The various weaknesses which afflict their delicate organism spring from inflammation or catarrh of the mucous lining, and Pe-ru-na is a specific for catarrh in any organ of the body. Any congestion of a mucous membrane simply means catarrh of the organ affected. This is why Pe-ru-na cures all sorts of troubles where other remedies fail. If there is a catarrhal affection the matter with you anywhere Pe-ru-na will cure you.

CHINA DESIROUS OF PEACE.

Li Hung Chang to Negotiate with the Powers for a Cessation of Hostilities and Ultimate Peace.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Indications of the desire of China for a peaceful settlement of her present difficulties have been multiplying for several days. Evidence of that desire was presented to the department of state today. It was in the form of an edict promulgated by Emperor Kwang Hsu, appointing Earl Li Hung Chang as minister plenipotentiary to negotiate with the powers for an "immediate cessation of hostilities," pending a solution of the problems which have grown out of the anti-foreign uprising in the empire.

Li's Acts Will be Approved.

Earl Li is to act directly for the emperor, and a fair inference is that whatever terms of settlement he may reach with the powers will be approved by the imperial government.

Minister Conger Can Hold On.

During the day only one dispatch that was made public reached any of the government departments from China. A belated message from Minister Conger was transmitted to the war department by Gen. Chaffee. It expressed simply his ability to "hold on" until Gen. Chaffee should come to his relief. All the power of this government will be exerted to get that relief to him and the other imprisoned legationer at the earliest possible moment.

A Chinese Imperial Edict.

Minister Wu was an early caller at the department of state. Shortly after nine o'clock he made an engagement with Acting Secretary of State Adee to meet him at the department at 10:30 a. m. Promptly at that hour the minister's automobile stopped at the west entrance of the department. Minister Wu alighted and hurried to Secretary Adee's office. He presented to Mr. Adee a copy of the imperial edict which he had received last night. It had been transmitted to him in the Chinese foreign office cipher, and its translation and preparation for submission to the department of state had occupied much of the night.

Discussed the Terms of the Edict.

Minister Wu remained with Secretary Adee for three quarters of an hour, discussing the terms of the edict and the probable response to it of this government.

Before Minister Wu left the department Secretary of War Root returned with some diplomatists, but remained long enough only to obtain a copy of the document and discuss it briefly with the Chinese official.

Way to Peace Made Easy.

Minister Wu expressed the belief that the edict presented a means of a peaceful adjustment of the present trouble, and that the request of the Chinese government for a cessation of hostilities pending peace negotiations was entirely reasonable.

Transmitted to the President.

Immediately upon the conclusion of the conference, the text of the edict, together with the details of the call of Minister Wu, was communicated to President McKinley at Canton. The president's reply as yet has not been received.

Later in the day Acting Secretary Adee made public the text of the edict in the following statement:

Secretary Adee's Statement.

"The department of state makes public the following edict appointing Viceroy Li Hung Chang as envoy plenipotentiary to propose a cessation of hostile demonstrations and negotiate with the powers, a copy of which was delivered by Mr. Wu to the acting secretary of state this, Sunday, morning at 10:30 o'clock.

"An imperial edict forwarded by the privy council at Pekin, under date of the 14th day of the seventh moon (August 8) to Gov. Yuan Tsi Nan, Shan Tung, who transmitted it on the 17th day of the same moon (August 11) to the Taoti of Shanghai, by whom it was re-transmitted to Minister Wu, who received it on the night of the same day (August 11).

"The imperial edict, as transmitted by the privy council, is as follows:

The Imperial Edict.

"'In the present conflict between the Chinese and foreigners there has been some misunderstanding on the part of the foreign nations and also a want of proper management on the part of some of the local authorities. A clash of arms was followed by calamitous results, and caused a rupture of friendly relations which will ultimately do no good to the world. We hereby appoint Li Hung Chang as our envoy plenipotentiary, with instructions to propose at once by telegraph to the governments of the several powers concerned for the immediate cessation of hostile demonstrations pending negotiations, which he is hereby authorized to conduct for our part, for the settlement of whatever questions may have to be dealt with. The questions are to be severally considered in a satisfactory manner and the result of the negotiations reported to us for our sanction. Respect this.'

