Many Addresses Will Be Made And Songs Will Be Sung—Caddets To Take Part

One of the last letters received in Cape Girardeau from Lieut. Louis Juden was written to his uncle, Charles G. Juden, and it told of the American invasion of French territory held by the Germans for four years. A similar letter was also written to Mrs. Klotschmann, Lieut. Juden's grandmother.

In these letters Lieut. Juden told of entering a long tunnel in which was a huge rooming vat, where the Germans cooked bodies of dead soldiers to get the fat. A number of bodies had been chopped to bits, Lieut. Juden wrote, but before they were placed in the vat, the allied forces compelled them to vacate the building.

The War Department has not officially confirmed the death of Lieut. Juden. Captain A. M. Tinsley of the 142nd Infantry, who was a friend of Lieut. Juden, sent a message to relatives here a few days ago, stating that Lieut. Juden died in France on October 26 and that a cablegram was received from his father, William M. Juden in Oklahoma City. Mr. Juden, however, says that the only information he received concerning his son's death was sent to him by the nurse who attended him during his few days at the hospital.

The letters written to Mrs. Klotschmann by Lieut. Juden and the nurse, follow:

Dear Mother:
Am writing this letter to write and let you know I am still alive. Have been pretty sick but am going to be back home before long. I am in a fine hospital and am getting along all right now.

Love,
Louis.

Dear Mrs. Klotschmann:
The enclosed note I wrote yesterday for your grand son St. Louis Juden, is really very true. He did not know of the time when I was ill, but he was sure that I would not live long.

An very glad to tell you he passed away the night of the 26th of October.

He was, indeed, a most wonderful soldier and died very much as a soldier. I hope you will be able to see him some day and give me a word from all around here.

This has been our first loss of an American soldier at our hospital, and you may be assured of the deep and tender sympathy of our unit.

We had him away today in a beautiful spot beside row upon row of the brave soldiers who have given their lives for their country.

I enclose a little picture of the beautiful cemetery in our little town in Normandy, and may it be a comfort to you to know that one of the little wooden crosses can be the resting place of your grandson.

I was so glad to have been with your grandson and do for him the few days he was with us, he was so good and patient, and was able to help and comfort one of our brave Americans. He told me how much you were to him, and that you were more than a mother to him.

Nothing was given of the deep sympathy of our unit.

Alice G. Field.

Churches To Hold Solemn Services In Keeping With The Occasion

Patriotic Meet At High School At 3

Many Addresses Will Be Made And Songs Will Be Sung—Caddets To Take Part

Thanksgiving will be appropriately celebrated in the Cape today, in the homes as well as the churches. All of the churches will hold special services of Thanksgiving.

St. Vincent's Catholic church will celebrate a solemn mass at 9 o'clock this morning. The sermon, which will be religious and yet patriotic, will be delivered by Rev. Father Thomas F. Loxan, president of St. Vincent's College.

Rev. Raman of the Presbyterian church, will deliver a Thanksgiving sermon at 10 o'clock this morning. A special musical program has been arranged as a part of the services.

The Centenary Methodist church will hold its Thanksgiving services this evening at 7 o'clock, when Rev. Halberstadt, the pastor, will preach a sermon fitting the occasion.

Rev. J. J. Clayton, pastor of the Episcopal church, will preach at 10:30 this morning. A special program has been arranged.

From three to four o'clock this afternoon a Community sing will be held at the auditorium at the Central High School. The S. A. T. C. cadets will leave their barracks at 2:30 p. m. and march down town and thence to the High School, reaching their destination at 3 o'clock.

The services at the school will consist of songs by the audience interspersed with five minute speeches by prominent citizens.

Meetings will be held throughout the U. S. and in many parts of Europe to-day. It has been arranged that at 7 o'clock in Paris, Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president of the United States, will sing the Star Spangled Banner. At a corresponding hour in the United States the National anthem will be sung in virtually every city. Dr. W. S. Dearmont, chairman of the Council of National Defense, will preside.

MRS. GARRETT GLENN IS SERIOUSLY SICK

Birth Of Son Is Followed By Critical Attack—Crisis Not Yet Passed

Mrs. Garrett Glenn, one of the best known Cape Girardeau society women, is critically ill at her home in St. Louis. For several days her condition was so grave that it was feared she would not survive. Her condition was reported somewhat improved yesterday, but still serious. Mr. and Mrs. David A. Glenn, brother-in-law of Mrs. Garrett, Glenn, have been in a very constant communication with the home of their son since she became ill.

A son was born to Mrs. Glenn last week, but it did not live. Since then her condition has been precarious. Last Sunday and Monday it was not believed she would survive the day. She will not reach the crisis in her illness for several days, it was reported yesterday, but the attending physicians are hopeful.

Mrs. Glenn is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Albert, brother of H. L. Albert. She is a native of Cape Girardeau, and one of the most popular of society's young set. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn moved to St. Louis some months ago, when he became connected with one of the large wholesale houses there.

