

THE CITIZEN

JANTON, MISS. SATURDAY, APRIL 17, 1880.

H. C. BEWORTH, EDITOR

OUR CHOICE

FOR CONGRESSMAN, SIXTH DIST., HON. O. R. SINGLETON, Of Madison.

FOR GOVERNOR OF MISSISSIPPI, HON. ETHEL BARKSDALE, Of Hinds.

WE PRESENT to-day the names of Col. Singleton and Major Barksdale, as our choice for Congressman and Governor. We regard each as the fittest man in the District and State for the office mentioned.

These gentlemen are so well known, so universally admired, that the reasons of our preference will be apparent to all.

CAN the Canton CITIZEN tell us why two and two make four? Yaxoo Sentinel.

If you will tell us which "two and two," we may be able to tell you why they might make a dozen.

Now, Bro. Henry, you have indulged in some very pretty platitudes about the Democracy of Madison, saying, "they have done a wise thing," and that "they will be ready to march hand in hand to the polls in November next, and cast a solid vote for the Democratic nominee for the Presidency."

Can the Sentinel tell us what else, being Democrats, they could have done, with or without this "very wise thing" to which it refers?

Better you stick to the Grant topic, Bro., for your head is square and level on that subject.

We are in receipt of two elegant and very interesting communications—from S. W. L. and W. H. C.—which we would be glad to publish, but are positively prevented by the length of the articles. Such is the pressure of local matters and advertisements upon our columns that we have for some time been unable to print our own views on political and general topics, except in the briefest possible manner.

Last week we had to leave out more than one item (which always take precedence of all other matter), than we put in—some of which will be found in this issue. A varied correspondence, by good writers, adds great interest to a paper, and we appreciate the favors of our contributors and will make a specialty of this department as soon as we can arrange to increase our space.

At present we solicit brief communications on local topics, memoranda of accidents and incidents, births, marriages, deaths, and so forth. The writer was once told by a brother journalist that he could not get up a good local paper in Canton—the town was too dull and prosaic. We submit this number of the CITIZEN as an answer to that prediction.

Hon. O. R. Singleton.

Entrepreneur Courier.

While in the other districts of this State the fitness of various persons for Congressional honors is being discussed, in this District very little is being said on the subject. We have many aspirants in the District; but they are all afraid to tackle the old war-horse, Hon. O. R. Singleton. There is no doubt it would be a big undertaking, and one which would show very small promise of success. It is understood that Col. Singleton will be a candidate for re-election, and there can be very little doubt that he will receive the Democratic nomination if he desires it.

Memorial Meeting.

At a meeting of the ladies of Canton, held on Monday evening last, for organization to celebrate Memorial Day, Mrs. E. C. Smith was selected to preside, and Mrs. H. D. Priestley as secretary.

On motion, the meeting unanimously elected Rev. Dr. Tynes chaplain, and Prof. W. H. Mgruder orator of the day; and Mrs. Magruder, Mrs. Stinson and Miss Winnie Kennedy were appointed a committee to inform those of their election and request them to act.

The meeting then appointed Mr. Robert Kemp marshal, and Messrs. W. H. Powell, Pearce Roland, A. P. Hill, James Dinkins, Pottus Phillips and Ralph Stakeker, assistants marshals.

The following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That all the Sabbath schools, the Fire and Hook and Ladder Companies, and the various benevolent and secret societies are requested to assist in the celebration of Memorial Day, and that the public generally are invited to attend.

Committees were duly appointed, as follows: Committee on Subscriptions and Music—Mrs. A. S. Johnson, chairman; Mrs. St. John, Miss Ida Hodges, Miss Mattie Baldwin, Mrs. W. H. Magruder.

Committee on Preparation of Graves—J. T. Priestley, chairman; B. E. Jones, G. R. Kemp, W. J. Mosby.

The city newspapers were requested to publish the proceedings. On motion, the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. E. C. Smith, Ch'n. Mrs. H. D. Priestley, Sec.

REMINISCENCES OF A PIONEER.

Old Times in "Choctaw Purchase."

The Early Settlers of Madison County—A Primitive View of Canton and Jackson—The First Circuit Court—Marshall's Inauguration Plot—Hospitality People, but Short of Preceder.

