VOLUME TWENTY-THREE

MARSHALL SALINE COUNTY MISSOURI FRIDAY, MAY 29, 1914.

NUMBER 23.

DEATHS

MRS. ANNA C. HARLAN

Mrs. Anna C. Harlan, widow of the late Dr. Harlan, died at the home of her son-in-law, J. F. Hicks, on the P. M. Walker farm, 2 1-2 miles south of Shackleford at 8:15 Monday morning, May 25th, of blood poison and other complications. Mrs. Harlan, who is 72-years-old, has been confined to her bed since last October. She has resided in Saline county for the past seventeen years and has made her home with her children. Mrs. Harlan was a devoted Christian and has been a member of the Presbyterian church a great many years. She was a devoted mother and was highly esteemed and respected by all who knew her.

The following children survive: Mrs. Kate Springer, Chanute, Kas.; Mrs. Mary Engles, Marshall; Mrs. A. D. Hicks, Shackleford; Mrs. J. F. Hicks, Shackleford; Mrs. Lizzie Akers, Enterprise, Kas., and one son, J. B. Harlan of Oklahoma.

The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Union church and was conducted by Rev. Grover Greenway of Corder, an old friend of the family. P. M. Walker, mortician, had the funeral in charge.

MRS. ELIZABETH LOVERKAMP

Mrs. Elizabeth Loverkamp died at the home of her youngest son, Lewis Loverkamp, near Sweet Springs Friday morning, May 22, 1914. Mrs. Loverkamp was born in Germany on October 15, 1837. From the old country she emigrated with her parents and settled in the state of Indiana. In 1858 she was married to the late Henry Loverkamp and to this union nine children were born. In 1887 she came with her husband to Missouri, settling near Blackburn and later near Sweet Springs.

Mrs. Loverkamp had reached a good age but was in the last years of her life troubled with paralysis and other infirmities of old age.

The funeral was held in the Lutheran church in Sweet Springs last Sunday and services were conducted by Rev. C. Bernthal. The remains were laid in the Lutheran cemetery beside her husband to await the resurrection.

MRS. JOSEPH WILSON

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Wilson, widow of the late Joseph Wilson, died at her country home in the suburbs of Miami Saturday, May 23, at 2:30 p. m.

The deceased had been ill for some time and for several weeks past had been in a critical condition and her death was not unexpected, but for the children, who survive, the grief for the dear mother was not lessened on this account.

Her life had been devoted to her family and through the sunshine and shadows she had been ever faithful in the discharge of duty.

Her passing not only takes from the home, one ever ready to minister to the happiness of the household, but on account of her gentleness of character and many christian graces.

Mrs. Wilson was loved and revered by all who knew her. She had lived in the Miami neighborhood for a number of years and her death brought sorrow to many neighbors and friends.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church at Miami and the service was conducted by Dr. A. H. Stephens of this city. A large congregation was present at the service.

Mrs. Wilson, who was Miss Lizzie H. Thompson was born April 4, 1853 and was married to the late Joseph Wilson, December, 1880. Six children were born to the union four of whom are living: George, Charles, J. D. and Bessie Wilson. Mrs. Flora Henderson, it will be remembered, died last August during the residence of the family in this city. Susie was the name of the other deceased daughter. One brother D. B. Thompson survives and he was at Miami to attend the funeral of the sister; two grand children also survive, Robert and Elizabeth Wilson.

The remains were laid to rest in the Miami cemetery, beside the husband, who died, July 7, 1913, and the daughters mentioned above.

Miss Alberta McGinnis, who taught at Miami last year, attended the funeral and assisted in the music. A machine was sent to Marshall for Dr. Stephens and Miss McGinnis.

CROSS-COUNTRY TRIP.

The editor tried a cross-country trip last Thursday in an auto as a kind of an experiment and found it very pleasant. Chas. Piper, one of our boys, acted as chauffeur.