"The above is respectfully copied for transmission to your excellency, to be communicated to the secretary of state, for his excellency's information.'"

America May Not Consent.

While it is conceded by the Washington officials that the conference of the plenipotentiary authority upon Earl Li to negotiate with the powers for the settlement of existing troubles is a step in the right direction, it is by no means assured that the United States government will consent, offhand, to open negotiations with the distinguished viceroy. The demands of this government upon China have been made plainly, and without equivocation. They can not be misunderstood or evaded.

As transmitted to the imperial government by the secretary of state, through Minister Wu, the demands in brief were:

That the Chinese government give assurances that the foreign ministers are alive, and if so, in what condition; that the ministers be placed in free communication with their governments, firing upon the legations cease and all dangers to their lives and liberty be removed; that the imperial authorities place themselves in communication with the relief expedition, so that the legationers may be liberated, foreigners protected and order re-

Must be Acceded To.

Until these demands have been acceded to, it is regarded as highly improbable that the government of the United States or any of the European governments, all of which have made practically the same demands upon China, will consent to a cessation of hostile demonstrations, which are being conducted, at least so far as this government is concerned, with the sole purpose of succoring the besieged legand foreigners protected.

An Optimistic View.

Minister Wu is inclined to take an optimistic view of the situation.

MISSOURI STATE NEWS.

Counterfeiters at Work.

A great quantity of spurious silver coin has been put in circulation in the Missouri-Kansas zinc fields recently, and all efforts to apprehend the counterfeiters have so far failed. The silver used in their manufacture is molten Mexican coins, and the work is so well done that detection is almost impossible. The stamp and milling are said to be the best yet brought to the notice of experts. Even the banks have been taken in by these counterfeits.

Met Death in a Peculiar Manner.

Clyde Saunders, the ten-year-old son of Joseph Saunders, of near Spring Fork, Pettis county, was instantly killed in a peculiar manner. The boy fell off a barn and his head struck on a nail, which pierced his brain. His brother, two year older, carried him to the residence and washed his wound, not knowing he was dead. Failing to resuscitate his brother, he ran two miles to a neighbor's for assistance.

Found Guilty.

The case of the state against Thomas Q. Purcell for the murder of Charles C. Bailey on the evening of March 10 last, was submitted to the jury, at Marshall, and that body reached the following verdict: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty of murder in the second degree and fix the penalty at thirty years in the penitentiary."

Big Yield of an Oat Field.

Omer Catterson, a prominent farmer and raiser of cattle, who lives a few miles north of Maryville, thinks a 19-acre field belonging to him has broken all records in the production of oats. He has just threshed out 1,270 bushels, which were raised on this 19 acres, an average yield of 67 bushels to the acre.

Death Did Not Part Them.

The Apple Crop.

The hot, dry weather has been unfavorable for apples, and they are still dropping in many places to a considerable extent.

RECTANGULAR FIELDS.

They Are Less Wasteful Than Other Shapes and Are Not Much More Difficult to Make.

Every farmer is willing to agree that rectangular fields are less wasteful of land than fields of other shapes, and that straight lanes and roads running at right angles to or parallel with the sides of these fields are not only more economical of space and time, but are neater than irregular roads. It is not every man, however, that has a satisfactory way of making his roads and fields take these forms. Of course, where ravines and other formations of the surface occur roads and fences must conform to the surface more or less; but for ordinary places the following method, that the writer has used recently with satisfaction, may be employed.

Decide upon a straight base-line, and work from that. Start at one of the corners, A (see illustration), and measure back on the line any convenient distance, B, say 20 feet, using a piece of rope that will not stretch. Hold the rope tight, and draw the arc BCD. Now start at B, and keeping the rope tight, mark the point C. From C mark off D, and also draw a little arc passing through E, which will be definitely located when the stationary end of the line is placed at D and the distance, 20 feet, marked off. The line drawn from A to E will be perpendicular to the base-line, and all that will now be necessary will be to extend this line by the usual method of sighting with poles.—M. G. Kains, in Farm and Fireside.

THE COW IN SUMMER.

Unless She Is Given a Well-Balanced Ration Her Milk Yield Is Bound to Shrink.

Comparatively few farmers would think of working a team of horses hard during the summer months without feeding a liberal allowance of grain along with pasture. But when it comes to feeding cows the reverse is true. Just as small a number feed their cows a grain ration while running on a pasture.