For the AMERICAN CITIZEN.]

It has been truthfully said, "time and tide wait for no man." What great changes have taken place within the last fifty years, in the State of Mississippi! Where are the people who first settled Madison county? I some times look back with sadness upon the past, and reflect, and ask myself, Where are those whom I first became acquainted with in Madison county, nearly forty-seven years ago—whom I esteemed so highly for their many virtues, hospitality and friendship. Comparatively few are left to tell the tale; but it is consoling to know that though I am now an old man, and shall soon pass away, we can meet again.

The first circuit court that was held in Canton was in 1834, in a log house. I was there, in search of sweet potatoes to sell, there being none to be had near where I had settled. Canton, now quite a city, then consisted of a few log houses scattered out in a forest. From Canton east out to Tildabogue, few improvements had been made, and a more beautiful tract of timber was hard to find. Now, what is to be seen? The ravages of war and the tooth of time.

In 1835 an insurrection plot was started among the negroes, to commence on the 4th of July, while the white men were expected to be celebrating the day of American independence. The secret was revealed by a servant girl to her mistress, and several white men and many negroes were hung at Livingston, Benton and Vicksburg, as the result of this attempt at wholesale murder.

When I left Virginia, my native State, in 1833, for the Choctaw purchase, in Mississippi, it was with some feelings of regret. To leave refined society, and a people proverbial for hospitality and friendship, to settle in a new and thinly settled country, where I was an entire stranger, and to make a living by digging the ground, where I thought the social amenities were little known, required some courage.

I stopped my family near Pearl river about the first of October, and took a little round to look at the country, going as far as Jackson. A few log houses constituted the city of Jackson in 1833. I entered land and went to work, building a house and clearing a tract of land, where the mark of an axe was not to be found. None but those who have tried it can form a correct idea of the hardship and exposure of frontier settlers. But little was to be had to eat, nearer than Vicksburg or Yazoo City, for love or money.

The first settlers had made a barely a support, but divided with the new comers as far as they could and live themselves. I soon found out that I was agreeably disappointed. A more hospitable people were not to be found anywhere.

During the years 1834, '35 and '36, quite a rise took place in improved lands, although plenty of public lands were offered at $1.25 per acre. With the rise of land, everything else went up. Many men with but little means were enabled to sell their improved lands and enter others at government prices, and buy some negroes to help them work. That gave a new impetus to business here. Speculation soon ran wild.

From the time that I had been in the State, say two or three years, I was but little known outside of my immediate neighborhood. I had little business from home, and wanted none. On one occasion I was at Madisonville and in the store of a man by the name of Hubbard—he will please pardon the use of his name, if alive—when Mr. Hubbard asked me if I did not want to buy some negroes. I was somewhat surprised at the question, our acquaintance being so limited, and he said, "There are some valuable negroes in town, for sale by a trader." I told him that I had no money to buy with, and that if I had, negroes were selling too high. To this he replied, "You are a sober, industrious man, and can soon make the money raising cotton. I will endeavor for you and help you out. I thanked him for his kind offer, but respectfully declined it. I have never to this day found out he knew me so well. Perhaps he had inquired of some of my neighbors as to my habits. But at that day and age such disinterested friendship was common here. If men were poor, but honest, sober and industrious; keeping good company, holding their heads up and trying to make an honest living, the best people in the country were their best friends, and ready to help them in time of need. Many, very many similar cases might be related, but I will close this communication by saying that irrespective of christianity or man's accountability in another mode of existence, it is to every man's interest to be honest and truthful—strictly so, if it takes the bark off.

Proceedings of the Madison County Farmers' Club.

(Published by authority of the Club.)

MONDAY, April 5.

President H. Homan called the Club to order at the hour of 12 M. promptly, and after a few well chosen remarks, introduced his successor, Hon. John R. Cameron.

President Cameron, in assuming the duties of the chair, explained in a forcible manner the necessity that existed for an association among the farmers, and predicted for the Madison County Farmers' Club a career of much usefulness.

The following new members were admitted: Dr. T. O. Payne, James Wales, John Handy, T. J. Alsworth, W. P. Dewees.

