

Union; North or South; slaveholding, or non-slaveholding; no bill that strikes at the equality of the States of this confederacy.

This very Territory was acquired by purchase; the money of the free and the slave States was alike expended in its purchase.—The money of the slaveholder, and the non-slaveholder was alike demanded and expended in its acquisition.

Let me ask, is there any one of this large assembly who is so unjust, so illiberal as to desire his neighbor to be excluded from going into, and settling this Territory, and taking with him, his wife and children, his man servants and maid servants, and all that he has? If there be one such, may the Lord have mercy on his soul!

Yes, fellow citizens, I will say nothing about the power of Congress over this question, although I do not believe that Congress has power to make such discrimination. But this is a veiled question about which wise Statesmen and true patriots differ, but I plant myself upon the external principles of justice and equality as understood between man and man—the South, the slaveholder and the non-slaveholder have alike advanced and expended their money. They have alike shed their blood for the acquisition of Territory, and justice says let them alike enjoy it. Am I not right in this position? is there a man among you, who will arise from his seat, and say that I am wrong? I pause for an answer.—Then we'll agree in this.

At the last session of Congress, an appropriation was made to enable the President to negotiate treaties with the Indians, for the purpose of obtaining their consent to an organization of a Government, and to purchase their lands for settlement by white men. This was the object of the appropriation, and I voted for it; and I doubt not but that the object of the appropriation will be carried out by the President before the meeting of the next Congress. If so, then I will vote for and use all the influence I have, in favor of a bill to organize a Government, and to promote its settlement, upon the principles I have indicated.

I know that the red race is doomed to extinction. They will be absorbed and taken up or extinguished; and it will not be long before, it will be difficult to trace one drop of their blood running in the veins of any human being. It is a decree of God; one of his eternal purposes, made according to the counsel of his own will. I have no Indian tears to shed, or "dry up."

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 4.—Interments last 24 hours 116; of fever 95. There is much fever along the river. At Thiboudeville the stores are closed, and the town is abandoned. At Mobile the interments to-day were 43, of which 33 were of fever.

A RAILROAD HOTEL.—"Miami," the Paris correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, gives the following item: "If we are in advance of all the world in sea yachts, the French have beaten us in the article of railroad yachts. A rich capitalist, Monsieur, the Count of L—, has invented and superintended the construction of a railroad hotel, for his own private use, with which he intends to travel with his family over all the railroads of France. It is a complete house, with all its dependence, principal and accessory. There is a parlor, bed-rooms with beds, billiard room, kitchen, office, a cellar, which will hold a good store of wine, ice-house, etc. in one word, all the elegance and the comfort, the useful and the agreeable, of a dwelling the most complete and the most rich. It is very long, and like all French cars, very wide. It is made so that it can be transferred from one set of wheels to another, though that seems of no importance, since the roads of France are all, I believe, of the same wide gauge. This traveling hotel has cost its proprietor about 50,000 francs, and is at this moment attracting great attention at the depot of the Orleans railway.

FIELD'S SCRAP BOOK—New Edition.
Literary and Miscellaneous Scrap Book.
CONSISTING of Tales and Anecdotes—Biographical, Historical, Patriotic, Moral, Religious, and Sentimental Pieces, in Prose and Poetry. Compiled by William Fields. Second edition, revised and improved.

The Footpath and Highway; or, WANDERINGS of an American in Great Britain, in 1851 and '52. By Benjamin Morgan. This volume embodies the observations of the author, made during eight months wanderings, as a correspondent for American Journals; and as he traveled much on foot, differs essentially from those on the same countries, by other writers.

New Themes for the Protestant Clergy;
CREEDS without Charity, Theology without Humanity, and Protestantism without Christianity; with Notes by the Editor on the Literature of Charity, Population, Pauperism, Political Economy, and Protestantism. The great question which the book discusses is, whether the Church of this age is what the primitive Church was, and whether Christians—both pastors and people—are doing their duty. Our author believes not, and, to our mind, he has made out a strong case. He thinks there is abundant room for reform at the present time, and that it is needed almost as much as in the days of Luther.

Barber's Shop.
PETER JOHNSON,
RESPECTFULLY offers his services to the public. He keeps the best quality of razors, and keeps them sharp. He will always pay strict attention to cleanliness and neatness. He cuts and dresses hair in a style that never fails to please his customers. As a knight of the scissors and razor he yields to none in Hannibal. His charges are reasonably low. As he intends to continue fitting up and improving his establishment, as fast as his means will allow, he hopes to have the patronage of the citizens of Hannibal whose well known chief characteristic of energy, leads them to desire to see everything on the progressive march. Recollect it is the shop nearest to Hickman's Stove Store. It is on the west side of Main street, two doors north of Bird street.

THE INTRODUCTION OF FILLEY'S STOVES

Into Northern Missouri, to any extent, has been in the last three years; since which time they have been gradually increasing the manufacture and sale of them; and although, owing to their being light and smooth, and something new, some little difficulty attended the sale and use at first, yet by always making Stoves and Castings of the best quality of Scotch Pig and Missouri Mountain Iron, they have proved to withstand fire better than any other Casting made in the western country. The furnace castings and hollow-ware particularly, have been superseded by it, wherever it has been brought into use, and always given satisfaction. Having lived here a number of years, and being permanently located here, purchasers can rely on our guarantee as to the quality of the article sold by us; and as to the operation of our celebrated Prize-Premium Cook Stove, just read the certificates of those who have used them, and are using them now. And another advantage a purchaser will have in buying a St. Louis stove of us, he would not only be getting a stove made of the best material in the world, but he can at any time get an odd piece or plate without any charge, by letting us know that such is wanted, as all our stoves are warranted, and, in case of imperfection, the article will be promptly made good to the purchaser, which he will not find the case with Cincinnati, Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Eastern made Stoves, as you cannot get any odd Pieces. Even if they were warranted, it would be impossible to get odd plates from such a distance.

We, the undersigned, having used the St. Louis Stoves manufactured by G. F. Filley, of St. Louis, and sold by CARTER W. BRYAN, at Hannibal, Mo., take pleasure in recommending them to the public as superior in point of draft, durability, economy, convenience and ease of regulation, to any stove which we have ever used:

NEW COOK STOVES!!
Persons wishing to buy stoves, should give us a call, and examine our new patterns of

This stove possesses advantages over common stoves, in thickness of the plate, and improvements in draft.

This stove was patented September, 1852, and wherever they have been used, have given general satisfaction. This stove weighs some forty pounds more to the number than any other stove ever brought to this city. The plates in them are from one-half to three-fourths of an inch in thickness. No. 1 weighs over 200 pounds. We warrant them all against fires. These stoves have a Patent Hot Air Flue, which carries the heat that is generated under the fire-plate down the front part of the stove, between two thick plates to the draft at the bottom of the stove.