M. J. KOECK BUYS A FAMOUS BULL

Jersey Male Will Reach Cape From Pennsylvania Farm This Week

Mar. J. Koeck has purchased a famous Jersey bull, a great grandson of Golden Fern's Lad, one of the most famous bulls in the United States. Mr. Koeck bought a Jersey bull this week from Lincoln Grove farm, at Cooperburg, Penn. It was sold by T. S. Cooper & Sons, who are the largest importers of Jerseys in the United States.

The bull was bought by Mr. Koeck to be used in breeding up a herd of thoroughbreds. He recently bought three registered heifers from the University herd at Columbia, Mo. Mr. Koeck expects to launch into the registered cattle breeding business as soon as he can find a suitable farm.

Nameless Premier is yet but a youth. He was dropped last February, but he enjoys a family tree that will attract attention from those interested in Jersey cattle. The father of the bull is Combination Premier, who has produced many noted daughters. One of a herd of 19, owned by the Coopers, produced 900 pounds of butter in one year; another 680 pounds, and seventeen others that averaged above 350 pounds at two years of age.

Blue Bell's Nameless, the bull's mother, was a grand daughter of Golden Fern's Lad. At two years old she produced 412 pounds of butter in one year. Three uncles of Mr. Koeck's bull sold for $27,500. They were: Flying Fox, Eminent Second and Sensational Fern. The latter sold for $10,800.

The bull is expected to reach Cape Girardeau from Pennsylvania this week. He will spend the winter in quarters prepared for him at the brewery stable, on South Middle St.

Wireless From O. Wilson Puts Capital On The Map

Anxious To Show Congressmen Hays The Sights In Washington And Would Become His Secretary If Properly Approached

(By Wireless.) Somewhere in Washington, Nov. 27.

Friends: I expect you have heard by this time the report that Secretary McAdoo has resigned his job here. Well, it's a fact, and I am trying to slip into one of them. I would like to accept the whole push, but if I can't get 'em all, I'll have Cousin Woodrow give me the best one. (He thinks I'm his cousin, but I ain't!)

I got it pretty straight that Edw. Hays was elected to Congress. Well, that don't come exactly as a surprise to me. I always figured Ed had a bright future. I wonder if he's appointed his secretary yet? I am on the ways up here in Washington now and would be able to wisc up a green Congressman. You know it takes a year or two residence here before you are able to look and act like you ain't just visiting.

I expect Dick Frissell will be around in a day or so to get me to show him the sights.

Me and Tom Lane are pretty close to the administration. My name gets me by. Everybody thinks I am kin to the president, and as long as he don't put them wise, mum's the word for me. I and Woodrow are the same height, about the same figure and both have strong features of the Wilson family.

Well, I guess you heard that Germany is all in and the Kaiser and his oldest boy flew the coop. As soon as I can get the number of his boarding house, I'll send the Kaiser my card and let him know that I backed up Cousin Woodrow with the best I had and without claiming more than my share of the credit. I know the people back home no see a day or more pep in the affairs of state after I reach the capital.

I have been wondering who gets my job as justice of the peace down here in the Cape. I always liked that position, but it seems that jealousy in the profession of which I happened to be a member, made conditions there so unpleasant that I was compelled to seek larger and more liberal fields. So here I am.

The signing of the prohibition bill by the president no doubt created havoc among some of my constituents in the Cape. Friends, who used to gas with me just around the corner, will no doubt be found in cellar after the first of next July. Friends, I hope none of you held me responsible for the unjust curtailment of our personal liberties, but I am as blameless as a new born babe. It was a staggering blow, and one, I knew full well, came as a shock to many who always supported me, but I trust you will not lose heart and go to the gutter by the hail route. Remember, friends, what hard luck befell the Kaiser and Mr. Folk.

It is tough, of course, but we must bear up under the load and not Bol-skeve it.

Oh, boy! I suppose you all heard that loud noise a few days ago. It was me filling an affidavit in the police court.

Well, if any of you want to get in touch with the administration, write me at the white house or general delivery.

Yours for good business,
O. Wilson.

POULTRY SHOW HAS BEEN POSTPONED

A Ban On Shipment Of Exhibit Poultry Delays Exhibit Until January

The Cape Girardeau Poultry Show, which was scheduled to be held next month has been postponed until January 8-11.

Owing to the exceptionally heavy shipments of freight and express during the month of December the railroad administration has placed an embargo on the shipment of poultry for exhibit purposes.

As many of the birds that will exhibit at the show here, will be shipped in from other points, the embargo forced the local poultry men to postpone the exhibit. The change in dates also necessitated a new judgment. Members of the Cape Girardeau county organization have written to Mr. H. W. Johnson of St. Louis, a leading poultry breeder and judge. He has expressed a willingness to attend the local exhibit and award the prizes.

The announcement some time ago that the poultry show would be held in Cape Girardeau brought requests from many breeders for exhibit space. It is believed that the show will be large and that it will be made an annual event.

William Hubel, one of the promoters of the organization, said last night that the officers of the association expected many birds to be sent here for the contest. A long list of prizes will be awarded. In this county are a number of aristocratic poultry breeders and among them are many who have captured numerous prizes at state shows.

