PAYS DEBT 21 YEARS OLD

GOVERNMENT OWED $1.35 FOR OVER SCORE OF YEARS.

Huge Sum Must Be Cut Three Ways, So No One Will Have Too Much Wealth.

ASTORIA, Ore., March 12.—"Uncle Sam may be a slow paymaster, but he's most always sure to cash in sometime," remarked ex-Senator Charles W. Fulton, as he added a check for $1.35 to his income tax slip. "The money'll come in handily even if it took 21 years for it to get here. But, on the other hand, I suppose it will have to be cut three ways, because 'Cy' Dolph and 'Tom' Strong are really entitled to 65 cents each."

The case was decided by the courts in January, 1892, just 21 years ago last month.

TO TEACH DIGNITY OF LABOR

Practical Miller Who Won Millions Would Have Young Men Shun Office Jobs.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 12.—William Hood Dunwoody, who accumulated a fortune of $5,000,000 in the manufacture of flour because he knew his business, has left $3,000,000 for the founding of an industrial school in this city, which will teach the dignity of labor.

Dunwoody's bequest was bequeathed about, he writes, because in later years he noticed that the young men seeking places in his and other mills always wanted office jobs. This tendency, Dunwoody thought, was a mistake and due chiefly to deficient education. He wants to do his part to make young men ambitious to master the technique of the business they enter.

He also left more than $2,000,000 to his widow and close friends, $1,000,000 for the Minnesota Afl Institute and $1,000,000 for the founding and upkeep of a home for convalescents.

Five Days for Speeding.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 12.—W. C. Barker, a millionaire clubman, pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding, expecting Judge Stevenson to assess a small fine. The judge sentenced him to five days on the city's rock pile.

MAKE MOST OF STEAK

Proper Cooking is Essential for Economy.

Some persons insist that beefsteak is cheap because it requires only a little heat to cook it and only a little time to prepare it. Moreover, it is appetizing and so is relished and eaten eagerly. A heavy stew, on the other hand—say these expensives of cheap beefsteak—costs little to begin with, if it is made from a cheap cut of meat. But it costs much in the heat required for long cooking and much in the housewife's time and energy in preparing and cooking it. If it is properly cooked it is, of course, appetizing. But it is easier to spoil a stew than a beefsteak in the cooking and so make it unappetizing and so unprofitable that little of it is eaten.

Whether we agree with the person who argues that beefsteak is cheap or the one who argues that it is expensive, we must all agree with the one who argues that there are expensive ways of using beefsteak and cheaper ways.

To begin with, the steak must be cooked to a turn. It should be at its best, be broiled. The degree of cooking must depend on the taste of the persons who are to eat it, but it should never be dried up in an effort to make it well done. If a well done steak is desired, it should be broiled over a fire hottest at the beginning of the cooking, and it should be frequently turned.

There is much so-called waste to steak—fat and gristle and bone. But all of this waste can be made useful. Hence a big steak is an economy for the leftovers will be enough to be worth working over.

The leftover bits of the tender steak can be put through a meat chopper and, if the steak is cooked rare, formed into little balls and browned quickly in bacon fat or butter and served for lunch. If the steak is not rare the chopped bits can be mixed with an equal quantity of rice, a little white sauce and plenty of seasoning and then formed into small croquettes, dipped in egg and crumbs and browned.

The bone and gristle should go into the soup pot. If there are other scraps of meat and bones they can all be combined. If there are no others the steak bone and gristle can be put in a pot with a sliced onion, two dried carrots, two stalks of celery sliced, half a can of tomatoes, half a cupful of rice and three pints of water. This should be simmered until all the flavor is extracted from the bone and the vegetables—about an hour and a half—and then strained for soup.

The tough ends of the steak can be trimmed and cut into dice and stewed tender with a little minced tomato or sliced green peppers and water. The stew should be slightly thickened when the meat is very tender.

OUR TOWN PULL TOGETHER

There is no room for doubt that the Cape with the united efforts of its enterprising citizens, can greatly increase its business and enhance the value of property. Everythine indicates a forward movement. The high standing of morality that exists is inducing many to look this way with a view of locating. Our excellent schools is a feature greatly appreciated by the best people of this section, and are proving attractive features. As a trading and shipping point, Cape Girardeau is ahead of any place in the county of this section of the country. No place in the county receives such great shipments of merchandise or livestock and grain. Our business houses are being transformed into beautiful blocks, and residences into modern dwellings and cottages.

Now, as many are thinking of coming here to locate, let all give words of encouragement and a hearty welcome to this goodly land of peace and abundance. Encourage those who are worthy whether they have capital or not. Labor is worth money. Those who have money will buy lots, build homes or remodel old ones. Let us work and stimulate every legitimate enterprise by giving it all the friendly encouragement we can, and unite our industry, intelligence and capital in a common cause for the good of the Cape. Let us cultivate a public spirit and talk less, and work more. Encourage our local authorities in making improvements.

Speak up, speak well, talk encouragingly of the bright prospects. These many little considerations make a town grow. Nature has showered upon us her choicest blessings and with perfect unity and effort for the good of our common cause, greater will be the results.

Knowledge of Business.

MRS. J. WARD BURIED HERE

Father and Motherless Little Ones Accompany Remains to Last Resting Place

FORMERLY LIVED HERE

Grieved Husband and Motherless Babies Present Touching and Pathetic Appearance

A most touching and pathetic occurrence was witnessed Tuesday night when the train from St. Louis brought a man by the name of J. Ward and a number of little children, accompanying the remains of Mrs. Ward, the wife and mother, who had been buried Wednesday afternoon at Williams cemetery near Jackson.

Mr. Ward's demeanor pictured a man deep for description and the motherless little ones presented a sight that would strike a cold shiver in the hardest heart.

The Wards have been living in St. Louis for about a year, having moved there from this place. Mrs. Ward has a sister, Mrs. Ward, living here, and other relatives in Jackson. Her death was due to an attack of appendicitis.

Rubber Corks.

In making holes in rubber corks much annoyance is caused by the punch making "tapping" holes and "running to the side." A little ammonia water poured on the rubber and the boring instrument causes the hole to become of uniform size at every point and the operation is accomplished with much more ease.

ARE YOU GOING TO WIN OUT IN THE CONTEST

ATTENTION.

Until further notice no contestant will be allowed to pull more than a sufficient number of votes to place their score five thousand votes ahead of the leader in the preceding issue. For instance if A has 5,000 votes today and the leader of the last issue (2,000 votes) A will be allowed to cast enough votes to make his score 17,000 in the next issue.

We want you to get in touch with success, send at once for literature to ask. That's our business in answering questions. Also ask for the list of subscribers in the towns, and on the rural routes.

Once again we say, when opportunity while it is knocking at your door. When you're pouring back and forth waiting regrets that you wasted precious moments will send you nothing. Now is the time to do your registering let the others regret after the count.

Don't neglect your opportunity. Work for this grand little farm and it will work for you the balance of your life.

Be Exact in Little Duties. Exactness in little duties is a wonderful source of cheerfulness.—Faber.

Extreme of Laziness. "Noodles is the laziest man I know. He has an invention fixed so that by merely pulling a wire in his hand he can light the fire, but that doesn't seem to improve matters." "Why not?" "He's too lazy to pull the wire."

His Large Audience. Joseph Parker of London, on one occasion was congratulated by a friend of ours on the fact that his sermons were very widely read. "Yes," said Dr. Parker, with a twinkle in his eye, "the front seats of my auditorium are in the Himalayas and the back seats in 'Rocky mountains!'"—The Christian Herald.