The horse is fed grain from which to draw material to supply the system with force and energy. Farmers have learned from experience that grass alone does not afford the proper amount of muscle-makers to repair the waste and give strength to a horse at constant hard work, and they resort to feeding grain.

The cow, as a matter of course, does not expend so much for muscular strength in the elaboration of milk as does the horse in a hard day's work, but the draft on her nervous system is greater than that on the muscular system of the horse. Before one can reasonably expect a cow to do her best day after day and year after year, she must be liberally furnished with food that will supply the system with strength and energy to stand the draft made by the nervous forces on her system.

We hear a great deal about balanced rations for winter feeding and but very little about a balanced ration during the summer months. A cow needs the same material during the summer as during the winter. She needs a balanced ration in May and June as much as in December and January. During the winter we see that her wants are supplied. During the summer she is, as a rule, left to shift for herself, and if she does not respond liberally when on pasture—no matter what the nature of the pasture, whether it is clover, bluegrass, timothy or wild grass—she is condemned, when the fact is, she is doing the best she can under the circumstances.—M. E. King, in Ohio Farmer.

The Selections of Sires.

No question is more puzzling to the average breeder than the price that he can safely pay for a sire. No factor is more vital to the breeder's success, whether he is beginner or veteran, whether he is engaged in the production of high-class show and sale stock or prime market-topping steers for the block. At the leading sales of the beef breeds during the last year $1,000 has not been an uncommon price for the best cows and in a few instances $2,000 and $3,000 have been reached. If a cow is worth $1,000, what is a bull worth which is good enough to mate with such a cow?—Prairie Farmer.

PEOPLE OF NOTE.

Giacomo Puccini, the composer, is the fifth representative in the direct line of a family of musicians. His great-great-grandfather, born in 1712, was conductor at Lucca and the teacher of Guglielmi. Descendants of his in each generation have been composers.

That Queen Victoria is a faithful patron of Irish lace and linen is well known. Her liking for the linen is so enthusiastic that no cotton is permitted to be used in any of the royal residences. Even the simplest kitchen cloth must be made of Irish flax.

Among the many attractions at North Beach, near New York, there is a wild man who, according to the owner of the show, was "captured at great expense in the wilds of Borneo." The wild man's name on the bills is "An-nahk-r-am," and it is declared that he eats cats, dogs, birds and mice. The name spelled backward bears a close resemblance to that of a noted Ohio man.

In a study of American politics which appeared in a recent number of the London Chronicle it was pointed out that out of the 25 presidents of the United States all but one have been of British family origin. Fifteen, headed by Washington, came of English stock. Three, including James Monroe, had Scotch ancestors. One, Thomas Jefferson, inherited pure Welsh blood, while five others traced their lineage to Scotch-Irish ancestry.

George Gould attended a meeting of the Union Pacific railroad directors a few days ago and lighted a cigarette. "Drop that cigarette," said Chairman Harriman. "I have issued an order forbidding employes to smoke cigarettes." "You are an employe; you get $10 for attending one of these meetings. You too, Mr. Schiff," addressing another millionaire director who was toying with a lighted perfecto. "We directors must not make rules for employes and then break them ourselves." The distinguished employes quietly obeyed orders.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

Patties, green peas, olives and pickles are quite favorite combinations, making also a most acceptable course for luncheon or dinner.

Tomatoes may be salted and peppered, dipped into beaten egg and cracker crumbs and fried until they are brown. For these it is better not to use the onion. They are particularly delicious served with fish.

Pale and Weak Women

Beauty and strength in women vanish early in life because of monthly pain or some menstrual irregularity. Many suffer silently and see their best gifts fade away.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

helps women preserve roundness of form and freshness of face because it makes their entire female organism healthy. It carries women safely through the various natural crises and is the safeguard of woman's health.

The truth about this great medicine is told in the letters from women being published in this paper constantly.

