Mr. Fosdick Denies Favoring Beer and Wine for United States Troops.
 Raymond D. Fosdick, chairman of the war department commission on training camps makes vigorous denial of the statement charged to him that he favors the use by the United States soldiers of alcoholic beverages containing less than twenty-three per cent alcohol. In a letter to the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal church, he says, in part: "From the week that war was declared the commission on training camp activities has been actively engaged in protecting the troops in the training camps of this country from demoralizing influences of all sorts. Since the passage of the selective service act, we have had special supervision of the enforcement of section 12 and 13 relating to alcohol and prostitution, and I am confident that the campaign which we have conducted against bootleggers and undesirable characters has had a material effect upon the problem of maintaining the morals of the troops." Suggests From Frances E. Willard's Writings.

God grant that we may be so divinely led that history's verdict upon our work shall be: "By God's blessing they helped to make the world wider for women and happier for humanity."

Humanity.
 We all believe that one of the choicest fruits of Christianity will be the growth of a bond of brotherhood and sisterhood so close among all nations, races and peoples, that we shall become truly kindred each to the other, and that great word Humanity, like a rolling wave of the ocean of God's love shall wash out from the sands of time the words caste, creed, sex, and even that good word patriotism, because we shall feel that the whole world is our country and all men are our kin. Every utterance of appreciation, affection and friendship; every token of mutual co-operation; every stroke of honest hard work undertaken side by side; every sincere prayer, helps forward this beautiful day that we call the coming of the Kingdom of Christ.

Love.
 No matter how near the water in the boiler comes to being steam, it will not move the locomotive one inch until it is steam; that elastic, invisible, impenetrable and irresistible power. Love is like that; it cannot be withstood; its godlike flame burns away the dross of policy in the pure white light of principle. Nothing less ever will fuse the hearts of men in those reforms by which the Gospel of Christ becomes regnant in the world.

To me there are but five words in the language: God, Duty, Love, Humanity and Immortality. I believe in the reign of the common people; that the earth is theirs, and everything in it belongs to them; that the kingdom of heaven is going to be here, that through the Gospel there is yet to come a warmer glow of love on the part of each human being for every other than we and the creatures that we resemble can possibly imagine. I believe that each human being will reach a plane so high that his ost devoted desire will be to have every other human being enjoy to the utmost those opportunities of comfort, development and cultivation that will make of him the utmost that can be done. Until this is the spontaneous desire and the supreme purpose of each of us we are only modified savages; but I believe that the light of truth in the face of Jesus Christ

"Shall shine more and more,
 'Till its glory like noontide shall be!"

GALLANT AND BRAVE

Winona, Miss., Feb. 18.
 To The Commercial Appeal.
 A few days ago an incident occurred here which is only a simple illustration of the fact that beneath the khaki uniform of the soldier lad beats a tender and chivalrous heart. An old lady who had been on a visit to her daughter in Columbus, Miss., was on her way back to her home in Texas but missed connection here and was weeping because she had to stay in the waiting room until 2 o'clock the next morning. A young brown-eyed lieutenant who had been traveling on the same train with her saw her distress and stepping up to some Winona ladies who happened to be at the station, asked them to please speak to the old lady and persuade her to go over to the hotel where she could be made comfortable and that he would pay the bill. The ladies did as he requested but would not allow him to pay the bill, but said they would see that it was paid. However, the lieutenant would not leave until he saw the old lady comfortably situated. He told the ladies he would not forget them when he got to Sunny France. This gallant soldier is only one out of thousands of our noble boys who are sacrificing their lives for home and native land. Let us do all in our power to help them win the war and may God bless and bring them back safe once more.

Warning Issued Against Scheme to Swindle Farmers.
 Another scheme for swindling the farmers of the United States has been discovered by the Federal Farm Loan Board. A man advertising himself as an authorized organizer of national farm-loan associations is sending out advertising matter emblazoned with the national flag, stating that he will organize such associations at $500 each, and will teach other the trick for a certain sum of money. His advertisements have reached farmers and business men over a large part of the United States. He claims to be so busy organizing national farm-loan associations that he needs help, but will take time to teach others for a monetary consideration. All such representations are fraudulent. In order to borrow under the farm-loan act, it is necessary for farmers to organize co-operative national farm-loan associations in their local communities. It is a violation of a ruling of the Federal Farm Loan Board, published more than a year ago, for a national farm-loan association or a joint-stock land bank to spend any money for promotion purposes. Associations thus organized will not be chartered by the Federal Farm Loan Board. Farmers are warned therefore against anyone asking a fee for his proffered services in connection with applying for a loan under the Federal farm-loan act.