Our first stop was at H. T. Sandidge's, about nine miles southwest of town. Mr. Sandidge started with us with a liberal check. He has just completed a big modern residence and has greatly improved his place.

Grant Weathers, farther on, also gave us his renewal and marked up a year ahead.

Mrs. Pat Duffy had us send the Republican a year as a new subscriber. She has a daughter quite sick at her home.

We made short stops at J. W. Dickerson's and others to chat but had no occasion to solicit them as they are getting the paper regularly. At Creteher we called in to see Mrs. Shackleford who, although 97 years old, is still hale and hearty and enjoying life. She is still able to do things about the house. Her daughter, Mrs. Treece, who is 73 years old, has been an invalid for three years but is much better and was able to sit up the day we called.

Aug. Kueker, one of Rose Valley's prominent farmers, treated us liberally in renewing in advance. He is a jolly farmer who is enjoying the labors of his younger days.

G. W. Mittlebuscher was assisting his neighbor, Wm. Schrader but stopped long enough to hand us a dollar for renewal. J. D. Kellner also handed us a dollar on subscription.

Our good friend, Henry Reinwald always knows an editor's ailment so had the good lady of the house prepare us a good dinner and we went our way with a lighter heart but a little heavier in weight.

S. A. Wagner of the same vicinity drew a check book on us and it hit the spot, but we didn't faint—it simply made us feel good.

R. M. Tuck of north of Sweet Springs was our next and last "victim." He is always "loaded" with money, so we went out of our way to see him and as usual went away with part of his roll. The rain coming on, we made for home.

Everything looks fine in the section traversed although many of the farmers are taking the Hessian fly seriously and Aug. Kueker informed us that he plowed up some wheat and planted corn on account of the pest.

COUNTRY HOME BURNS.

The home of Joe Strong, 4 miles north of Marshall, was totally destroyed by fire about 8 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Strong was not at home at the time of the fire but his wife was working on the back porch. She, however, did not learn that the home was burning until Steve Keehart, who was passing the Strong home, discovered smoke coming through the side windows and gave the alarm. A number of neighbors were summoned but the blaze had gained such headway that it was impossible to check its ravages.

The origin of the fire is undetermined but one theory is that the roof caught on fire from sparks coming from the kitchen stove. The loss of the home is estimated at about $1200. Only $500 insurance was carried.

PRIZE SNAKE STORY

Atty. Wayne Hayman is the authority for a snake story. One day this week the birds in a certain tree near his home on the Spring Park, made such a do that they attracted the attention of the women in that neighborhood and upon investigation discovered two large snakes, one a blue racer and one a black snake up the tree in mortal combat. The ladies called some neighbor boys to the rescue, and finally both snakes were killed and quiet restored—Sweet Springs Herald.

LESTER CASEBOLT DROWNED

Lester Casebolt, 16-years-old, son of Mrs. T. S. Maupin of 460 S. English, this city, was drowned in the lake at the fair grounds about 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 26th. Lester had gone to the lake with a number of other boys for a swim and with another boy attempted to swim across the lake and got about half way across the pond when he gave out and went down into the water.

Roy Wood, who had accomplished the feat of swimming from one bank to the other was returning and heard the drowning boy calling for help, he went to him as quickly as possible and did everything possible to rescue him, but being much smaller than Casebolt he was unable to do so. The unfortunate victim caught his helper around the neck as he came up the second time and dragged him under and the third time would have drowned young Wood by pulling him down with him but he managed to break away from him when he found there was no chance for him to rescue his companion.

Mr. Barnard, manager of the Missouri Electric Light Service, hurried to the fair grounds as soon as the news reached the city with his pump-motor hoping that it might be possible to restore life, but there is now no hope.

Preparations were made to recover the body, but it was not until about 8 o'clock p. m. that it was found. The lake was dragged and many divers made ineffectual attempts to find the remains of the unfortunate boy.

Frank Duggins in diving got hold of the body at one time but was unable to get assistance soon enough and had to relinquish his hold.

