The New York Times, February 27, 1865

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE YARDS RESIDENT.

Arrived Saturday 1.30 A.M.

New York City, Thursday, 26th.

The Convention delegates have arrived in the city this morning, having been detained at the depot by the want of railroad connections. The weather was extremely cold, but the delegates were in good spirits. They were received by the Mayor and Council at the station, and proceeded to the Hotel St. George, where they were met by a large assemblage of citizens.

The Senate of the State of New York has, by a large majority, adopted the resolutions of the House, reserving the question of the admission of California to the Union. The action of the Senate is in accordance with the wishes of the people of the State, and will be hailed with delight by the inhabitants of the Territory. The resolutions adopted by the Senate are as follows:

The Senate of the State of New York, in Convention assembled,

Resolves, That the Senate of the State of New York, in Convention assembled, do hereby express their approbation of the resolutions of the House of Representatives, as transmitted to this body by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and do hereby advise and request the President of the United States to issue a proclamation declaring the said State of California to be a part of the United States of America, and to be entitled the State of California.

The House of Representatives having passed similar resolutions, the Senate has thereby concurred in the action of the House, and has taken the necessary steps to effect the object for which the resolutions were adopted.

The resolutions adopted by the Senate will be transmitted to the Governor, to be acted upon in accordance with the constitution and laws of the State.

The action of the Senate is in accordance with the wishes of the people of the State, and will be hailed with delight by the inhabitants of the Territory.