The deed of what is probably the largest transfer of land ever recorded in Southeast Missouri was filed in the county recorder's office at Greenville a few weeks ago. The deed was made by the Holladay-Klotz land and lumber company to the Wayne iron and lumber company, and calls for 100,000 acres of land in Wayne county at a consideration of $400,000.

Frank LaRose, of Ste. Genevieve, Mo., spent several days of this week at the home of his son-in-law, Frank P. Maurice. He had not been to Bonne Terre for thirty-eight years and, as there were but three houses here then, the wonderful growth of our town and the many splendid buildings it now contains were a revelation to him. Mr. LaRose is 76 years of age but is yet hale and hearty and well represents the pioneer French settlers of Missouri's oldest city.—Bonne Terre Register.

There are now six living ex-governors of Missouri, all of whom live in the state. Ex-Gov. William J. Stone is the only one of the six who is holding official position. The six are: Thomas T. Crittenden, Kansas City; D. R. Francis, St. Louis; Lon V. Stephens, St. Louis; A. M. Dockery, Gallatin; Joseph W. Folk, St. Louis, and Senator William J. Stone, who lives at Jefferson City.

The following remarkable contribution to the curiosities of figures consists of two series of numbers, of which no description is necessary, as they speak for themselves. Perhaps there is no special profit in them, but they are worth preserving nevertheless:

He is roaming now with angels bright
Who tread the golden shore.
They took him from our home and sight
With us to dwell no more.
Flowers fade and friends deceive us,
Partings follow sad farwells.

Heaven is home where Harry dwells.

The Lutheran Congregation will give a euchre and dance at the Armory on MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22.

A good time assured all attending. Admission 25 cents.

Circuit court convened here in special term on last Monday for the purpose of trying two law suits affecting about six thousand acres of land in Stoddard county. These cases came to this county on change of venue from Stoddard county. Mr. J. R. Kelso of Cape Girardeau represented the plaintiff, W. W. Normon, and Messrs. Ralph Wommack and Harry S. Shaw represented the defendants who are the present owners of the land. There were numerous defendants but most of them had parted with their interests years ago, so that the suit was really against about six persons. After a hotly contested siege of three days, and the production of an immense mass of testimony, the plaintiff dismissed his case.

Tuesday was groundhog day, there was a good deal of discussion as to the reliability of this method of forecasting the weather among rivermen. The adherents of the groundhog stoutly maintain that Tuesday's sunny weather means six weeks more of winter, and cited many previous years when his retreat at the sight of his shadow had been followed by such. The skeptical, however, are just as ready in citing years when the groundhog's judgment was proven faulty, and declare that the late cold snap was winter's departing fling. In proof of the groundhog's unreliability they say that the birds have begun building their nests and declare this to be the only infallible sign of the advent of spring.—Globe-Democrat.

For the first time since they were founded, ninety-seven years ago, the Sisters of Loretto have made a change in the habit in which they appear at their teaching duties. With the order of the mother general at the Loretto mother house in Loretto, Ky., the change has been made effective at once.

The crimson heart which was worn brightly embroidered on the black robe is now seen no more. The most beneficial change is in the former all-black hood. Soft white linen is now arranged in folds under this hood.

The sisters in the academy at Florissant and in all the schools of the order have adopted the change.

There will be a
GRAND OLD FASHIONED
BALL
AT THE ARMORY
EASTER MONDAY, Feb. 12.
Particulars later.

The Mary Ann from Amsterdam Co. did not open at the Armory Sunday night for the reason that Manager Mahoney, having heard from Festus, where they showed Saturday night, would not permit them to show. The policy of the management is to give our people nothing but absolutely good shows, and where a poor one tries to creep in it will be ousted even if the curtain is ready to go up. "The Devil," which shows tonight, Friday, is a fine show and last night played a return engagement at Festus and Manager Schaefer of the latter town assures Manager Mahoney that the show is first class. It should have a big house. Mr. Mahoney has quite a number of fine attractions booked for the near future, among which are "Lena Rivers," "The Royal Slave," and "The Holy City."

From the St. Louis Times of February 2nd we take the following: "The Jonca Granite Company, with a capitalization of $200,000, has been incorporated to do a general mining business and to manufacture granite blocks, paving and crushed material for roads and to be used in making cement. Articles of incorporation were filed Monday with the recorder of deeds. D. H. Bartlett is named as the largest stockholder with 9496 shares preferred stock and 10,496 shares of common. The first meeting will be held Thursday morning in room 1004 Pierce Building. The other incorporators are W. F. Wickham, B. J. Fine, John F. Hobelman, Jr., and J. Henry Cordes with one share each of preferred and common. The company has a granite deposit at Ste. Genevieve, Mo., and its plant will be located at Miller's Switch, 14 miles west of there."

Attention is called to the law regarding the disposition of dead animals, which reads in part as follows: "If any person shall remove, or cause to be removed and placed in or near any public road or highway, or upon premises not his own, or in any of the streams or watercourses * * * any dead animal, carcass or part thereof, or other nuisance, to the annoyance of the citizens of this State, or any of them, every person so offending shall, upon conviction, be fined for every such offense not less than ten or more than fifty dollars." The law also provides that if the same be not removed within three days it shall be deemed a second offense. Complaint has been repeatedly made that this law is constantly violated by parties who dispose of dead animals in the vicinity immediately south of town in the big field and not according to law, to the great annoyance of everyone in the neighborhood. The authorities in their efforts to stop this miserable practice are keeping a sharp lookout and the next offender will find his action the subject of a prosecution in which he will be the loser.

Freak Bills.

In the House of Representatives, Jefferson City, Wednesday, Representative Lloyd of St. Louis moved that a piano be rented for use in holding religious services on Sunday.

The resolution was opposed by the Democrats and, amid laughter, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The flood of prohibition and local option petitions which swamped the Senate Tuesday invaded the House Wednesday.

In the Senate McAllister offered a bill providing for a nine-feet bed sheet.

Greene of Kansas City wants a law providing for the physical examination of applicants for marriage licenses and also for the publication of the homes of the applicants.

Raymond of Howell county offered a bill to prohibit the playing of baseball on Sunday.

GOOD COMPANY FOR 1909.

You are careful what choice of friends the people of your household make. You do not open wide the door to those whose speech and behavior betray ill-breeding and lax morals. Are you as careful to shut it against books and periodicals that present vulgar and demoralizing pictures of life and its purpose? Perhaps you are among those who have found that The Youth's Companion occupies the same place in the family reading that the high-minded young man or woman holds among your associates. The Companion is good without being "goody-goody." It is entertaining, it is informing. In its stories it depicts life truly, but it chooses those phases of life in which duty, honor, loyalty are the guiding motives.

A full description of the current volume will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address on request. The new subscriber who at once sends $1.75 for a year's subscription will receive free The Companion's new Calendar for 1909, "In Grandmother's Garden," lithographed in thirteen colors.
