The New York Herald says that those precious moralists, the Blaine managers, in their desperation, are struggling to get somebody more reputable than themselves to father the self-contradictory and irrelevant charge relating to Governor Cleveland's private character.—They cannot, however, press the Rev. J. P. Newman into that service. That gentleman, while temporarily staying at Chicago, authorized the Chicago Herald to denounce as false all newspaper interviews purporting to have been held with him upon this subject. For Gov. Cleveland's public character he professes warm admiration, while he knows nothing whatever and has authorized nothing whatever derogatory to his private life.

Hon. Roswell P Flower, who was Cleveland's strongest rival in New York, says he will support the democratic nomination heartily, and predicts that Cleveland will carry New York by 50,000 majority.

A New York special says: "It was reported to-day that Mr. Tilden was appealed to for aid, and promised to contribute $50 000. Those interested in Gov Cleveland's candidacy say that amount is only about one-tenth of what the Sage of Greystone will actually spend to secure the success of the democratic party."

CORINTH, MISS.

The Rev. Sam Jones Good Work—A Wonderful Revival.

Correspondence of the Appeal.]

CORINTH, August 8.—The Rev. Sam Jones, of Georgia, arrived in our city two weeks ago and began preaching, and continued up to Monday night last, having preached twenty-nine sermons in nine days. To say we had a revival is not sufficiently strong to enable your readers to understand the case, unless they have heard Sam Jones. It was the most complete awakening that ever occurred in this section of the country. The churches here have been revived as never before, and sinners have been convicted and converted by scores. Some of what we had called the hardest ones in the category have been converted. Mr. Jones left us on Monday night, last, but the meeting still goes on, and up to this evening, about 130 persons have been converted, nearly all citizens of Corinth. One gentleman who lives in a far off State, but was stopping here, is among the converts. It has, indeed, been a wonderful season in a religious point of view. All the religious denominations, I think, will be reinforced, by these converts. Some have already been received into the Baptist and the Presbyterian Churches. The ministers present are the Rev. T. P. Osborne, of the Old School Presbyterian Church; the Rev. J. D. and W. H. Steele, of the Cumberland Church; the Rev. J. A. Bowen, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and the Rev. R. Young, of the Cuberland Presbyterian church, a citizen of Corinth. I do not know when the meeting will close.

HERNANDO, MISS.

Enthusiasm Over the Nomination of Judge Morgan—A Flattering Demonstration.

Special to the Appeal.

HERNANDO, August 9.—The enthusiasm and delight of our people over the nomination of Judge J. B. Morgan for Congress, was manifested last night by an outpouring of his neighbors and friends, both white and colored, in an impromptu serenade. After music by the band, Maj. T. C. Dockery, our worthy sheriff, as spokesman, expressed the sentiments of the crowd in a happy, congratulatory speech, Judge Morgan replied in his usually forcible and manly style, declaring in the course of his remarks that his nomination was the result not of his personal merit or popularity, but was rather a compliment and an honor sought to be paid by the Democrats of this Congressional District to the gallant Democracy of old DeSoto, who, since the stormy days of 1875, have led the front ranks and have never lost a battle, in the cause of good government. Judge Morgan's unblemished integrity and warm sympathies with the people of his life have won for him the most unbounded confidence of all the people, and note the prediction, Messrs. Editors, that when the November election shall have come around, the returns will show for Morgan such a sweeping majority that the little bantam will be most wofully disfigured and knocked clear out of the ring. After the Judge had spoken, he very cordially invited all present to partake of a most enjoyable repast, hastily prepared by his accomplished wife and daughter. The repast over, stirring speeches were made by A. S. Buchanan and others, when the crowd, stirred to the wildest enthusiasm, gave three cheers to the success of Cleveland and Hendricks and the gallant J. B. Morgan, and retired to their homes, more than ever determined to roll up a majority of 2500 in this county for J. B. Morgan in November next.

The Revival.

The revival of religion commenced by Rev. Sam Jones, over two weeks ago is still in progress with results unprecedented in the church history of Corinth. Under the earnest appeals of Mr. Jones the zeal of the more active church members was aroused to fever heat, the luke warm became warmed over and the most hardened sinners were aroused to a true sense of their condition in a greater or less degree. The pentecostal fell on all alike; old men, young men, women and children by the score went up daily and nightly to invoke the aid of prayer in their behalf, and conversions are of daily occurrence. Last Monday night, the last time Mr. Jones officiated, ninety five new converts came around him at his call. The leading churches of the town will be considerably strengthened, and the moral condition of Corinth greatly improved by this movement. Up to present writing (Wednesday) 125 have been converted. The meetings are carried on mainly by our local ministers and although the crowds are not so large the interest is unabated.—Corinth Herald.

Southern Tea Culture.

Natchez Democrat.

South Carolina tea cured in a fruit evaporator has been pronounced by London experts equal to any Assam, Indian or Ceylon teas. It is thought that with experience in its preparation it can be made equal to the best Chinese tea. Let those who have tea plants continue their experiments. There is a great hope of tea raising in the South.

The latest crop reports from Texas indicate a yield of cotton equal to if it does not exceed last years' crop, and the yield of corn will be above the average.—[Avalanche.

MARY AND A LITTLE DUDE.

Mary had a little dude.
His hands were white as snow,
And every where that Mary went
That dude was sure to go.

He walked with her from school one day;
That was against the rule.
'Tis most improper that a girl
Should have a beau at school.

Her irate father kicked him out,
And down the road he went,
Swift as a dart by bowstring sped,
Nor lingered worth a cent.

"What makes the dude love Mary so?"
The jealous girls they cried;
"O, Mary loves the dude you know,"
A sour old maid replied.

Method for Putting up Fruit for New Orleans Exposition.

For sound hard fruit—Apples, Pears, Cherries, Plums, etc., take ¼ alcohol and ¾ pure water. For soft fruit—Peaches, strawberries, etc., take ¼ alcohol and ¾ pure water, put in jars keeping the jars well filled with the fruit and fluid, and under close cover, set away in a dark, cool place, and examine frequently, removing any specimens which have become defective. Jars will be furnished to collectors as soon as we can possibly get them; in the meantime, use any jars you may have on hand, in order that no valuable specimens be lost. Purchase alcohol from local druggists on best terms you can, and send voucher to me at Madison Station, Miss., and the same will be paid.

RHEUMATISM.—Diet not unfrequently has quite as much to do as exposure in producing rheumatism. The following liniment recipe is good for use when one has it: Two tablespoonfuls of castor oil and one teaspoonful of spirits of turpentine; heat these together, then rub hard the part affected with a piece of flannel saturated with the mixture, and bind on the flannel upon retiring to bed, well saturated with the warm preparation. Lemon juice is recommended as a frequent cure for acute rheumatism. Take a tablespoonful to twice the quantity of cold water every hour.—Ex.

When any business man or firm withdraws his advertisement from the paper it is a sure sign that he is failing. A standing advertisement in a home paper keeps you introduced to the people. Non-advertisers are seldom thought of in a business point of view. Many such men pass out of business circles for the want of patronage, simply from the fact that they are never thought of except when seen.

JAY GOULD'S MAN.

The New York Herald, which is doing splendid service for the democratic ticket, thus tells whose man Blaine is. "A feeble attempt has been made to prejudice workingmen against Gov. Cleveland by charging that he is friendly to monopoly. Then why are the most conspicuous monopolists, such as Jay Gould, Cyrus W. Field, Russell Sage, & others against him and for Blaine? Gould has declared that he is "perfectly satisfied" with Blaine, and Gould never mistakes his man."

Chalmers is crowing for Blaine and Logan!—Ex.