The committee on corn premiums reported $100.00 raised within the club, and $56.00 from persons not members; whereupon it was Resolved, That the Club offer a further premium of $75.00, or more if contributed, for the best five contiguous acres of corn raised in Madison county in 1880; provided, that no acre of the five shall be less than one single acre premiums already offered.

Five names were added to the committee: Dr. T. O. Payne, Dr. S. K. Coleman, Jas. Wales, W. P. Dewees, C. L. Gilmer.

Time for receiving names of contestants for premiums, extended to the 10th of May. 70 yards square, or its equivalent, considered an acre.

The following persons were admitted to contest for the single-acre prize: Hudson Chilton, J. T. Hickman, W. E. Hoy, Watt Moore, John Handy, W. L. Craig, E. Corde, Colored—Joe Sanders, Bobb, Jackson, on Fox's place; Miller, Banks, on J. Deitch, on J. R. Cameron's place; George Brown, on G. Nicholson's place.

As proposed at last meeting, the by-laws were changed, reducing the admission fee and annual dues to one dollar each.

The following resolution—based upon the suggestion of Prof. Riley, chief of the cotton worm commission, to Southern subscribers to the American Entomologist—was adopted: Resolved that the members of this Club are requested to watch closely, during the present month, for cotton-worm moth-eggs, and report with specimens at our next meeting.

The Secretary was ordered to request of Prof. Riley copies of Report, Bulletin No. 3, of the cotton worm commission, for distribution to members of the Club.

Also, to request Dr. E. H. Anderson, of Kirkwood, Miss., to furnish in writing such information as to the cotton worm and other insects injurious to the cotton plant, as Dr. A. may deem important.

The Secretary was directed to request of the Commissioner of Agriculture that this Club be made the agent for Madison county to furnish information to the Department and to distribute seeds of the Department.

Also, to inquire of Hon. W. G. Kearney what disposition was made of the resolutions of this Club praying the enactment of a law to prevent swine from running at large in this county.

A. H. Kent, owner of the Pelican fertilizer, authorized the Club to offer a half ton of it as a premium for the best acre of cotton grown on ordinary land fertilized with 200 pounds of same. Thanks were returned to Mr. Kent, and the premium was offered to the farmers of Madison.

Ordered, that at each meeting the chairman shall announce a subject for free conversational discussion at the succeeding meeting. The chair announced as the subject for next meeting, "the element attachment and its influence on the interests of country."

After the appointment of regular committees by the chair, the Club adjourned.

J. R. CAMERON, Pres. T. G. SMITH—VANIS, Sec. County Printing.

Brandon Republican.

The Madison Sun pitches into Col. Power, the State Printer, for printing and furnishing blanks to county officers at lower rates than the local printing offices can afford to do. This is wrong. Col. Power is not to be blamed. If he has the facilities for doing blank work cheaper than we can afford to do it, it is our fault, and not his. The county officer who sends his work to the Clarion office, or to Memphis or St. Louis, because he can thereby save a few cents, is the man to blame. It was through the influence of his county paper that he was elected, and the editor, in many instances, spent a good deal of time and labor to secure his election, and is entitled to his patronage. The way to correct this evil is for the editors of the State to refuse positively to support such officers for a second term. If they would give all their blank printing to their home offices, and pay them promptly for their labor, at any price the foreign establishments the local offices could do the work almost as cheap as the foreign offices. The trouble is that we have to set up a form of blanks in order to fill an order for two or three quires, while the Clarion and Memphis and St. Louis offices have orders for hundreds of quires. Spot orders like this sends out of the State for his blanks when he can get them at home nearly as cheap, and you will soon put a stop to it.

HOW WATCHES ARE MADE.

It will be apparent to any one who will examine a solid gold watch, that aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing a large proportion of the precious metal is used in the most simple and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply the necessary solidity and strength. The surplus gold is actually needless so far as utility and beauty are concerned. In James BOSS' PATENT GOLD WATCHES, this surplus of precious metal is overcome, and the same solidity and strength are produced, at from 1-3 to 1-2 of the usual cost of solid cases. This process is of the most simple nature, as follows: A plate of nickel composition metal, specially adapted to the purpose, is stamped in smooth, perfect circles on each side. The three are then passed between polished steel rollers, and the result is a heavily plated metal, from which the cases, backs, centres, bezels, etc., are cut and shaped by suitable dies and formers. The gold in these cases is perfectly smooth, uniform in all kinds of chasing, engraving and enamelling; the engraved cases have been carried until they are perfectly smooth by time and use without removing the gold. They are for sale by all jewelers, and each case is warranted by special certificate.

