

MRS. DE PASSE OF NEW YORK CITY

"I Consulted Several Physicians, but they Did Me No Good. Peruna and Man-a-Lin Helped Me."

MRS. ALINE DEPASSE.

Mrs. Aline DePasse, 776 E. 160th St., New York, N. Y., writes:

"It gives me pleasure to testify to the curative qualities of Peruna and Man-a-Lin."

"I was afflicted for over seven years with catarrh of the head, throat and digestive organs. I consulted many physicians, but they did me no good."

"One day I happened to read some testimonials in your Peruna almanac. I decided to try Peruna and Man-a-Lin. I bought a bottle of each, and after taking them for a week I noticed a change for the better. So I kept it up, and after using twelve bottles I was perfectly cured."

"I also gave the medicine to my children and they had the same beneficial result. I would never be without these remedies in the house."

"I highly recommend Peruna and Man-a-Lin to all my friends, and in fact to everybody."

Miss Mildred Grey, 110 Weimar St., Appleton, Wis., writes:

"It gives me pleasure to recommend Peruna for catarrh of the stomach, and would not enjoy a mouthful of food that I ate. It was indeed a great relief when I hit upon Peruna, and obtained desired results from the first. I took six bottles before I felt entirely cured of my trouble, but I had an aggravated case."

Pure White Lead is the Natural Paint Pigment

Numerous compounds are being offered to take the place of white lead as a paint, but no real substitute for it has yet been found. Pure White Lead has a peculiar property of amalgamating with the wood upon which it is used—added to this it has an elasticity which permits the paint to follow the natural expansion and contraction of the wood. Pure White Lead (with its full natural tenacity and elasticity, unimpaired by adulterants), alone fulfills all the requirements of the ideal paint. Every keg which bears the Dutch Boy trade mark is positively guaranteed to be absolutely Pure White Lead made by the Old Dutch Process.

"PANIC" TO ORDER

POSSIBILITY THAT HISTORY WILL REPEAT ITSELF.

Financiers and Politicians of To-Day Differ Little in Character from Those Who were Prominent in Andrew Jackson's Time.

In looking back at our industrial and financial history it is interesting and may be profitable to know that in 1837 there was great prosperity, especially in New York city. The diary of Phillips Hone, who was mayor of New York in 1839, describes that prosperity as being beyond all former examples, accompanied by high rents, vessels worth double, good prices for ample crops, in fact, general prosperity. Two years later President Jackson was in the midst of his vigorous war against the United States bank monopoly. Nicholas Biddle, the president of that bank, was the great financier of his day, and he not only aimed to control the financial affairs of the country, but its politics also, for he attempted to defeat the re-nomination of Gen. Jackson in 1832 and the nomination of Martin Van Buren to be his successor. In 1833, Hone speaks of ill-advised action of the president in removing the government deposits from the United States bank which he said produced an awful scarcity of money, stocks declined greatly in value, and in December of that year he speaks of a panic prevailing and as times being "gravely hard."

Gambling in stocks, he says, "has been carried on by brokers to an extent disgraceful to the character of the city." He speaks of speculators selling stocks "to the amount of millions without owning a dollar of the stocks, betting it would fall and then taking pains by every kind of insinuation and chicanery to injure the reputation of the stock that he may win." The bears of the Wall street of those days evidently had the bulls by the throat and were making them follow for the time being.

But in the beginning of 1833 the bulls were on top again and there was renewed prosperity and speculation in progress. Hone speaks of the high prices prevailing for rents and commodities and the increased cost of living. "The rage for speculation in lands in Long Island," he says, "is one of the bubbles of the day." He tells us of Abraham Schermerhorn as having a farm of 170 acres, three miles from Brooklyn, which he had offered for $18,000 four years before and now sold for $102,000. Two years later, in 1837, however, the boom burst and lots which sold at $480 were then worth but $50. That was in April, and on May 10 the New York banks had suspended specie payments.

There is a great similarity between those times and now. Andrew Jackson was somewhat a prototype of Theodore Roosevelt, they are both of the strenuous type and President Roosevelt, like Gen. Jackson, is hardly satisfied without having a fight on hand with some one. The parallel is complete enough even to the fact that both were mixed up in a controversy with ladies of great political ambition, for while Gen. Jackson had his Peggy O'Neil, President Roosevelt has had his Maria in the Storer episode, only there is this great difference, for while the chivalrous Jackson stood by the woman in the case, even to the point of disrupting his cabinet, President Roosevelt felt compelled to denounce the political activities of Mrs. Storer.

