THIRTY-SEVEN STATES REPRESENTED AT M.U.

Students From Japan, India, Hawaii, Germany, Panama and Canada, Too.

OKLAHOMA SENDS 30 Agriculture and Journalism Attract Most of Those From a Distance.

The cosmopolitanism of the student body of the University of Missouri is seen from a study of the enrollment statistics. Thirty-seven states sent students to Columbia to study this year. The nation's capital sends one from the District of Columbia. Then there two students from Japan; two from Canada; three from Hawaii, one from Germany, one from India and one from Panama.

The representatives from the various states come from the extreme north-western part of the United States, Washington, to the extreme south-eastern part of the country, Florida; and from the New England States to California.

Outside of Missouri, the state sending the greatest number of her sons is Oklahoma, with 30 students. Then comes Texas with 19, Illinois and Arkansas with 14 each; Iowa, 12; Colorado, 10; Kansas, 9; Ohio, 7; Tennessee, 6; California, Michigan and New York, 5 each; Indiana and New Mexico, 4 each; Nebraska, Montana, Kentucky and Mississippi, 3, each; Georgia, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Louisiana, New Jersey, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Wyoming, and Maryland, 2 each; Washington, South Carolina, Vermont, Alabama, Florida, Pennsylvania, Oregon, North Dakota, West Virginia and Idaho, 1 each.

The School of Journalism and the College of Agriculture draw from many states. Many of the students from other states and from the foreign countries are entered in the University for work in one of these two divisions. Students from more than twenty different states, one from Hawaii and one from the Philippines are taking work in the School of Journalism. Most of the states, however, are represented in all departments and divisions of the University.

TO DO ONE THING WELL

That Is What This Business College Aims to Teach Students.

To teach the students to do at least one thing and do it well and to make them bigger and better men and women is the underlying principle of the Kansas Wesleyan Business College, located at Salina, Kan.

"There are three courses open to the high school graduate," says the president of this college. "You can quit where you are, but if you do you put yourself out of the big things of life. You can go on and take a training in a literary college. To thousands a University course is out of reach. But, third, you can secure a business training that will make you alert, accurate and efficient."

The Kansas Wesleyan Business College is open all the year. The school's authorities advise their students to spend eight or nine months there, although many high school graduates get through the combined business and short-hand, or business and stenography in from six and one-half to eight months. Their students are taught bookkeeping, short-hand, type-writing, rapid calculation, writing of business letters, spelling, commercial law and other requirements to modern business. Telegraphy may be substituted for either shorthand or book-keeping.

The school has regular classes in character building, business efficiency, salesmanship and advertising.

COLUMBIA TO HAVE FOOTBALL

For First Time in Ten Years Gridiron Game Will Be Played There.

Columbia University will have a football team next fall for the first time in ten years. Tuesday, April 20, an unanimous vote was taken by the university council reinstating the game for a five year period. This same body was responsible for the abolishment of the game ten years ago. It is the belief of the students of Columbia that football at the University has come to stay.

WHAT DO YOU EXPECT TO DO WITH YOUR LIFE?

You can live but once. Make the most of yourself, and of your opportunity.

To do that requires two things:

First, you must get the best education possible. Does this not require going to the best school in the state—the one which sets the standard for all the others—namely the state university?

Second, you must train yourself to take part in the moral and religious life of your time. This opportunity is afforded by the Bible College of Missouri in connection with the University of Missouri. Its courses are credited towards your A. B. degree in the university.

The BIBLE COLLEGE OF MISSOURI will train you for Sunday School teaching, Christian Endeavor work, church leadership, the Christian ministry, the mission field, or other forms of religious service.

Write for catalogue or further information.

WHICH SALARY DO YOU WANT?

Decide Now! Will you continue to work against the competition that surrounds you, using but one-fifth of your earning ability or will you master and put to use that other four-fifths that is wantonly wasted and never used by the majority of workers.

Happiness, prosperity, independence and bigger achievements await you if you will bring into light the 80% of your brain and ability that lies in the darkness now.

Washington University Dental School

MISSOURI DENTAL COLLEGE

This institution offers to the well prepared student an up-to-date graded course of dental instruction. When we say we are offering a course second to none in this country, we are positive that our statement is verified by the results accomplished in forty-nine years of continuous teaching.

Her graduates are, almost without exception, men of splendid attainment and many of them have attained to the highest honors that can be bestowed by the dental profession. Hence, we feel fully warranted in appealing to the well educated young man who desires to study dentistry to become a student of this institution. An additional incentive to enter this institution should be found in the fact that it is an integral part of a large and well endowed university, which enables it to offer unusual advantages.

This institution holds membership in the Dental Faculties Association of American Universities, which is composed of the dental schools of the eight largest universities in this country. These schools are now working on a four-year curriculum, (to go into effect in 1916-17) which will be the same in every particular, and which will enable a student to transfer (if he desires to do so) from one school to another without loss of time.

The profession of dentistry offers opportunities today to the well equipped young man unsurpassed in the history of the profession. To benefit by these opportunities one must have a broader preliminary education than was formerly demanded for entrance to dental schools. Hence, we are making our appeal to men, who have had one or more years of college education.

Our classes are limited to forty-five in each class, which shows that we are much more anxious to secure quality than to secure quantity. If you have made up your mind to study dentistry, why not take advantage of the opportunities offered by Washington University Dental School?

A postcard addressed to the Dean will bring a bulletin and full information.
