

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. EMMA LMSE, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

Made Up Green

THE toilet at the left is of emerald green satin finished cloth. The corsage is draped by means of crosswise plaits in front, and has a deep yoke of the material which is cut in one piece with the sleeves. It is trimmed with bands of embroidery to match and with passementerie buttons. The collar and sleeve ruffles are of fine lace with jabot of the same ornamented with little knots of velvet and buckles of brilliants.

The skirt with raised waist line is made with an inverted plait in the middle of the front and is finished at the bottom with a flounce of the material cut in points at the top and headed by a band of the embroidery.

The other toilet is of moss green cheviot, or light weight cloth. The blouse is cut in one piece with the sleeves and is trimmed with applique bands of black satin which are embroidered with cord matching the gown. The gumpes and sleeve puffs are of white tulle or mousseline de soie; the girde is of black satin fastened at the left side with a pretty knot.

The skirt has an odd tablier which forms a point at the bottom where it is bordered with large black satin buttons with loops of cord. The back and sides of the skirt are finished with a flounce headed by a band of the embroidered satin, which also trims the ~~mid~~ of the ~~skirt~~ extending from the top to the flounce.

PARIS TIRED OF BUTTONS

Novelties in Tailor Suits for Fall Show Smart Styles Sure to Be Popular.

A tailor suit has been observed in Paris that is as common as the chestnut leaves and which we have seen seldom in America. Ten to one it will be the suit of the autumn with us. It lends itself too readily to the cheaper style of ready-made clothes, in which it has already appeared in the huge department shops here, and yet it is very smart.

The skirt is narrow, more or less so according to the inclination, and has a bias band around the edge of a short, narrow coat. The skirt, mind you, has no bias band. It seams are lapped and stitched, and there is a row of small buttons for about six inches up the two front seams.

Paris is very tired of buttons, so these are left off in the suits made for the American trade. The skirt is about a yard and a quarter wide, but this will be enlarged by our tailors.

The coat just covers the rounded part of the hips, and its bias band runs from three to four inches wide. The shoulders are inclined to be narrow, because they are not padded, and the buttons, which go straight down the front, are large bullets of lead-colored metal, or brass if one prefers. The sleeve is long and plain, the rever short and square at the edges.

If you want to know just how the majority of smart women look at noon at Trouville, Deauville and the boulevards you must imagine in your mind's eye this suit.

The skirt is short, showing dark gray silk stockings, with heavy clocks up the sides, and patent leather American pumps, with a flat bow, which will be replaced by heavy shoes with gras tops. A high collar attached to the blouse shows above the coat, and in the front is always a plaited frill with lace at its one edge.

The hat is still flat and rather large, but in the next week or two it will be replaced by a tall, plaited turban of changeable velvet, bordered with fur or grebe. There is little trimming on these hats for noon wear, but for afternoon use they are repeated with the addition of a pair of Mercury wings placed directly in front and made of iridescent pin feathers.

The cloche shape comes frequently in black satin, with the trimming of a wide crush band and a flattened bow of satin. Underneath the brim is a frill of white lace.

EFFECTIVE FOR YOUNG GIRL

Cashmere Would Make Up Well in Model That Has Much to Recommend It.

Cashmere is selected for our model, which has a wide panel taken down back and front which is left open at sides and is edged with silk that is cut in vandykes; silk muslin fills up the opening at sides; two rows of gauging are made on the hips.

On the bodice, the front and back are cashmere edged with silk, and are tucked on the shoulders, the sides are of muslin. Piece lace is used for the yoke and sleeves.

Straw hat trimmed with acacia and ribbon bows.

Mrs. Cook Says

"There is not much pleasure in life," writes Mrs. J. D. Cook, of Crane, Mo., if one has to be sick all the time. So many women suffer from girlhood on, all through life, who could be spared such suffering, and live in comfort, if they would only try Cardui, the woman's tonic, as I did.

I was only 16 years old when I first took Cardui. Now, I am 39. Whenever I was poorly or felt real bad, Cardui always brought me out all right. I have faith in it. I know what it has done for me, and I have seen what it has done for others."
