CLOSING OF TWENTY-NINTH SESSION.

Tomorrow will mark the close of the twenty-ninth annual session of the Industrial Institute and College. Commencement exercises at this great Institution are of paramount interest to Columbus as well as to people throughout the state. Many visitors are here to enjoy the delightful program incident to the close of the school.

Notwithstanding the fact that the fiery tongue of the slanderer has been hurled at the management, the past session has been the most harmonious and successful in the history of the school. The unjust criticisms seem to have quickened the conscience of the students and they have put forth their very best efforts with most gratifying results.

It is interesting and pleasing to note that each year under President H. L. Whitfield's management the college has grown in scope and magnitude. The original idea and design of the industrial have been adhered to and also the new features of practical education so much discussed over the country, have been incorporated, making it rank with the best schools in the country.

WILL FIGHT THE FLY.

Under the direction of the state board of health, Dr. W. H. Rowan, chief sanitary inspector, has inaugurated a determined fight against the fly. Dr. Rowan not only asks the hearty support of the city and county health officers of the state, but also of the people themselves, in the hope that sentiment may be aroused generally to the importance of ridding the homes and places of business of the pest which is known to be distributor of many diseases, such as typhoid and tuberculosis.

The following circular has been sent to county and city health officials of Mississippi:

Kill flies where they breed rather than where they feed. Flies breed principally in horse manure and other filth.

1. By destroying the breeding places. Manure should be hauled off twice a week.
2. By screening manure and garbage piles until hauled off.
3. By treating manure and garbage piles with any of the following solutions, flies cannot breed. Two pounds of common salt to one gallon of water, or 1 pound of Paris green to 20 gallons of water, or 2 pounds coperas to one gallon of water.

It will require one gallon to each 15 pounds of manure to be made fly proof.

The regulations of the state board of health do not allow any person to maintain fly breeding or fly feeding places. Violators of these laws are being fined every day. County health officers have been instructed to enforce these regulations where ever they are found to be violated.

Town officials should awaken to the necessity of enforcing these regulations: and they do not need other laws.

What we need is backbone to stand up and tell the fellow who does not clean his stable that he MUST.

Flies carry human manure on their feet and in their bodies, thus spreading typhoid, tuberculosis and diarrhoea.

The number of flies in your town will indicate the type of citizens you have.

Break up their nests.

WHY IS AN EXAMINATION?

The uninformed layman is now and then filled with amazement by some of the developments of our educational system.

All over the country during this month and next, boys and girls, young men and women, are being subjected to a mental and nervous strain, almost inconceivable to those not immediately interested. Graduation time is accompanied and followed by its inevitable trains of illness with an occasional death from suicide or disease directly attributable to this cause. There is scarcely a training school for teachers in the country which does not discredit such measures, while educational reforms universally condemn them, yet we go blissfully on our barbarous way.

Every teacher is familiar with the type of student who does a semester's work in the last two weeks, familiar too with the mental indigestion resulting from such "cramping." No one doubts the advisability of making a general review and survey of a year's work in order to give each part its relative value but there can be no question that more emphasis should be placed on daily work and frequent review, and less upon the hysterical which we call an examination.

QUIET AND CAUTIOUS.

Dun's Review for the week just ended goes thoroughly into business conditions, and contains reports from business centers in various parts of the country. In reading these reports the tone of quiet optimism which prevails is noticeable. Crops are in good shape and promise a big yield. Business is quiet generally—that is true, but the summer season is on, and underlying the whole situation is a vein of confidence in a fine business year before us. It is a fact; business and finance have passed through a trying period—first the tariff and then the banking law. True, both were much worse scared than hurt, but the nerves are just now getting back to normal. There is nothing the matter with the country and nothing the matter with business except that it is cautiously feeling its way, just as individuals are wisely cautious. And it is better for business to proceed safely and easily than in a manner which will bring a reaction.—Mobile Register.

Guess Again

Rooster Takes a Ride.

It is quite often that tramps beat their way on freight trains, but to find a "hobo" rooster is the latest. Mr. David Chambley, a popular conductor on the Southern Railway in Mississippi, who lives in Columbus, has in his possession a "monster" chicken, which he caught the past week beating his way from Pheba to Stewart, a distance of 49 miles. Often times poultry get to ride in box cars or coops, but the rooster arrested by Mr. Chambley road the entire distance sitting on the break beam under the car. Whether the "gentleman" boarded the train at Pheba is not known, but it was at this station he was first seen.
