Selling Federal Jobs is Un-American
G. O. P. Committeeman.

Charges that Joseph W. Tolbert, Republican National Committeeman for South Carolina and chairman of the Republican State Committee there has peddled Federal patronage for his own profit have been laid before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee by Senator Nathaniel B. Dial (Dem. S. C.). An affidavit made by one of Tolbert's former followers alleges that the Republican National Committeeman, who was also "referee" in the distribution of Federal jobs there, expressed the hope that he would realize $100,000 in this trafficking.

Tolbert has been appointed by President Harding to be United States marshal for the Western District of South Carolina, and Senator Dial is opposing his confirmation by the Senate. It was in this connection that Senator Dial filed the allegations of Tolbert's wrong doing with the Senate subcommittee.

In presenting the case to the Senate for investigation, Senator Dial said:

"I am informed that the referee in our State (Tolbert) sold patronage and that the universal charge was one-half of the first year's salary, and it is now claimed and generally believed that this practice is in vogue. The proof presented to me is unquestionable on the subject and convincing beyond the peradventure of a doubt."

It is alleged that the sums collected from applicants for Federal positions ranged from $600 to $2,000. One of Tolbert's "referees" was recently rejected by the Senate because he sought to compel a woman postmaster to pay him $300 to bring about her confirmation, Senator Dial said.

More than a year ago Senator McKellar (Dem., Tenn.), pressed for an inquiry into charges that John W. Overall, Republican National Committeeman for Tennessee, had received $10 from an applicant for appointment as postmaster, and that friends of Overall were soliciting from other would-be appointees contributions to pay his expenses on a trip to Washington. The Republican Senate has failed to take any action on Senator McKellar's resolution for an inquiry.

These instances of alleged Republican huckstering in Federal patronage remind the people of the unfit appointments which have already been made or sought to be made by the Republican administration—Ambassador Harvey, Attorney General Daugherty, E. Mont Rolley, Governor of Porto Rico, and four of Senator Newberry's henchmen who were indicted in connection with his primary campaign in Michigan. Nat Goldstein, who took $2,500 of Governor Lowden's campaign fund while a candidate for delegate to the last Republican national convention, was nominated for St. Louis Internal Revenue Collector, but was forced to withdraw, although praised by President Harding and Senator Spencer (Rep., Mo.), who led the fight in the Senate to seat Newberry.

The Victory of Reed Constrains One to Believe That Mules Are Voting in Missouri.

(Birmingham, Alabama, News.)

Far be it from the Birmingham News, an independent Democratic newspaper and a believer in State rights, to say that the electorate of a commonwealth should not have absolute power to elect its own Representatives and Senators. The News believes also in the primary system with all its heart, although it realizes that, until perfected, it must inherit many of the imperfections of the old order.

Nevertheless, the Democratic primary in Missouri, resulting in the selection of Jim Reed to serve another six years in the United States Senate, brings this newspaper almost to the point of doubting the wisdom of some institutions of democracy. It comes perilously near taxing the faith of this newspaper in equal suffrage. It comes blameworthy bringing the News to the point of wondering if political evolution isn't walking backward.

Jim Reed has brains. He has certain oratorical powers. He knows the political game. But he is a demagogue. And he is a vulgarian. And he is no sort of Democrat.

Heaps of folks were talking about this new, sane element in politics—the women. But the women of Missouri scarcely have acquired any sort of political consciousness, else they would not have voted to return to Congress a man who believes woman is only fit to bear babies and keep the house in order. "Back to the kitchen!" was Jim Reed's advice to the women when they began to appeal for equal suffrage with men.

men should have helped to reelect a sort of of political misogynist is not the only strange thing about this mugwump's victory. The Democrats of Missouri refused to send Reed to the last Democratic National Convention. That humiliating fact presumably would have put Reed on the defensive in this campaign. But did it? Not so you could tell it. He was vulgarly offensive straight through, hitting heads left and right, from the President on down.

The only explanation of the victory is that Democracy in Missouri is at a low stage of development. Maybe they are voting the mules up there in Democratic primaries.

To Members of the Sewing Circle.

