Distressing Casualty.
A most distressing affair occurred in the northern portion of the county on the 8th inst., which resulted in the death of an estimable young lady, the daughter of Mr. Wm. Parson, of the Lansdale neighborhood.
It seems that frequent depositions upon Mr. Parson's poultry yard had been made of late, and that his son, a young man of about twenty years of age, had been watching for the thief, and on the night referred to, the young lady went out to the coop to get a chicken to prepare for breakfast, and the boy hearing the cries of the chicken, and not dreaming that his sister or any member of the family was in the yard, rushed out, and picking up a brick-bat, hurled it in the direction of the noise, and with such unfeeling precision as to strike his sister in the head, inflicting a wound that resulted in her death after a few hours of suffering.
The affair cast a gloom over the whole neighborhood, and the young man who was the unsuspecting cause of his sister's death, is in a frame of mind bordering on insanity.

A CAMPAIGN BLUNDER.
When Dr. R. V. Pierce was a candidate for State Senator, his political opponents published a pretended analysis of his popular medicine, hoping thereby to prejudice the people against him. His election by an overwhelming majority severely rebuked his detractors, who sought to impeach his business integrity. No notice would have been taken of these campaign lies were it not that some of his enemies (and every successful business man has his full quota of envious rivals) are republishing these bogus articles. Numerous and most absurd formulas have been published, purporting to come from high authority; and it is a significant fact that no two have been at all alike—conclusively proving the dishonesty of their authors.
The following is from the Buffalo Courier, of Oct. 23d, 1878:
"Hardly a dozen years ago he (Dr. Pierce) came here, a young and unknown man, almost friendless, with no capital except his own manhood, which, however, included plenty of brains and pluck. He discovered a Capital enough for any young man, in this progressive country, if only he had good health and habits as well. He had all these great natural advantages and one thing more, an excellent education. He had studied medicine as a regular licensed practitioner, a physician. But he was still a student, fond of investigation and experiment. He discovered, or invented, important remedial agencies or compounds. Not contenting himself merely for the sick and suffering to find out, or invent, any body to tell them that he could do them good, he advertised his medicines and invited the whole profession of every school to examine and pronounce judgment upon his formulas. He advertised liberally, profusely, but with extraordinary modesty, and with a method which is in itself a lesson to all who seek business by that perfectly legitimate means. His success has been something marvelous—so great indeed that it must be due to intrinsic merit in the article he sells more even than his unparalleled skill in the use of printer's ink. The present writer once asked a distinguished dispensing druggist to explain the secret of the almost universal demand for Dr. Pierce's medicines. He said they were in fact genuine medicines—such compounds as every good physician would prescribe for the diseases which they were advertised to cure. Of course, they cost less than any drug-gist could charge for the same article supplied on a physician's prescription, and besides there was the doctor's fee saved. Moreover, buying the drugs in such enormous quantities, having perfect apparatus for purifying and compounding the mixture, he could not only get better articles in the first place, but present the medicine in better form and cheaper than the same mixture could possibly be obtained from any other source.
It may be thought that all this having reference to Dr. Pierce's private business has no point whatever when considered in connection with the paper qualifications of a candidate for the Senate. Perhaps. But it is the fashion now, and will be for a fortnight more, with sundry journals, to make shrewd allusions to this very matter. After that brief period, they will be quite ready to go on doing his work as before and always before, to speak of him as a blunderer."

The penetrating winds incident to this season of the year are a severe ordeal to the lungs. The neglect of a hard cough, which really leads to weakness of the lungs, which not infrequently results in Consumption, SCAGGERS' PULMONIC SYRUP will at once relieve and long a light cough, and is what a prudent mother should have on hand. It will not only remedy a cold on the lungs, but it is not already developed, may be easily mastered by the use of the Pulmonic Syrup, together with Scaggers' Mandrake Pills to clear the system of the accumulated mucus. In more serious cases, where the disease has become deeply seated, and the patient suffers from loss of appetite, weakness and emaciation, SCAGGERS' SEA WEDDING Tonic should be used in connection with the above mentioned remedies, to stimulate the appetite and bring the digestive powers into healthy action, thereby assisting the strength of the patient—enabling him to resist the progress of the disease until the PULMONIC SYRUP may perform its healing and clearing work.
The use of these standard remedies according to the directions which accompany them, cannot fail to produce a permanent recovery. A letter, containing the satisfactory reports of a large number of afflicted persons, and a list of the names of the physicians who have prescribed them, will be promptly received. Address, SCAGGERS' MEDICINE CO., 155 Broadway, New York. Send for a copy of the "Pulmonic Syrup" and "Sea Wedd" free of charge. The SCAGGERS' Medicines are for sale by all druggists.
