

ANDRETTA IN OFFICE MONDAY

Treasurer Glenn Retires After Three Months Service as Custodian of County Cash.

County Treasurer-elect Fred C. Andretta will become county treasurer in fact tomorrow morning at 9. At that hour he will take over the reins of the office from Treasurer Glenn. Andretta has held the position as an appointee since former Treasurer Lee Dennis tendered his resignation to the commissioners January 1 to become a member of the state railroad and public service commission. Treasurer Andretta will receive from his predecessor $1,213,525.62, which sum is now on hand at the office and distributed among the 17 banks of the county.

The new treasurer stated last night that he will assume the duties of the office to which he was elected at a time when the matter of enforcing collection of personal taxes will be a detail taking precedence over any other seasonal duty. Delinquent real estate taxes, he said, are bringing the county returns in the form of 12 per cent interest, but unpaid taxes assessed against personal property are a dead loss up to the time they are collected. He will immediately proceed under the method provided by law for the collection of this portion of the county's income, which is to initiate attachment proceedings, advertise, take possession and give a bill of sale. The first enforced collections of this nature will probably be made during the latter portion of the present week.

Treasurer Andretta's chief deputy will be Frank A. Garkley, who transferred from the office of the county clerk January 1. Other deputies will be Charles A. Hagen and Miss Helen Dennis, and W. S. Jeffries, also an appointee of the treasurer, will be in the office a portion of the year. His position is that of the deputy who follows the books as they proceed through the different offices at stated periods.

Claude Glenn, the retiring treasurer, was for four years prior to his appointment as treasurer, a deputy under Treasurer Dennis, and has been a popular official. His plans for the future are not announced, but rumor has it that he will enter the employ of a private firm as an accountant during the present month.

Mr. Glenn was the author of an article published last summer concerning the assessing and collecting of taxes in Montana and he believes that it was to a large extent the means of preventing many misunderstandings, which on previous years caused a large number of property owners to appear before the commissioners to have explained what they considered erroneous taxation.

ATTEMPT TO ROB HIM, IT APPEARS

William Schofield Thwarts Thugs Who Chop Open Window of Room.

What is believed to have been an attempt to rob William Schofield, a smelter workman, occurred at Black Eagle shortly after 3 yesterday morning when two men broke out a window immediately opposite the bed on which he was sleeping and ordered him to throw up his hands. It has been generally known that Schofield habitually kept a considerable amount of money in his possession and the assumption is that the thieves went to the shack in which Schofield was sleeping with an idea of obtaining the $1,000 he had with him. He was awakened by the breaking of the glass, one piece of which made a small cut in his neck, but when he failed to immediately comply with his callers' commands and began to bestir himself the marauders fled.

Sheriff J. J. Burns, Deputy W. C. Bean and Officer William Murray were on the ground in a short time and tracks were discovered leading thru the fresh snow from the shack in which Schofield was sleeping to a house occupied by Mike Marchi, who was picked up yesterday and detained at the county jail for investigation. It was reported last night that no conclusive evidence was obtained that he was responsible for the attempt to rob Schofield, but in order to thoroughly cover the ground it was decided to hold him for examination by the county attorney's office. An axe with which the window is thought to have been broken was found leaning against a fence a short distance from the shack.

Schofield told Sheriff Burns that the intruders covered him with a gun after breaking out the window and that they fired three shots at him when he failed to put up his hands. No trace could be found of a bullet hole within the shack. Schofield at first believed the cut made by the glass was a bullet wound, but was reassured by Herman Kropp, who owns the house in which he was sleeping, and which is located close to the hotel of which Kropp is the proprietor.

LAKE HARUNA.

Lake Haruna is one of the most popular lakes in Japan. It lies in the bowl of a volcano crater long ago extinct. An invisible dragon watches over it and there is a temple to the god of fire and the goddess of earth close by. Thus an atmosphere of romance and individuality is created. Not all lakes can boast a crater, a dragon in attendance, and a temple so old and so charmingly quaint, set in a grove of ancient trees behind a gate and bridge of gorgeous red lacquer.

Moreover, Lake Haruna has another charm, displayed only in winter when it is freezing. Then it is known as the musical lake. As the ice is melted, changes into a melody of ice, it crackles and hums in tones as musical as the playing of a fountain.

When the ice is solid Japanese from the neighborhood and strangers visiting the country come to skate on Lake Haruna, and when the ice is melted, the same Japs and other strangers come to fish in its depths and drink tea at the tea house on the shore. Lake Haruna is much visited. Those who care nothing for its beauty, or the joys of fishing or skating come to pay homage to the goddess of earth and to beg her blessing on their unworthy lands.