For sale by all jewelers. Ask for illustrated catalogue, and to see warrant filed in the office.

SETTLED BEYOND A DOUBT.—No one questions the fact that more cases of white, suppressed and irregular menses, and uterine obstructions of every kind, are being daily cured, by Dr. J. Bradford's Female Regulator, than by all other remedies combined. Its success in Georgia and other States is beyond precedent in the annals of physic.

Thousands of certificates from women every where, praise the merit of the proprietor. The attention of prominent medical men is aroused in behalf of this wonderful compound, and the most successful practitioners use it. If women suffer hereafter it will be their own fault. Female Regulator is prepared and sold by H. Bradford, Druggist, Atlanta, Ga., and may be bought for $1.50 per bottle at any respectable Drug Store in the Union.

Effects Truly Wonderful. Carterville, Ga., April 26, 1879. This will certify that two members of my family, after having suffered many years from menstrual irregularity, and having been treated without benefit by various medical doctors, were at length completely cured by one bottle of Dr. J. Bradford's Female Regulator. I therefore deem it my duty to furnish this certificate, with the hope of drawing attention to suffering women kind to the merits of a medicine whose power in curing irregular menses and suppressed menstruation has been proven under my own personal observation. Its effect on such cases is truly wonderful, and will may the remedy be called "Woman's Best Friend."

Yours respectfully, JAS. W. SPRANGE. For sale by Phillips & Jones, Canton, Miss.

The pure volatile particles of the leaves of the renowned anti-fever tree the Eucalyptus globulus, and the only protection against contagion in cases of yellow, typhoid and other fevers. Does not waite until that terrible fever, yellow fever appears in your midst, but prevents its coming by using beforehand our extract as an odorant, and when fever had at last set in, take internally four to six drops in a spoonful of water once a day, and apply it externally freely to the region of the bowels. It is the only remedy that can be relied on. Certificate.

Sandhurst, Australia, March 1, 1878: I have been investigating Messrs. Sanders & Sons' Eucalypti Extract, and have to admit that there is, beside it, no medicinal agent of such universal effect on the human system. I have used it in all the most completely all inflammations of whatever kind—chest, lung, and all throat affections, such as Bronchitis and Diphtheria. It cures Rheumatism, Toothache, Neuralgia, the most severe colds, etc. I used it with unparalleled success in swellings, bruises, sprains, burns, wounds of most serious nature, in all disorders of the bowels, diarrhoea, etc., and gladly acknowledge its merits for the benefit of the public.

John Crisbank, M. D. Epitome of declaration made before Mr. John, Esq., J. P., at Sandhurst, October 1877. I have used Sanders & Sons' Eucalypti Extract, and have to admit that there is, beside it, no medicinal agent of such universal effect on the human system. I have used it in all the most completely all inflammations of whatever kind—chest, lung, and all throat affections, such as Bronchitis and Diphtheria. It cures Rheumatism, Toothache, Neuralgia, the most severe colds, etc. I used it with unparalleled success in swellings, bruises, sprains, burns, wounds of most serious nature, in all disorders of the bowels, diarrhoea, etc., and gladly acknowledge its merits for the benefit of the public.

Handhurst, Oct. 1879.—I herewith certify that the above are the contents of an advertisement published at Sandhurst and that the name Dr. McGilvary, A. C. Mason and Boyd are well known medical practitioners residing at Sandhurst, S. A. Woodward, Mayor.

All the documents in question may be inspected at the wholesale agency of G. R. Finlay & Co., 315 Magazine St., New Orleans, sole agents for the southern States. The extract is sold at Canton by Phillips & Jones, sole agents.

Caution.—There are some preparations of the gum resin in the trade without any value as a medicinal agent. They may easily be discerned, as they are milky, an account of their terribleness nature, when mixed with spirits of wine. We are the only existing manufacturers of the pure Extract (essence) of the leaves of the Australian gum tree. Therefore, ask for Sanders & Sons' Extract, and insist upon it. Mch-13-ly
