

A Grave Emergency.

The apparently incredible affliction of Judge Trimble, presents a most serious question. He is, and will almost beyond doubt remain, incapable of discharging the duties of his office. We are informed by members of the bar that the law contains no provision for the appointment of any one to fill the office temporarily; an unfortunate defect. Were the Legislature in session it could pass a law retiring Judge Trimble, continuing his salary during his term. But that body does not meet until January 1885.

In the meantime there is an utter uncertainty about the District courts. The fall term has been held in only two counties of the District. In this and all the others, we suppose, the juries are full and the increase of business constant.

We suppose when the Judges of the adjoining districts have finished their fall terms one of them can be induced to finish Judge Trimble's. This can be legally done. But we have not yet heard of any suggestion of immediate care for this ill state of affairs.

Of course what we have said is joined with every consideration for and sympathy with Judge Trimble in his grievous affliction. The consequences to the public of which he is a rallying point is too much for us to ignore.

I am candidly of the opinion that if we had failed this time, the powerful interests clustering around the ruling party, under the leader they then would have had, would in a few years perhaps have been strong and during enough, if not too corrupt, to defy public opinion, and perhaps to resist and baffle the peaceful expression of it.

We learn through the Vicksburg papers of recent date the death of Captain John H. Smith during the war in the ranks of the 23d Miss. Regiment.

The intense excitement of the nation has finally settled into an unrelaxing watchfulness of the official count of the vote of New York. To acquire even an approximate conception of the degree of feeling manifested in New York city during the days immediately preceding the election, one will have to read the city papers of that State.

The betting favors during the days of doubt over the result was fierce and general throughout the Union. In Vicksburg the Blaine backers were especially stiff.

The Board of Canvassers for New York county will push the counting of the votes as rapidly as possible, working from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m., and expect to finish by Monday night.

Our counsel is for peaceful methods and are careful abstention from any others, till the last extremity. But if the Republican National Committee's call for "resistance is meant to incite Republicans to resort to violent means to defend frauds on the pretext of preventing them, upon the heads of Elkias and his fellow members of that committee rests the responsibility for the stirring up of any violence that may ensue.

On last Tuesday the house of Richard Latham caught fire and burned down. Very little of the furniture was saved, as both he and his wife were away from home at the time.

The Tale in New York City.

The State of New York will give Grover Cleveland thirty-six electoral votes. The Democratic organization of the city are united in support of the National ticket and the increased registration last year is only Democratic majority larger than that given to Mr. Tilden in 1876.

Salient Jay Gould.

The total city vote in 1880 was 171,398, of which Tilden received 112,330 and Hayes 59,067, making the Democratic majority about 54,000. In 1880 the total vote was 204,783, of which Hancock and Blaine received 122,832, a Democratic majority of a little over 40,000.

These: The form of Jay Gould's congratulatory to Gov. Cleveland was as impudent as the impulse in its composition was diabolical. Felt that English it would read: "I heartily congratulate you upon the failure of my continuous efforts during the last three days to count you out of the office to which you have been elected."

The registration in 1880 was 211,925, and the loss in the vote polled, a little less than 2 per cent. The registration this year is just upon 243,000, an increase of about 31,000. At the same rate of loss the vote polled next week will be 228,000. It is safe to estimate the total vote at about 230,000, an increase of 28,000 over 1880—New York World.

It is not worth while for our adversaries to claim the electoral vote of the State of New York. It is absolutely certain that the returns of the proper officers of the election on the night of the 4th of November, showed a decisive plurality in the State for the electors supporting Cleveland and Hendricks. If any different or altered returns are now being prepared or are promulgated, they are corrupt fabrications of the records of the State of New York, and the men aiding or abetting the making of such reports are criminals.

Proclamation and Courier Proclamation.

Headquarters of the National Democratic Committee, No. 11 West Twenty-Fourth Street, New York, Nov. 7, 1884.—To the People of the United States: There can no longer be any question concerning the actual result of the Presidential election. Grover Cleveland and Thos. A. Hendricks have a majority of the 18 of the Electoral College.

At his home on Deer Creek.

From an aged mother, from a clinging wife and seven children Tony has been taken. From his loved friends, from loving friends from a loving community he has been called away. In the vigor of his manhood and in the full harvest of his usefulness he has been cut down. Except at the hands of a Father, such a calamity could not be bounteous; but He doeth all things well and we trust Him. He will comfort the smitten heart, He will be the stay of the widow and the support of the orphan.

The whole community will miss him. Twice he was chosen to look after the public interests and represent the 4th Dist. in the Board of Supervisors. This duty was discharged, fairly, faithfully and with ability, although jealously guarding against a lavish expenditure of the people's money, he administered public business in the spirit of progress. He laid aside the mantle of life gently and uncomplainingly. When admonished of the Christian's faith, his reply was: "That is all right, that is all right" and without a struggle, but only a sigh, his weary soul quit this mortal frame.

"On the day preceding the general election the Tribune printed the subjoined startling communication: Sir: I own about 200 horses, besides several costly public buildings and considerable real estate in this flourishing manufacturing city. I pledge myself to sell all I possess here for one-quarter less than its present acknowledged value if the Democrats elect their President. Every taxpayer and every working man and woman will see business permanently palsied if the South gets into the saddle. It will establish free trade, get pay for slaves, and obtain pensions for all rebel soldiers.

What indeed? We wonder if Stevey ever heard of 1876!

Quite a number of persons from a distance were in town early in the week, on their way home from attendance upon the Sunflower Court, which did not convene. Among the number, and from whom we were favored with calls were the Hon. H. R. Lott of Floyd, La., and Mr. J. A. Boothie of the Burtonia Precinct.

The "Paltry Mountebank."

Chalmers has telegraphed to McPherson, in Washington, that he will contest the election of Judge Morgan! The paltry mountebank is ready to do anything to keep him before the public, even for a brief period. He ought to follow the example of his prototype, Judas Iscariot. Whatever else was said of Judas, he had the courage to rid the world of a worthless life.

The Next House.

In the next House the Democrats will have a majority of 43. This is good enough.
