A Camping Party.

A crowd of about 35 persons have been enjoying a camping party at R. N. Nelson's farm four miles down the river. Most of the crowd went down Tuesday morning on the Crescent while the remainder drove down in vehicles. When the provisions, bed clothing and other articles had been gathered at the boat house it appeared as though many hundred persons were arranging to go and remain for a longer time.

Some of the crowd who came up Wednesday morning for more provisions reported that all were having a lively time and enjoying every moment.

The chaperones of the crowd are Mesdames James Bates and Mildred Bowles. The young people are: Misses Mabel Farmer, Mary Sue Farmer, Hattie Bates, Clara Koch, Clara Radenz, Minnie Marks, Zula Edwards, Edda Simpson, Sarah E. Crouch, Helen Herrick, Eula Bowles, May Belle Bowles, Gladys Hagood, Susie Nelson, and Lovie Nelson, of LaGrange and Misses Elizabeth Arnold and Mildred Scott of Monroe City, Sadie Loomis and Caroline Hardy of St. Louis, and Susie Gertrude Stone of Portage, Wis. Messrs. William Ellery, Leslie Edwards, Ray Edwards, Charles Marks, Addison Fretwell, Harold Herrick, Francis Baker, A. H. Cauthorne, J. H. Nolen, William Westhoff, Willard Censor, David Robinson and Ellery Farmer.—LaGrange Indicator.

Who Established Peonage?

(From the Worcester, Mass., Evening Post.)

The Atlanta Constitution, in commenting on the Alabama system of peonage, for which 99 indictments have lately been returned in that state, respectfully points out that it was a federal commander, Brigadier General Ruger, who when made provisional governor of Georgia by General Meade, entered into a contract whereby some negro convicts were let out to a concern for so much per man. The Constitution does not say that in a spirit of sectional bitterness but thinks that General Ruger did the best he could with accumulating convicts. The northern fire eaters who are so loud in their denunciation of every southern, will have to sing a little lower if the fact be established that the system was started by a northerner.

EIGHTEEN SIXTY-FIVE

Was Thought To Be The Top-Notch of Piracy, But,

Immediately after the cruel war of the rebellion, in speaking of the tariff, President Abraham Lincoln said:

"Yes, we may all congratulate ourselves that this cruel war is nearing its close. It has cost a vast amount of treasure and blood. It has, indeed, been trying hour for the republic. But I see a crisis approaching which unnerves me and causes me to tremble for the safety of my country. As a result of the war, corporations have been enthroned an era of corruption will follow in high places, and the money power will seek to prolong its reign by working on the prejudice of the people until all wealth is aggregated in the hands of a few and the republic is destroyed. I feel at this moment more anxiety for the safety of my country than ever before, even in the midst of war."

But that astute statesman and politicians did not know or realized the greed aroused in his party—Republican—by the war and war measures that fed the government with war funds and the protected infants with a power destined to be greater than his party, destined to legally fleece the American people, whom his great heart loved. Destined to finally be the undoing of that party, destined to create a plutocracy so strong that it has become the dictator of the Republican party.

James G. Blaine plead with his party to trim its sails and "cast an anchor to the windward" but it laughed him to scorn and for that reason used: "Run Romanism and Rebellion" to remove him from power.

Then McKinley—Dingleyism forged to the front and without the excuse of war, sent the tariff rates sky high, higher than Lincoln dreamed of in 63 and 64, but before Mr. McKinley's death, he, even he, saw the terrible trend of the evil and the terrible end if the pace was kept up and caused him to say: "My tariff bill has done its work. We have been able to build up many industries in a short time, and now gradually, but inevitably, our tariff must be reduced."

President Roosevelt has made a grand stand play at reduction but was promptly called down by the infants that have waxed bold and stronger than the Republican party, its creature has become its master.

Smith Byrd, an old Quincy boy, who for the past year and a half, has been connected with the Santa Fe railway at San Francisco, has been advanced to the lucrative position of baggagemaster at Richmond, Cal., one of the suburbs of 'Frisco. In his advancement it has been the reward of faithful service to the company, and strict attention to business.—Quincy Herald. Smith Byrd is a grandson of Uncle Ham Byrd and is well known in this city where he spent many of his boyhood days. In fact if memory serves us right it was Smith that fell heir to the Tom Boulevard strong pony. Norm Eakle said it was so strong and active that it could heave itself over a straw-rick.

Japanese Streets.

In Japan houses are not numbered according to their sequence but according to the order of their erection, says the Pittsburg Gazette. That is to say: No. 73 may adjoin No. 1, with No. 102 on the opposite side. No. 2 is probably a mile down the street. The city of Tokio is made up of 1330 streets in which are 318,320 houses. These houses are divided up into 15 wards. If a street passes through more than one ward the houses are numbered according to the wards in which they are; that is, a street passing through six wards will possess six number ones. It would be like hunting for a needle in a haystack for a stranger to try to find a street in Tokio, but a jinriksha driver knows the position and number of almost every one of the houses in Tokio. He has made his business a life study.
