Bates County Enters the Better Bull Contest.

The Live Stock Breeders of Bates County officially entered the Better Bulls Contest, in a called meeting last Saturday, Jan. 14th, and expect to get a share of the $1000.00 prize offered by the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, to the four counties replacing the largest number of scrub or grade bulls with pure bred bulls. This project is being pushed and handled by the College of Agriculture, University of Missouri, and will be able to aid us with the project in Bates county. A committee representing all sections of the county will soon be selected by President C. E. Robbins, and definite work will soon be started. Any man in Bates county who knows of a replacement within the county since Jan. 1, 1922, or hears of any during the year is urged to report name to Col. Robbins, the president, or County Agent Drymon, giving the name and address of the man doing the buying, the disposition of the scrub or grade, the name and number of the pure bred replacing the scrub. Franked envelopes requiring no stamps will be given out for reporting these to any one who will report replacements.

Also the Live Stock Breeders held their annual election of officers and elected the following: C. E. Robbins, of Butler, Pres.; W. A. Baker, of Butler, vice-president; County Agent Drymon, secretary and treasurer, and the following were elected chairmen of the different kinds of live stock: Robt. F. Allen, beef cattle; John L. Garrison, Rich Hill, dairy cattle; Wm. Frazier, Adrian, horses; W. A. Baker, Butler, jacks; D. E. Blakeman, Butler, Poland China hogs; Walter Hollingsworth, Butler, Duroc Jersey hogs; J. D. Critchfield, Adrian, sheep; J. C. Crosswhite, Rich Hill, poultry.

We are sorry to report that only 31 live stock breeders were present, out of about 100 in Bates county. So we would ask that those who were not there to watch the papers for further notices and help the Breeders' Association in any way they can.

Boys' and Girls' Pig Club at Hume

Last Thursday night, at a meeting of the Community Club at Hume, the members asked about a Boys' and Girls' Pig Club there, and voted to have one. A committee of 6 men was appointed by Chairman Robert E. Lyle, to represent the three breeds of hogs there as follows: For Poland Chinas, Ed Sheehy and J. C. Briggs; for Duroc Jerseys, Ed Fitzgerald and Guy Scott; and for Chester Whites, R. A. Thompson and Robt. E. Lyle. These men are also to look after the boys handling their respective breed of hogs.

This committee reported Monday that they had plenty of boys for the club and that it was going good. This makes a total of over one hundred boys and girls in Bates County in Pig Club work.

There were 224 fatal accidents in Jackson county during the year 1921.

A Livestock Shortage.

While the meat storage reports are conclusive proof of the shortage of meat animals that exists at this time the reports as to the movements of live stock to markets are confirmation of conclusive evidence.

A shortage of meats in storage is always preceded by a lessened movement of meat animals to market. The fact that there was approximately only 500,000,000 pounds of meats, including lard, in storage on December 1, 1921, indicates that the meat supplies of the country have been diminished tremendously.

Reports on the movement of live stock to market during the month of November, 1921, as set forth in the Telegram recently, is even more startling in its significance than the storage reports, for the reason that they indicate decreases in the supplies of meat animals on the farm, and when the source and origin of production are affected the finished meat supply can not but dwindle.

Forced liquidation, losses in production, when production costs have not been made, have been the factors in curtailing the meat supplies of the country. Increased runs of calves to market at this time will further tend to lessen the meat supply 12 months hence. The tendency to market calves is brought about through the force of economic pressure, as the profit that can be taken from marketing a calf is assured, while his feeding to good beef, over a period of a year carries with it a