John Redinger, an employee of the shoe factory, after the closing hour, 5 o'clock, joined the army of searchers at the lake and with several large hooks attached to a long pole he was successful in finding the body, one of the hooks having caught it under the arm.

Paris Walker, the mortician in charge had the remains removed to his undertaking establishment, where they were put in readiness for burial. Then taken to the Maupin home, 460 South English Ave., about 11 p. m.

A short service was held at the home here Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. H. Williams, pastor of the Marshall First Baptist church. The remains were taken to Miami for burial at 2 o'clock. The funeral took place from the home of the grandmother, Mrs. Hannah Casebolt, after which the body will be laid in the Miami cemetery, beside the father, the late Buford Casebolt, who died when Lester was only two years old. The 21, 1898, and was 16 years old last last named was born at Miami, May Thursday.

In addition to the mother and step-father, T. S. Maupin, one brother, Milton Casebolt, the only other child born to Mrs. Maupin's first marriage survives, he is not quite 18 and the brothers have been inseparable companions from childhood. Three years ago the brothers joined the church at Providence, a county church west of Marshall, which is near the country home of the family and on last Sunday a week ago they with the parents put themselves under the watchful care of the Baptist church in this city.

Lester had a large relationship at Miami and as soon as the news of the drowning reached there, a number came to Marshall in machines. They were F. M. Burruss and wife, Martin Kite and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Young, W. H. Wheeler and Mrs. Hannah Casebolt the grandmother of the deceased; Mrs. T. S. Smith and son, T. S. Jr., came Tuesday night from Mt. Leonard. Other relatives of the county here were Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Maupin and son, Edgar; Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Maupin, daughter, Sallie, and son, Jennings, they were all from the Creteher neighborhood; there were Mr. and Mrs. Giles Kiser and Miss Arzella Kiser, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cooper of Shackleford were also here. A number of these relatives accompanied the remains and the family to Miami.

W. H. Smith of near Blue Lick, who was in Marshall Wednesday on business, said they had a fine rain 6 miles south of Marshall this morning.

CURRENT EVENTS

The third annual convention of the Missouri Equal Suffrage Association was held at Columbia. Mrs. Walter McNab Miller of Columbia was re-elected president.

Pennsylvania held its first general primary last week. Senator Holes Penrose won the Republican nomination for United States Senator and Martin C. Brumbaugh the Republican nomination for Governor. The Democrats nominated Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer for United States Senator and Vance C. McCormick for Governor. Gifford Pinchot was nominated for United States Senator by the Progressives and Draper Lewis of the University of Pennsylvania for Governor.

Journalism Week at Columbia was attended by representatives from 17 states and the attendance of the Missouri Editors showed an increase of 25 over any former year. Interesting and instructive addresses were made. The citizens of Columbia gave the visitors a hearty welcome and materially assisted in their entertainment. The various organizations of newspaper men and women held special meetings in the interest of these various societies. It was pronounced by all who attended the best Journalism Week ever held in the University City.

Dr. Aureliano Urrutia who was Huerta's Minister of the Interior for three months last year, arrived in Vera Cruz with his wife Monday, having fled from Mexico City. He was guarded by United States soldiers while Gen. Funston awaited orders from Washington as to whether he should ship him out of the city as an undesirable citizen. He was anxious to come to the United States because he is not safe any place in Mexico. He appeared in the garments of a laboring man, and did not make his identity known until safe within the American lines. Mexicans in Vera Cruz denounced him as a traitor and coward and a crowd gathered in front of his hotel window. He is the man who wrote the Ultimatum given the United States 24 hours in which to recognize Huerta.