Attention, ladies. The Republican Congress has voted a duty of from 74 1-2 per cent to 115 per cent on all woolen fabrics for dress goods. This tariff on woolen cloth valued at 80 cents a pound before its importation into this country will increase its cost to $1.60 a pound on its arrival on the American shore. In the case of a piece of dress goods valued (before importation) at 81 cents a pound the Republican tariff will raise the cost to $1.71 a pound.

Such dress goods are now paying, under the Democratic Underwood law, a duty of only 35 per cent ad valorem. That is to say the dress goods valued at 80 cents a pound now cost, with the duty added, $1.08 a pound and 81-cent goods a trifle more.

You are indebted to Senator David I. Walsh (Dem., Mass.) for these facts.

P. S. You will be comforted by the knowledge that the very expensive dress goods, for example those costing $2 a pound, will have to bear a duty of only 74 1-2 per cent under the Republican law. You may need the dress goods, but the Woolen Trust needs the money.

Peach Shipments are Large.

(Howell County Gazette.)

Several weeks ago when experts for the Frisco Railroad were counting peach trees and estimating the amount of the crop in the Koshkonong-Brandville district, it was given out that the peach crop would reach 200 cars. This has been found to be entirely too small and the crop will be nearly 300 cars. The trees are bearing a great deal more fruit than anyone ever dreamed they could have and the fruit is fine. Not as large as in former years, but solid and of fine color.

Assistant Superintendent C. T. Mason, of the Frisco Railroad, is at Koshkonong this week in personal charge of the peach shipments. Mr. Mason has orders to move the fruit at any cost, and in spite of the big railroad strike is rushing the peaches to market. Tuesday night a special train of 29 cars left the district for eastern markets. Every train is hauling peaches, even the regular passenger trains are hauling from three to six cars of fruit from Koshkonong, Brandville and Chapin.

Chapin has become an important shipping point, numerous new orchards in that vicinity just coming into bearing. It is believed that Chapin will ship 50 cars during the season. Koshkonong and Brandville are both sustaining their former reputation as important shipping points.

While pickers and packers from all the surrounding country are on the job in the orchards and packing sheds a large number of expert packers from the peach fields of Georgia are helping pack the South Missouri peaches. These experts came in a special car last week and lost no time in getting down to work.

As the railroad strike is getting more serious every day, the peach shippers are making stronger efforts to harvest the crop. It is believed the crop will be cleaned up at Koshkonong and Brandville this week. Night forces are being used in the packing sheds in order to get the fruit in the cars and pickers work in the orchards until they can no longer find the fruit on the trees in the darkness.

This year's peach crop is the most wonderful in recent years and under ordinary conditions would make a small fortune for each grower. The railroad strike has cut into the business, for growers are forced to ship at their own risk.

February.

February, the second month in the modern calendar, was not in the Roman year. In the reign of Numa two months were added, January at the beginning, and February at the end. This arrangement continued to 452 B. C., when it was assigned its present position in the calendar.

From Goodland.

Grandma Brooks is visiting her children at Brule and at Flat River.

Matt. Williams was called to Goodwater to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, Billy Jarvis, who was killed last Sunday by a run away team.

G. G. Adams is improving the appearance of his dwelling by the addition of a porch across the front.

N. W. Adams lately cut his second crop of clover. By a fall he dislocated one of his fingers, which is giving him trouble just now.

Botan Brooks and family lately spent a week with relatives in the Lead Belt.

Lewie Brooks is recovering from a severe and protracted attack of stomach trouble.

Mr. LaRue has some very fine peaches on his place. The trees are quite young and fine.

Mrs. G. G. Adams went to Doyle to see her nephew who is very ill with typhoid fever.

Mrs. F. M. Adams is having good luck with the last consignment of baby chicks. They are certainly fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lovell and niece of Marshall, Ill., motored to Goodland where they are visiting relatives. Mrs. L. was Gertie Brummet.

Mrs. Walsh has recovered from a severe spell of sickness.

Mrs. Scrum went to Ironton to visit her daughter, Mrs. Mayes. The wedding bells are ringing.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