Will the parallel hold good in the collapse of the boom and a resulting depression in the price of real estate? Will President Roosevelt be able to name his successor to the presidency, as Jackson did with Van Buren, after he had broken down the political machine of his party and created a personal machine that he was able to nequeath to his successor? Will President Roosevelt prevail, as Gen. Jackson did, or will the parallel be incomplete by the stalwart wing of the Republican party controlling the next Republican national convention?

Whether poor crops and tight money will cause a collapse of the present boom is impossible to say until the crop question is settled. We are now doing business on a ten to one basis—that is the banks of the country only hold one dollar in cash for ever $10 they owe their depositors. It will not take much to upset such an inverted pyramid and a great many more things may happen nowadays than in Gen. Jackson's time. There are indications that the far-seeing financiers have sold or are selling their speculative holdings and the retirement from active business of such masters of finance as J. P. Morgan and Rockefeller and Rogers and Stillman looks to be a warning for other people to take heed before the next financial eruption occurs. Of course, when a boom collapses somebody holds the bag and these see their property melt away in falling prices for lack of buyers. Those who are out of debt will weather the storm, if they can pay taxes and get along with reduced incomes for a while. But those who are in debt when the pinch comes will suffer great losses and many will lose their all.

We do not know that Nicholas Biddle brought on the panic of 1833 to injure the prestige of Gen. Jackson, but we can well imagine the present disgruntled financiers allowing the speculative markets to sag, and the Republican machine politicians aiding them to defeat the Democrats as they have done on former occasions. It is comparatively easy to produce a "rich man's panic" to frighten the voters by an appeal to their pockets.

HERE'S ONE ON THE "ROOKEY."

Gets Sentry Call Twisted When Dazed by Commander.

A drummer sometimes gets his orders twisted, but never quite so badly as the "rookie" I saw down at Chickamauga when the troops were being mustered in for the Spanish-American war, says a traveling man in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

This boy, fresh from St. Louis, was on the way to the front and proud of it. He had his first assignment to guard duty and he had been carefully instructed as to calling "Who goes there?"

The officer in command of the division was a dignified marinet. The "rookie" had never seen him. About midnight the general came home from a reception in town. He was all fixed up in his dress togs and he was the swiftest thing the new guard ever saw. As the general passed his post the boy gazed at him open-mouthed. Just in time he remembered he was expected to say something. So he gasped.

"There goes who?"

ELEVEN YEARS OF ECZEMA.
Hands Cracked and Bleeding—Nail Came Off of Finger—Cuticura Remedies Brought Prompt Relief.

"I had eczema on my hands for about eleven years. The hands cracked open in many places and bled. One of my fingers was so bad that the nail came off. I had tried so many remedies, and they all had failed to cure me. I had seen three doctors, but got no relief. Finally I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. Of course I kept Cuticura Soap all the time for my hands, but the one cake of Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment cured them. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all suffering with eczema. Mrs. Eliza A. Wiley, R. F. D. No. 2, Lincoln, Ia., Oct. 15, 1906."

HAPPENED AT BAD TIME.
Minister's Fall Significant in View of Previous Words.

In a small church in one of the mining towns of Pennsylvania was a pulpit both antique and unique. It was about the size and shape of a flour barrel, was elevated from the floor about four feet and was fastened to the wall. The ascent was by narrow winding steps.

A minister from a neighboring town, a man of great vigor and vehemence, preached there one Sunday. While preaching he bent forward and shouted out with great force the words of his text:

"The righteous shall stand, but the wicked shall fall."

Just as these words escaped from his lips, the pulpit broke from its fastening, and he fell out and rolled over on the floor before his congregation. In an instant he was on his feet again and said:

"Brethren, I am not hurt, and I don't mind the fall much, but I do hate the connection."

TWO TERRIBLE YEARS.
The Untold Agonies of Neglected Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. James French, 65 Weir Street, Taunton, Mass., says: "When I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was so run down and miserable that I could hardly endure it. Terrible pains in the back attacked me frequently and the kidney secretions were much disordered. I was a nervous wreck and there seemed no hope. Doan's Kidney Pills brought my first relief and six boxes have so thoroughly cured and regulated my kidneys that there has been no return of my old trouble."

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and aays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. B. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

Dr. Norman M. Geer, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."
