American women living in the Transvaal have a club called the Martha Washington. Having set themselves the task of tracing the history of the white woman who have lived in that country, they found the site of the first mission of the American Board in the Transvaal and the grave of the wife of the missionary, who was the first white woman to die there. A bronze tablet will be placed by the club on the wall of the nearby railway station, in memory of this Mrs. Wilson, the station at Mata Bele having been founded in 1835.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Oliver Jr., entertained the Oliver-Williams bridal party at her home on North Pacific street, with a Cafeteria luncheon. It was a most attractive and original affair. All the young folks entered the dining room, each gentleman selected his partner, and were given trays containing the necessary silver to be used. The table was exquisitely decorated with jonquills, and after serving the first course, the couples then went into another room that had been cleared, and redecorated to represent a real cafeteria, with small tables for the guests and advertising signs hung throughout the room, to carry out the effect. Three courses were served, each time changing partners and the favors were pretty little Easter Bunnies. The lights in the "cafeteria" were covered with jonquill shades, which threw a soft glow over the room, giving the already attractive space a touch of the artistic ideas of the charming hostess. The guests of the evening were: Messrs. and Mesdames Allen Oliver, and Burette Oliver, Jr., Misses Helen Harris of Sedalia, Mo., Margaret Anderson of Columbia, Katherine Mize of Kansas City, Marguerite Oliver; Messrs. Palmer Oliver, Joe Williams of Jackson, Earl Williams of Charleston, James Watkins of St. Louis, Russell and Julian Dearmont.

The ladies of the Episcopal Church are very enthusiastic over the bazaar that will be held Thursday all day in the Dempsey building on Main street, one door south of Wielers Jewelry store. The main idea of the bazaar is decidedly original and the affair promises to be one of the most unique of its kind ever held in the Cape. There will be seven booths and each booth will represent a day in the week, and articles will be sold accordingly. Monday being wash-day, and Tuesday ironing-day, the things the housewife needs the most at this time, she will find to her satisfaction at these booths. The Wednesday booth as sewing and mending-day; Thursday will be reception day, and things to wear will be sold here, also tea will be served; Friday is cleaning day, and at this booth mostly aprons, dusters, etc., may be purchased; Saturday as baking day will find many good things to eat; and Sunday candies and sweets will be for sale. The ladies plan to have everything just as reasonable as possible so as to reach all purses, and have passed the Lenten season working hard to make it an assured success.

There is a great discussion going on in New York in regard to the "Two-dish leagues" that are being formed in France, the members pledging themselves to have but two dishes, or rather two courses, at the dinners of the future. These courses are to be perfect, and will, no doubt, tempt the appetite as much as more elaborate menus. Most of the hotel men are opposed to the idea.

Wilson Sibert of St. Louis was in the Cape Tuesday coming down to attend the funeral of W. H. Miller.

The St. Agnes and Christ Church Guilds met Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Robt. Matteson on Themis street, to make the final plans for the bazaar the ladies will have in the Dempsey building all day Thursday.

A number of Southeast Missouri Women are members of the Association. Miss Margaret Wilson is one of the patronesses.

The Oliver-Williams wedding which will take place Wednesday evening at 6:30 will be one of the largest events society has witnessed in some time. The Presbyterian Church where the ceremony will be performed, has been magnificently decorated by a St. Louis concern, over $500 worth of flowers being used to make this attractive place of worship a veritable fairyland.

It is rumored that the trousseau of this accomplished and attractive young bride to be, is one of the most complete and elaborate outfits, and one that would cause the envy of many a young lady, not quite so fortunate. Miss Williams is very reserved in her tastes, and though like most all girls loves pretty things, her wardrobe is exquisite, in its simplicity.

A formal dinner party was given at the home of Senator and Mrs. R. B. Oliver Tuesday evening in honor of the bridal party of the Oliver-Williams wedding. It was without a doubt one of the most exquisite and elaborate affairs of the year. The spacious dining and living rooms were opened into one large room and the table extended through both, the center piece of which was a magnificent design of American Beauties and smudax. At each end of the table was a large silver candelabra the lights from which, shining through the red shades sent a soft reflection, that made the table a most entrancing picture. Covers were laid for twenty-four, and promptly at 7:30 the young folks took their places. The artistic decorations of the rooms made a most fitting background for the dainty gowns worn by the charming bride-elect and her maids, and as one gentleman expressed himself "they all looked too pretty for words" was no doubt the sentiments of the other young men present. After the dinner Miss Williams and Mr. Oliver presented the bridal party with tokens of their friendship that were magnificent to say the least. The Maid-of-Honor was given a large silver picture frame, and the maids each received a pair of gold hat pins, and real lace wedding caps. The groom's gift to his best men was a handsome gold watch, and to the ushers solid gold pocket knives studded with diamonds. Dancing was then enjoyed the remainder of the evening. Those of the bridal party and family who were present were, Messrs. and Mesdames R. B. Oliver, Jr., Allen Oliver; Misses Irene Williams, Margaret Anderson, Katherine Mize, Helen Harris, Helen Ross, Marguerite Oliver, Bob Lindsay; Messrs. H. R. Williams, Earl Williams, Joe Williams, Palmer Oliver, George Jordan, James A. Watkins, Jr., Arthur Swacker, John Lilly, Julian Dearmont, Russell Dearmont, Byrd Oliver.

A more perfect day could not have been asked for than when the bright and sunny skies that greeted the early church-goers Sunday morning. After the cold and rain of Saturday it was readily appreciated, judging from the number of handsomely gowned women and elegantly tailored men, who were seen on the streets Sunday afternoon, and the many autos carrying dainty burdens attired in the most up-to-date fashions with bonnets laden with flowers of the brightest hue, giving an ideal expression of a Spring day.

The various churches were crowded with worshippers, paying homage to the Risen Christ, and the services and music will well be remembered by those who attended. The services of St. Vincent's Church were beautiful and impressive. Father McWilliams said Mass assisted by Father O'Brien and Father Coupal, and the responses were made by the College Boys Choir. The Church Choir rendered a magnificent programme, Miss Frieda Rieck playin the violin obligato, which was highly enjoyed, as most everyone knows of Miss Rieck's ability as a violinist. The soloists were Mrs. Stout, Mrs. Leyhe, Misses Genevieve Hoch, Schwepker, Albert Harness and Joe Vaeth. Father Levain's sermon on the meaning of Easter and the message it conveys to the Christian world, was sufficient to convict the most hardened of sinners that in the Death and Resurrection of the Saviour, his most terrible sacrifice on the cross was meant for everyone, and no matter how far they have strayed away from the Fold, the Risen Christ is ever ready to welcome their return.

The services at Christ's Episcopal Church were also very impressive. The church was beautifully decorated with smilax and ferns, and the altar was banked high with lilies and potted plants, making a fitting display on this memorable day. The choir vested in white, sang the programme, and Miss Ringold, who has an excellent voice sang "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears." Rev. Clepton's sermon on "The Deathless Christ" left an impression of peace and comfort to those who were fortunate in being present at this Easter service.

The large class which was confirmed at the Lutheran Church on Palm Sunday received Communion for the first time on Easter Sunday at the 10 o'clock services, making it a very opportune time in which to celebrate this service. The morning sermon "The Easter Message" was delivered in German, and the evening sermon "The Resurrection of Jesus Christ, A Reality" was in English. Rev. Wilder is a most eloquent speaker, and his sermons are always a source of great interest to the congregation. Monday's services were conducted by the Rev. A. Bernthal, of Hanover Church.
