' OIL and it always drives the pain away. Now I fully know from personal observation that 'What is good for man is good for beast.'—Further reports bearing the gratifying intelligence that Aristotle Welsh, Esq. of Edenheim Stock Farm, near Philadelphia, Pa., the breeder of that famous race horse, the celebrated, used and strongly endorses Dr. JACOBS' OIL as a wonderful remedy in the treatment of his horses. His experience with the great German Remedy justified him in giving his unqualified endorsement, and in saying that his chief groom should always use it on the farm.

When a sermon is printed in a paper all the "extra" copies remain on hand unsold. When the paper contains an account of a train robbery, or a Jennie Cramer case, or the details of an elopement, seduction, rape or divorce, the press cannot run fast enough to supply the demand even in a moral and christian community. These are facts, as the Telegraph's experience will bear witness.—Atlantic Telegraph.

How to Secure Health. It seems strange that anyone will suffer from derangement brought on by impure blood, when Scovill's Sarsaparilla and Stillinger, or Blood and Liver Syrup will restore perfect health. It has proven itself to be the best blood purifier, effectually curing Scrofula, Syphilitic Disorders, Weakness of the Kidneys, Erysipelas, Malaria, all Nervous Disorders and Debility, Bilious complaints and all Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Skin, etc. A single bottle will prove to you its merits as a health renewer, for it acts like a charm, espec. when the complaint is of an exhaustive nature, having a tendency to lessen the natural vigor of the brain and nervous system.

BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA cures pain in Man and Beast. It externally and internally DR. ROBERTS' VEGETABLE WORM SYRUP instantly destroys worms and removes the Secretions which cause them.

Some girls are born fat, some achieve fatness, and some fix themselves up with old newspapers and things.—Arkansas Traveler.

PILES! PILES! PILES! A Sure Cure Found at Last. No One Need Suffer. A sure cure for the Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams' (an Indian remedy) called Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 and 30 years standing. No one need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. For sale by all Druggists or mailed on receipt of price, $1.00 per box. S. HENRY & CO., Props., Cleveland, Ohio.

Love's-to-day lives in to-morrow. And when to-morrow's slipped away, Turn again, in vain regret of sorrow, Back to to-day's despatch yesterday. —St. Louis Herald.

Correct your habits of crooked walking by using Lyon's Patent Heel Stiffeners.

CHICAGO SCALE COMPANY.

FRAZER AXLE GREASE.

"DRAW-CUT" MEAT CHOPPERS.

MURRAY IRON WORKS CO.

NEW RICH BLOOD.

PARSONS' PURGATIVE PILLS.

DIPHTHERIA!

One Dollar A YEAR.

RESIDENT GARTFIELD.

$10 FOR 50 CENTS.

EDWARD CHILES, Stock Broker.

WOMAN'S TRIUMPH!

MRS. LYDIA E. PINKHAM, OF LYNN, MASS.

IRON TONIC.

JOY TO THE WORLD.

Archangel Compound.

LIVER AND KIDNEY CURE.

DYSPEPSIA.

Norman Medicine Company, PROPRIETORS, DES MOINES, IOWA.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.

He Got It.

One of the most touching things we have ever read in a long time is that story of a robber and a poor lone woman near Franklin, Ohio. The robber came to her house at night and demanded her money or her life. She hadn't much money or much life either, but she preferred giving up the former rather than the latter; so she brought her little store and placed it in his hand. He looked it over carefully, to see that she didn't palm off any twenty cent pieces for quarters, and facetiously told her that he could credit her for only ninety-four cents on the trade dollars, chiding her for taking them at their face value. "Haven't you anything else of value?" inquired the bold, bad fellow, looking about the scantily furnished apartment, "a child's bracelet, ring, anything will be thankfully received." She had nothing more, she replied with a sigh. A thought struck him. "Your husband was a soldier, was he not?" She acknowledged that he was, and was killed in the war. "The, he must have had a revolver," he continued, searching her countenance. "Ah, you grow confused, you stammer; your manner betrays you. Get that revolver at once." In vain the woman implored him to spare that harmless trinket, almost the sole memorial of her husband she had lost. She had pawned many things when in distress, but it had always hung on to that. But the robber was unrelenting; sobbing bitterly she went to a bureau drawer and removed the precious relic, around which clustered so many recollections. "Must you have it?" said she, as she advanced with trembling steps toward him. "Yes, I must," said the robber, extending his hand. "Well, then, take it," said she, gently pressing the trigger for the last time. There was a loud report, and the robber tumbled over dead. The community should be pious that woman.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it.

It is better to meet danger than to wait for it. He that is on the lee shore, and foresees a hurricane, stands out to sea, and encounters a storm to avoid shipwreck.—Colton.

Do Not Despond.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure will drive off the worst attack of "blues."

One must feel intellectually secure before he can begin to dress shabbily; no one but a genius or a great scholar dares to be dirty.—Living.

Red-Head, Rochester, N.Y. is cleared up by "Lough on Hair," is located at 123 Broadway, New York.