When a preparation has an advertised reputation that is world-wide, it means that preparation is meritorious. If you go into a store to buy an article that has achieved universal popularity like Cascarets Candy Cathartic for example, you feel it has the endorsement of the world. The judgment of the people is infallible because it is impersonal. The retailer who wants to sell you "something else" in place of the article you ask for, has an ax to grind. Don't it stand to reason? He's trying to sell something that is not what he represents it to be. Why? Because he expects to derive an extra profit out of your credulity. Don't you see through his little game? The man who will try to sell you a substitute for Cascarets is a fraud. Beware of him! He is trying to steal the honestly earned benefits of a reputation which another business man has paid for, and if his conscience will allow him to go so far, he will go farther. If he cheats his customer in one way, he will in another and it is not safe to do business with him. Beware of the Cascaret substitutor! Remember Cascarets are never sold in bulk but in metal boxes with the long tailed "C" on every box and each tablet stamped C. C. C.

Chinaman and Christian.

A Chinaman of great dignity and some splendor of dress was getting off an elevated train at Twenty-third street the other day when a white rowdy called after him:

"Say," said the tough, "are you a 'boxer'?"

The other tough added some abuse and roared with laughter, after the Chinaman, who got off the car, then turned. He waited till the gates were closed, then he answered in pretty clear English:

"Say, you Clistian?"

Then the gateman and some passengers laughed, and the toughs slunk into the car. —N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

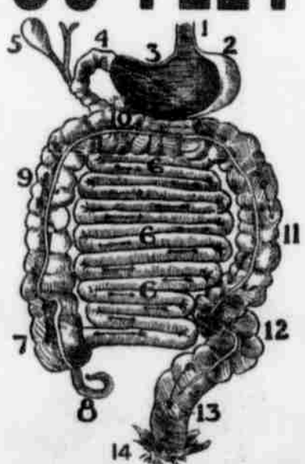
30 FEET OF BOWELS



THE ALIMENTARY CANAL. 1. Lower end of esophagus (food-pipe) which conveys the food from the throat to the stomach; 2. Cardiac end of stomach; 3. Pyloric end of stomach; 4. Duodenum; 5. Gall bladder; 6, 6, 6. Small intestines; 7. Cecum; 8. Vermiform appendix; 9. Ascending colon; 10. Transverse colon; 11. Descending colon; 12. Sigmoid flexure; 13. Rectum; 14. Anus. The duodenum is continuous with the small intestines. The small intestine empties into the large intestine or colon at the cecum. The arrows indicate the direction in which the contents of the bowels must take in passing through the alimentary canal.

are packed away in your insides and must be kept clean, in order and doing business.

It's a long way, with many turns and pitfalls to catch the refuse and clog the channel if not most carefully cleaned out every day.

When this long canal is blockaded, look out for trouble—furred tongue, bad breath, belching of gases, yellow spots, pimples and boils, headaches, spitting up of food after eating—an all-around disgusting nuisance.

Violent pill poisons or griping salts are dangerous to use for cleaning out the bowels. They force out the obstruction by causing violent spasms of the bowels, but they leave the intestines weak and even less able to keep up regular movements than before, and make a larger dose necessary next time.

Then you have the pill habit, which kills more people than the morphine and whiskey habits combined.

The only safe, gentle but certain bowel cleansers are sweet, fragrant CASCARETS, because they don't force out the foecal matter with violence, but act as a tonic on the whole 30 feet of bowel wall, strengthen the muscles and restore healthy, natural action. Buy and try them! (Look out for imitations and substitutes or you can't get results. Cascarets are never sold in bulk. Look for the trade-mark, the long-tailed "C" on the box.) You will find that in an entirely natural way your bowels will be promptly and permanently

The Extract of Benne Plant Is Nature's Own Remedy

First used by the Mississippi river steamboat men in the "early forties," who drank their "Benne Teddi" from the hands of the colored "aunties." They steeped the leaves in hot water, and the verdict of these steamboat men was that it "did the business."

In 1841, James and Constance Maguire secured some of these miraculous leaves, and, upon investigation, discovered that they are identical with the Sesam, Ind. (Benne-Leaves), and, as the same indicates, native of India, containing a mucilaginous substance of soothing and healing properties. Nature here furnished a remedy for diseases such as Colic, Cholera Morbus, Diarrhoea, Dysentery and kindred ailments. After experimenting, the Messrs. Maguire succeeded in chemically combining the use of the Benne-leaves with other vegetable substances, and so furnished a remedy that has saved thousands of lives.
