PERPETUAL POWER

A MACHINE DESIGNED BY A CLEVELAND INVENTOR RUNS BY SPRINGS.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 18.—Under lock and key and studiously guarded by two watchmen, a little machine, a spring motor—the working model of what A. C. Ratzen, a local inventor, says will revolutionize the mechanical power of the world, was safe from prying eyes last night. Ratzen was due to arrive in New York to close a deal in seven figures granting American rights for its manufacture. According to Ratzen, he will close out to Westinghouse Electric Company, through George Sturtevant, Eastern representative, by Monday at the latest. The invention is protected by patents in thirty-two countries. The working model of the spring motor is a miniature affair, generating one horsepower. Sixteen high powered springs compose the main body. Once started, power from fifteen springs is given forth while alternately one is being re wound. A simple lever starts or stops the mechanism. The motor, according to its inventor, will run until such time as the parts become worn out. "I am making no unwarranted claims for my invention," said Ratzen, exhibiting his model for the first time Saturday. "It is the result of fifteen years' hard work. It will revolutionize the industrial world. Power in almost any amount can be generated. The amount of power, of course, depends on the size of the motor."

A few persons who were allowed to inspect the motor today saw it running almost noiseless, driving a small dynamo from which power was transmitted to twenty electric light globes. No other power than the silent springs could be observed.

JAMES B. BOLLMAN

Diocesan Superintendent For Society For The Friendless Visits Our Churches. James B. Bollman, who has been coming to Marshall for some time in the interest of the "Society for the Friendless" is here, again, each week earlier than last year. He visited the Cumberland Presbyterian and Baptist Sunday schools, Sunday morning and made talks, then attended the preaching service at the Oddell Ave. Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. and the First Presbyterian service at 7:30 p. m. He made talks at both places and another Monday morning at the high school assembly. The society has aided more than 3,700 ex-prisoners in Missouri and Kansas, and nearly 75 percent of them make good. Mr. Bollman, who will be here for several days is always a welcome visitor in Marshall as our people are interested in his work. Huston Cason, wife and little daughter, Mabel of Nelson came in Monday on the M. P. for a few days visit to Mrs. John Dickson.

STATE WINS RATE CASE POINT

Claims Against Kansas City Southern Ordered Received. BUTLER, Mo., February 16.—The State of Missouri scored a victory in its suit to recover $2,400,000 alleged overcharges from the Kansas City Southern Railway Company today, when Judge Charles A. Calverd in the Circuit Court here appointed James D. Lindsay of Clinton as master to review claims against the railroad. The case is one of several filed by Attorney General Barker against Missouri roads to collect overcharges paid by shippers and passengers while the Missouri railroad rate cases were awaiting decision by the United States Supreme Court. The railroads contended such claims should be adjudicated in the United States District Court.

At druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis. Adv. SEDALIA P. O. DISCUSSED. City Offers Lot in Exchange for Old Federal Building. SEDALIA, Mo., 17.—Ernest G. Schurig, Superintendent of Construction of Public Buildings for the United States, is in Sedalia to confer with Postmaster R. E. Godding with a view of enlarging the present Federal building to meet the demands of increased business. The Sedalia Post Office has been inadequate for several years. Mayor F. L. Ludemann and the Finance Committee of Sedalia met with Mr. Schurig tonight and made a proposition to trade the lot where the City Hall stands for the present Post-Office building. It is probable this deal will be made, or a new building constructed on some other site, as the present location will not permit more adequate quarters than at present. Miss Hattie Branson is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Downs near Miami, four miles southeast. Mr. Downs held a sale at his farm today the 18th.

A CLERGYMAN'S STORY

Came Near Losing His Life—How He Escaped

The following letter was received by The Peruna Co., 506 West 12th St., Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 19, 1914. It is a true story, and a most interesting one. It is a story of a man who came near losing his life, and how he escaped. It is a story of a man who came near losing his life, and how he escaped. It is a story of a man who came near losing his life, and how he escaped.

We quote from another letter, dated December 16, 1906: "I praise Peruna for all the good that it has done for me, and that it does for others."

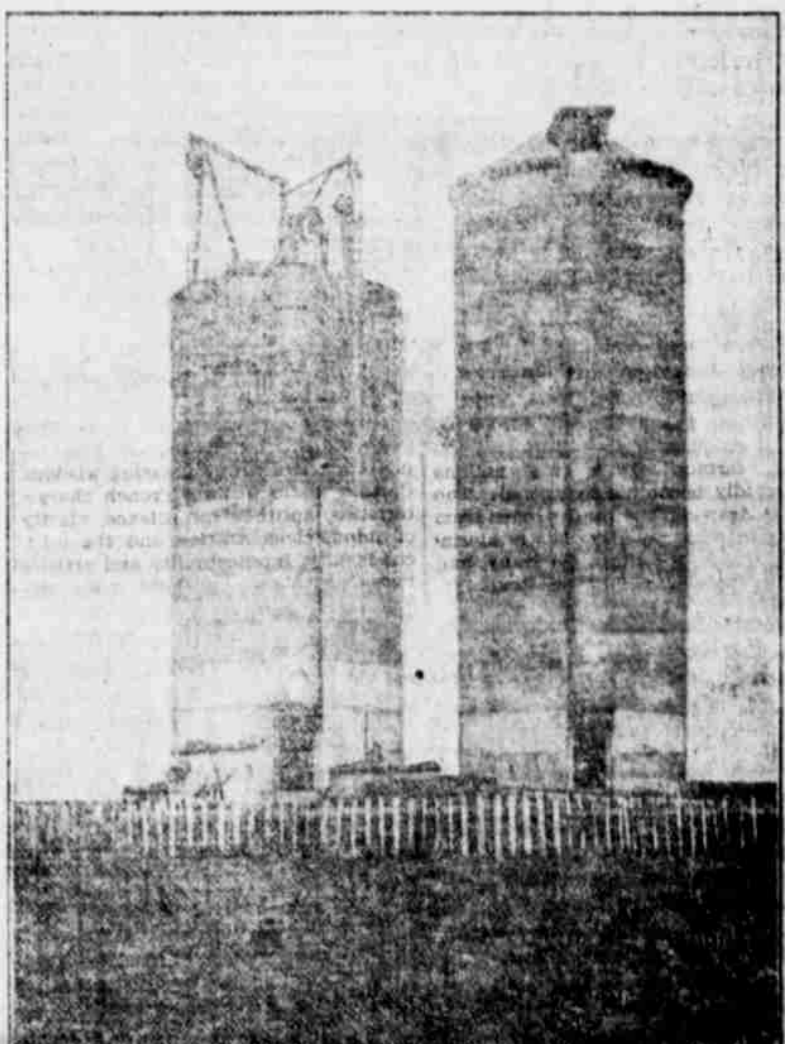

In a letter dated November 22, 1907, we quote Rev. Roberts: "Peruna has done for me what no other medicine could do. It has given me a new lease on life, and I am able to do my duty to God and my fellow men."

In a later letter, dated January 13, 1910, he says: "I shall ever be in the debt of Peruna to all sufferers. I believe my miraculous cure was the means of many others being cured in this country."

It is not necessary for us to add any more to this story. The clearness and pathos of these letters are more convincing than arguments or affidavits. Who can doubt the clergyman's story? Who can doubt that Peruna saved his life? Every home should be provided with the last edition of the "His Life" sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.