C. A. VANDIVORT MAY HEAD COMM'L. CLUB

Live Wire Needed To Arouse Interest Now That The War Is At An End

Clyde A. Vandivort, one of the popular and aggressive business men of this city, is said to be slated for president of the Commercial Club to succeed Charles L. Harrison. Friends of Mr. Vandivort plan to nominate and elect him without his knowledge

KAISER AND HIS ADVISERS MAY BE PLACED ON TRIAL

England, France And The United States Said To Be In Favor Of Prosecuting German Leaders For Murder

KAISER HAS BEEN INDICTED THREE TIMES IN LONDON, IT IS ANNOUNCED

First Transport Of American Soldiers In France Starts For The United States---Passengers Are Veterans

Washington, November 27.—The attempt to be made to extradite the former Kaiser from Holland, it is understood has the official approval of Washington. Diplomatic representatives of England, United States and France conferred in Paris regarding the attempt to place the former emperor on trial for his life. It is understood that others who were closely identified with William Hohenzollern during the last four years will also be extradited from their present places of abode and will be taken to England, where they will be compelled to stand trial.

Holland, it is understood, will make no attempt to protect the Kaiser if it do so place her national standing in jeopardy.

NEW HAMBURG HAS EPIDEMIC OF FLU

Father Moening Telephones That Most Of The Inhabitants Are Ill

An epidemic of influenza has moved on New Hamburg, in Scott county, and almost one-half of the population of the town is in bed. Father Moening notified friends over the telephone here yesterday that he had closed the Catholic schools and there would be no services until the epidemic abated.

"I am one of the few not sick with the flu," was the way Father Moening described the spread of disease. It is housekeeping one of the popular young women in that parish, is confined to her bed, and it was reported late yesterday that several sisters in the parochial school were ill, but this information was not furnished by Father Moening.

Unless the disease is placed under control, it is expected that the exhibition of Guernsey cattle, which is scheduled to be held at New Hamburg on December 3, will likely be postponed. Farmers in that community recently purchased a herd of more than 70 thoroughbred Guernsey cattle, and it was planned to hold a public exhibition on December 3, when farmers from adjacent counties would be invited to inspect them.

London, Nov. 26.—It is understood that the question of the extradition of the former German emperor is being considered by British law officers of the crown, who are working in close cooperation with the French authorities. Action in the premises was taken immediately after the flight of the former emperor to Holland.

The Evening News says it understands the law officers have concluded that the allies are entitled to demand the extradition of the former emperor, that his decision applies also to individuals who have committed or given instructions for the commission of extraditable crimes. It is added that Holland takes the view that she has not the power to surrender such persons without the consent of Germany.

The French Premier, M. Clemenceau, recently requested of Charles Lion-Caen, dean of the faculty of law of the University of Paris, an opinion on the possibility of the extradition of William Hohenzollern. M. Lion-Caen asked to be given time to prepare a decision.

One of the leading French authorities on international law, Edouard Clunet, is reported to have advanced the opinion that it was impossible to demand the one-time emperor's extradition.

The former emperor has been indicted three times for murder in England in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania, German aerial raid, and the shelling by warships of unfortified coast towns.

American Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 27.—The 76th division of the American army, reduced by replacement drafts to 61 officers and 1,000 men, has arrived at the port of St. Nazaire and embarking for home.

The 27th division, totaling 484 officers and 12,681 men, and the 39th division, totaling 488 officers and 12,000 men, both of which operated on the British front, have been withdrawn from the La Mans area and probably will embark in a few days.

The 27th is a National Guard division largely composed of New York troops. The division took part with the British in the heavy fighting during the late weeks of the campaign, resulting in the breaking of the Hindenburg line south of Cambria, and also on Belgian soil.

The 39th division, known as the Wild Cat division, is made up of troops from Tennessee, and North and South Carolinas.

NAVY DEATHS FROM CAUSES TOTAL 1,233

Washington, D. C., November 27.—Deaths in the navy from war causes totaled 1,233. Surgeon General Brockstedt today told the House Naval Committee, which is framing the 1920 naval appropriation bill. No causes were given as to deaths from disease. The bodies of practically all navy men dying in foreign service, the Surgeon General said, have been returned home.

The Surgeon General said there were 15,000 patients in the navy hospital. Appropriations for the navy medical department amounting to $15,000,000, asked for under plans for continuing the war, were reduced to $9,200,000 by the Surgeon General.

OR HIS CONSENT

His general popularity would arouse new interest in the club. He is always active in movements for the general welfare of the city, and his election as president of the Commercial club would undoubtedly bring beneficial results.

Now that the war is over, Cape Girardeau will renew its normal state and will wage a campaign for new industries. To accomplish results it is conceded that some one with progressive ideas must be placed at the helm.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 27.—Army transportation officials said today that the steamers Minnekabba, Lapland and Orta, which are bringing home 7,000 American soldiers from England will arrive at New York about December 2.
