WOMEN'S STATUS IN DOUBT IN MISSOURI

A State Law Says They May Only Vote for Presidential Electors.

Kansas City, Mo., August 19.—Tennessee's ratification of the Susan B. Anthony constitutional amendment did not clarify Missouri's complex suffrage situation. The status of the women voters in the state still seems to be in doubt, because the legislature last year enacted a law confining women's voting rights to presidenial electors.

Unless Governor Gardner calls a special session of the legislature to enact new laws giving the women of the state full suffrage, the part of the voters in the coming election may be somewhat confusing, John E. Wilson, Republican election commissioner, believes.

"There is considerable diffetence of opinion on the subject, Mr. Wilson said. "Many believe another law is necessary if the women are to vote for county and state candidates as well as presidential electors. And some believe the ratification of the federal amendment will nullify the state laws conflicting with the spirit of the amendment."

R. E. O'Malley, Democratic election commissioner, said it was his opinion a special session of the legislature is necessary if the women are to vote legally in Missouri. Under the law, Mr. O'Malley said, the election officials are not empowered to permit women to vote for state and county officers.

Governor Gardner is in California on a vacation, but it is understood the governor has received legal opinions stating a special session is not necessary, as he announced recently he did not believe he would call the proposed special session.

An opinion from the attorney general stating the federal amendment in effect nullifies the Missouri law would clear the way for complete suffrage for the women, M. E. Casey, state senator, said. Senator Casey said something must be done if the election machinery of the state is to be prepared for the increased vote.

Another question of importance that must be settled, according to the election commissioners, is whether women now may serve as election officials. It is believed they cannot legally serve unless complete suffrage is granted. Under the law special ballots for presidential electors only were to be prepared for the new voters.

G. O. P. Preparing 'Substitute' for League of Nations.

Marion, O., Aug. 21.—The Republican substitute for the League of Nations, based on the general idea of an "association of nations," soon will be announced, and will be injected into the campaign as one of its main issues.

That is confirmed by Sen. Warren G. Harding, Republican candidate. The plan waits for the return from Europe of Elihu Root.

The Root plan roughly is said to be for the creation of an international court similar to The Hague tribunal for the adjustment of differences between nations by mediation, and in which the United States would be a party. This "association of nations" would be a body without legislative or executive authority, it is understood, and would not call for a sending of armed forces to settle international disputes.

The Republican nominee strongly favors the United States becoming a member of the international court of adjustments.

Senator Harding again has stated that, if elected, he will advocate the making of a separate peace with Germany as soon as possible.

County in Texas Least Population in U. S.

Washington, August 18.—Census of the least populous county in the country, Cochrane, Tex., was announced today by the Census Bureau. It has just sixty-seven people. That is two more than enumerated ten years ago, making its growth slightly more than 3 per cent.

Cook County, Illinois, including the City of Chicago, probably is the most populous county in the country. Its population has not yet been announced, but is expected to exceed 2,500,000.

Cochrane is not the smallest county in the United States, as it has an area of 869 square miles. Its density of population, therefore, is one person to approximately every thirteen square miles. The county is located in Northwestern Texas, adjoining the New Mexican border. It is unorganized and hasn't even a post office.

William Adamson, Labor member of the British Parliament, and Harry Gosling, leader of the English transport workers, repreaemlng the British council of action of the triple alliance of labor, have been requested to leave France, failing which they will be expelled.
