The country at large seems to be experiencing an unusual late spring this year.

The colored people got their school by a handsome majority. The only thing to be lamented over is that they didn't get it sooner.

The post office department has barred babies from the parcel post. Evidently the stork's monopoly is not to be smashed, as was that of the express companies.—Ex.

The tactful husband, some sage has remarked, never forgets the day of his wife's birth, and never remembers the year when it happened.—Youth's Companion.

The women of Illinois showed their colors in last week's election by voting "dry" almost solidly, and liquor interests must hereafter look upon the women voters as enemies, who must be taken into consideration.

A "bachelor girl" says a man usually has only one collar button and that's either under the bureau or in the wrong shirt. Darn the bachelor girl—she's getting too almighty well posted.—Ex.

An exchange says, "coming events cast their shadows before them, and in a whole heap of Missouri communities the hand boys are getting together these days and planning new atrocities."

At Watts, Calif., they've got a law point up that will test the judicial minds of a good many lawyers. A defendant in court ask a new trial because one of the women jurors was permitted to go home and nurse her haly.—Ex.

In talking with a typical southern crowd in a town where Republicans are unknown, it is easy to learn why they are Democrats.—Just raised that way. Very few favor the free-trade or low tariff idea and if politics were eliminated the tariff would be given an overwhelming endorsement.

May 18th is the International Peace Day and schools especially will be asked to observe the day. In spite of a few wars of minor importance, the peace idea is growing and if the coming generation is educated along this line the matter will safely take care of itself.

From Great Bend, Kansas, comes a paper called "The Truth About God and Life." The editor prints on his first page an affidavit, duly signed and sealed by a notary public, in which he formally swears that "The universe contains no real God, that man contains no soul and that life, mind and consciousness cease forever in each person at death." Kansas has produced many wonders, but this is the first time it has offered to history a citizen who is willing to make oath that he knows more than anybody else on earth.

Mart Herald: The American navy "goes dry" July 1. Secretary Daniels, upon recommendation of the Surgeon General, has issued orders prohibiting the use of alcoholic drinks on board Uncle Sam's vessels, which are to be strictly "water crafts" in the future.

Our jackies will hereafter go to sea in water wagons. It is a sign of the times that any wayfarer may read with his eyes shut. From the old seafaring days when a round of grog was the standard reward of merit it is a far cry to absolute prohibition aboardship, but the space was compassed with one step. Drink is the agent of drunkenness, and drunkenness the tragedy of the ages. Reasoning men universally concede the evil in alcohol, and to abolish the evil its body must be destroyed. Some time the age of alcohol will be looked upon with as much wonder and dislike as we of today look upon the age of the rack and the thumbscrew, of witchcraft and the whipping post.

Just as society through education progressed out of the fearsome darkness of the medieval ages, so in due course it will emerge from the domination of alcohol, and the generations to come will shudder in the reading of those chapters in history which shall describe the sickening horrors of the times when men purposely debauched themselves with a distillation that demoralized them.—Dallas News.

If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to the former address, the subscriber is held responsible.

The courts have held that refusing to take periodicals from the post office or removing and leaving them uncollected for is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud.

If subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it otherwise the subscriber is responsible until express notice with payment of all arrearage is sent to the publisher.

Chas. Brown delivered 16 head of young steers to R. L. Cameron Monday which he had on feed for six months. The steers averaged 1338 pounds, net, and for which Mr. Brown received 8 cents. Mr. Cameron shipped them with 24 more good ones.—Slater News.

MRS. MINNIE SHAFER.
Mrs. Minnie Shaffer died at Gilliam. Most readers of newspapers and many publishers are not familiar with the laws governing subscriptions. Here are the decisions of the United States court of the subject. They will be interesting to publishers and many will undoubtedly be glad of the opportunity to print them for the benefit of delinquent subscribers:

Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered to renew their subscriptions. "If the subscribers order a discontinuance of their publication the publisher may continue to send them until all dues are paid.

If the subscriber refuses to take periodicals from the post office to which they are directed to be responsible until he has settled his bill and ordered the paper discontinued. Monday. Deceased was born at Gilliam June 9th, 1886 and is the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilkes of Slater. She was married May 8, 1901 to Wm. Shaffer of Gilliam. HIS MOTHER DEAD.
Chas. P. Blackman had the sad information that his step-mother had died about a month ago at Pasadena, Calif. The father is Grant Blackman, who will be remembered as running an engine here on the Alton in the early 80's.—Slater News.

LAUNDRY PLANT TO BE ERRECTED.
Another new enterprise is scheduled for Slater and will doubtless be in operation before the snow flies again. Messrs J. T. Helmbrook and J. W. Heidbrink of Higginsville were here last week wanting to purchase a site and get permission to put up a new laundry plant. At a meeting of the city council Monday night the lot on Front street which had originally been sold to Orear and Heidbrink for the same purpose and later bought back from them, was promised to the new firm with the understanding that they install modern and the latest improved machinery.—Slater News.

week urged the election of W. P. Wisdom as a school director. A convincing name, to say the least.—Gilliam Globe.

Leonard Cheatham, William Fowler, Dedick Genser, James W. Jordan, Jr., and W. B. Richardson were Marshall visitors Sunday evening. Reports differ as to the brand of hospitality offered them, but a few rotten potatoes and a brickbat or two ought not to daunt twentieth century knight-hood. However, Mr. Richardson, chauffeur and chaperon, insists that mudsills should not be shied at 1914 motor cars.—Gilliam Globe.

Editor Francis, of The Slater News is reminded, by the application of several editors for their post office, that prior to November, 1912, he nurtured a few notions of similar intent. But now he confesses that no single symptom remains. He will be satisfied with a place on the school board, and probably the other editors will have to be satisfied with less than that.—Gilliam Globe.

Mrs. Charlotte Bohn of Marshall, spent Wednesday night with her brother, James Swift, who is very sick.—Blackburn Record.

Dr. John R. Hall of Marshall was here Thursday morning in consultation with Dr. Richard on the case of James Swift.—Blackburn Record.

Fire came very nearly destroying the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Miller Sunday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock. Mrs. Miller who was at home a lone, discovered the fire and gave the alarm. Prompt action on the part of the volunteer fire fighters checked the flames and saved the house.
The fire caught in the wall from a defective flue and had burned a hole several feet square in the roof before it was extinguished.—Miami News.