Women Engaged in Agriculture.
 According to a late report, of the 1,800,000 women engaged in agriculture in the United States, 750,000 are under 20 years of age and 1,050,000 are negroes. A majority of the women workers are found in the Southern states. The lines of work in which women will be likely to increase their farming activities, according to the report, are vegetable gardening, poultry raising, butter making, hog raising, etc. It is suggested that women who know how to operate motor cars may with little additional training operate tractors.

Housekeepers' Headwork
 By Food Conversation Committee Bernard Romans Chapter D.A.R.

MEAT SUBSTITUTES.
 We have discussed in other articles the five great divisions or classes for food for the human machine. We have found that each class should be well represented in the days ration of food.
 Protein is a very important food element. It serves as fuel for the body and also provides a certain important element, nitrogen, which is needed in the care of children for growth and in the case of grown people for bodily repair. Without the meat or meat substitutes, meals would be lacking in this body-building material.
 The protein group of foods include these: moderately fat meats, poultry, fish, cheese, eggs, dried legumes, (beans, peas lentils, cow peas, peanuts), and some of the nuts.
 The housekeeper is facing many hard problems at this time, since if she must keep her family well nourished and her table appetizing. There has never been a time when headwork was so essential to success in every day housekeeping. To obey our national appeals for conservation, and also make our budget last our needs, one must have a clear understanding if she preserves the "balanced ration." Pork, beef, mutton are war foods as well as high priced luxuries. Fish is not always obtainable. One tires of eggs as a constant diet, and the dairy products are very dear. Fortunately the legume family comes to our rescue. The legumes are a class of plants that have the power to take nitrogen from the air and put it into a form which is proper food for man.
 They have many desirable characteristics among which are: tissue building properties, minerals necessary to life and a supply of carbohydrates. In addition to this they are inexpensive and admit of a great variety of ways of preparation.
 Boston Baked Beans: Two cups of beans, one teaspoon salt, one-third of a pound of salt, 2 pounds molasses, 1 cup boiling water. Soak over night. Drain, add fresh water, cook slowly until tender. Drain, put in baking dish with the pork, previously scalded, scraped, and cut in strips to the rind. Mix molasses, salt and boiling water together and pour over the beans. Bake about seven hours in a slow oven. Remove cover at the last to allow top to brown.
 Pea Souffle: 1 cup pea pulp, 3 eggs, one-third cup of bread crumbs. Sauce: one-half cup milk or meat stock, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, one-half teaspoon of salt. Beat crumbs, pulp and yolks of eggs into the sauce. Beat whites very light and fold into the mixture. Bake about 35 minutes.
 Croquettes: Season cold mashed peas with pepper and salt, add one tablespoon of melted butter to each cup of peas. Add one beaten egg to each cup. Form into croquettes, roll in beaten egg then in bread or cracker crumbs. Fry in hot fat.

AND NOW THEY ARE COOKING TOBACCO TO MAKE IT BETTER

For a good many years The American Tobacco Company have been conducting a series of experiments having as their object the improvement of smoking tobacco.
 And it is interesting to know that one of the greatest of their discoveries was one of the simplest, and that was, that cooking or toasting tobacco improved it in every way, just as cooking most foods improves them.
 They took a real Burley tobacco, grown in this country; toasted it as you would toast bread; moistened it to replace the natural moisture driven off by toasting; made it into cigarettes, called them "LUCKY STRIKE, the toasted cigarette," and offered them to the public.
 The result has been the greatest demand ever created for any tobacco product in a similar length of time.
 The change produced by toasting is not only most wholesome, but the flavor is greatly improved, just as cooking improves meat, for example.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble. I heard