Charles S. Mellen former president of the New Haven Railroad, appeared before the Interstate Commerce Commission for examination as a witness in the investigation of the New Haven management. He declared that he favors a railroad monopoly, controlled and regulated by the Government and that such a monopoly would be beneficial to the public. He said $11,000,000 worth of New Haven assets mysteriously disappeared and that he never had the audacity to ask Morgan where it went. He said both he and other directors were afraid to put this question to the Money King. Tammany Hall politicians used the New Haven as a good thing, both in getting contracts from it and in getting money to push legislation desired by it.

The United States Revenue Cutter Seneca reached Halifax with four survivors of the burned steamer Columbian, picked up in a life boat after they had been adrift in the open sea for 13 days and had seen 11 of the 15 men that originally put out in the boat die of hunger and exposure. When found the men had been living for a week on nothing but shoe leather. All were in a serious condition and were placed in a hospital as soon as they reached Halifax. They had lowered the 11 bodies of their comrades into the sea. Chief Officer Tiers, whose feet are so badly frozen they probably will have to be amputated, said that during the first two days they sighted several steamers, but were unable to attract attention to themselves. When rescued they had drifted 120 miles to the north and were far out of the road of steamship travel. The total death list from the Columbian disaster is now 15.

The Mexican situation during the past week while filled with stirring events has not been so acute and the final crisis while inevitable seems more remote. The Constitutional army continues its victorious march to the City of Mexico. They captured Paredon and Zruche and Villa executed 34 officers who had deserted Madero 16 months ago to fight for Huerta. Pushing on to Saltillo the rebels found that the Federal army of 12,000 had retired moving back in the direction of the Capitol. Huerta continues to reiterate that he will not resign, but the belief is general that if he does not retire soon a mob will assault the palace and destroy him and his family. The American army at Vera Cruz has been inactive during the past week. The city has resumed its normal business condition and is much cleaner and better governed than when the natives are in control. The mediators have held their first conference at Niagara Falls, but have not made public their proceedings other than the statement that some progress had been made towards the establishment of peace.

Indictments against five men, employees of the Carbon Steel Co., of Pittsburg on charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States Government by furnishing inferior steel for the Panama canal locks were returned by the Federal Grand Jury. It is alleged that the steel is of such inferior quality that the locks are in danger of letting go at any time, causing great loss of life and property. It is alleged that the ends of the beams were tempered highly so that the inspectors would be unsuspecting.

An attempt by English Militant suffragettes to present a petition to King George at Buckingham Palace was foiled, but not until a battle had been fought between the women and the police. The women used clubs against the policemen, many of whom were thrown from their horses in the struggle. Finally more than thirty of the suffragettes including Mrs. Parkhurst and Miss Sylvia Parkhurst were arrested. King George stood at the window of the palace and watched the struggle. There were 1500 policemen against 200 women, but they did not win without a fight. Several of the policemen suffered broken heads. A crowd that looked on was so great the police had to use fire hose to open a path for the removal of their prisoners.

EASILY HOME BURNED.

About 19 o'clock Tuesday morning the cottage, 994 North Jefferson, occupied by D. M. Easley and family caught on fire from a defective flue and was badly damaged before the flames could be gotten under control. The fire company responded promptly and did excellent service.

The boy scouts from the Eastwood building were among the first to arrive at the scene of the fire and Mr. Easley says worked with a will and rendered great assistance.

The greater part of the household goods were gotten out, but some things were damaged by the fire and water. They will for the present be stored in the uly room that was not damaged, and the family will board for awhile.

AUTO CAUSES RUNAWAY

While returning home from a country trip around Blue Lick Friday in an auto, Chas. Piper and the editor caused a team to run away behind which were Rucker Walker, Stanford Stolsworth, Miss Frances Dickerson, Mrs. Ed. Nichols and two little girls. The team was supposed to be auto safe, but the spectacle of an editor and a red-headed chauffeur was too much for the big mule. He looked hard several times to make sure, then stood straight up and wheeled around taking his mate and part of the spring wagon with him. There was a good deal of excitement for a few minutes but fortunately no one was hurt and after an hour or so repairs were made sufficiently for the party to drive home.