GET AUTO TAGS, GET THEM NOW

Delay No Longer Excusable and Police Will Enforce the Order Soon.

Chief of Police Marcus Anderson has been notified by Secretary of State C. T. Stewart that his office is now prepared to furnish automobile owners with number plates for the present year, and the chief is asked to lend the assistance of the department to the task of urging all owners to make application for their license tags. Secretary Stewart informs the chief that the last carload of plates has arrived in Helena and that within three days after any application for a number is received it will be placed in the postoffice at that city for transportation to the applicant.

Early in January the secretary asked the chief to wait for further advice before demanding of owners that they immediately apply for their 1919 tags, giving as his reason the fact that the Helena office was swamped with work and that the full supply of tags had not yet equipped their cars with new numbers. Secretary Stewart uses rather imperative language in describing that which our owners must do. He says they must "rush" their applications and that he is calling upon peace officers for assistance in taking care of those who have not become delinquent in their duties in this connection.

PASTERNO'S IS HELD HIS SANITY QUESTIONED
Fireman at the central station yesterday were attracted into Second alley north by cries from one who appeared to be in a highly gratified state over something or other, and went there to find John Pasterno rolling in the snow and shouting, "It's all over; the boys are coming home." Pasterno was taken into custody by the police and later transferred from the city station to the county jail, where he will be held pending an investigation into his mental condition. It became necessary to isolate him after he had been confined for a short time and last evening a warrant was obtained charging him with insanity. Nothing is known locally of his previous history.

MRS. O. S. WARDEN DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Lady Is Stricken at Dinner Table—Was Native of Massachusetts.

Mrs. Etta Warden, wife of Oliver S. Warden, manager of The Great Falls Tribune, died suddenly last evening as the result of a stroke of apoplexy, which came upon her while she was at the dinner table in her home at 509 Fourth avenue north. She died within a few minutes, but before medical aid was summoned. Dr. A. F. Longway, the family physician, whose home is adjoining the Warden home being called and arriving before Mrs. Warden had breathed her last. Mr. Warden has been on the Pacific coast on a business mission for two weeks and has been in San Francisco for a few days and was notified there last evening of his wife's death.

Mrs. Warden's passing was most sudden and unexpected. She has been about her home as usual and yesterday afternoon at 4 she attended a meeting of ladies of the Congregational church, held at the home of Mrs. George G. Mills, to participate in some committee work in which she was interested and returned from that session to her home only a few minutes prior to the dinner hour. With her son Robert D. and daughters, Gertrude and Virginia, the three children at home, she sat down to the dinner table making no further complaint about her condition than that she suffered from a headache. Even the headache was not such as to cause her apparent alarm nor to arouse alarm on the part of her children or the maid, and serving the dinner was started when Mrs. Warden suddenly exclaimed about her head aching and fell from her chair. Assistance was summoned from nearby homes and everything possible was done for the stricken woman but all to no avail, and she died without regaining consciousness and in a very short time.

Mrs. Warden was a native of Lawrence, Mass., being born there 46 years ago. She was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Scott of that city and she was married to O. S. Warden on January 23, 1895. Mr. Warden having previously been located for some years in Great Falls. They came immediately to this city after their marriage and had since made their home here. Mrs. Warden had always taken an active part in the work of the First Congregational church and for a considerable period was a member of the choir, being possessed of musical ability and interested in making the choir of the church one of its strong features. She was a lady of kindly temper and pleasant disposition and her friends were numbered by her acquaintances. One of her chief efforts in the work of her church was in Group 1 of the Ladies' Union, and she was ever a faithful and aggressive worker in everything the church undertook. She stood for the best in life and was sincerely interested in whatever she believed would make the community better. Her children always were nearest her heart and their welfare was her chief consideration.

Mrs. Warden is survived by her husband and by two sons and three daughters. Her oldest child being Eugene, the son, Warden, who is a student at Dartmouth college, Hanover, New Hampshire, and her second is Miss Helen Warden who is a student at Ossining, New York in a girls' finishing school. The other three children who were at home when their mother died were Robert D. Warden, a student in the Great Falls high school, and two young daughters, Gertrude and Virginia. She is survived, also, by two brothers, Walter Scott and Dana Scott of Lawrence, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. M. C. Boice of Minneapolis.

No plans for the funeral have been made and will not be until Mr. Warden arrives from San Francisco, which will probably be Monday night or Tuesday. Mrs. Warden and her sister, Miss Helen are expected here about Wednesday.

TO MAKE SOCIAL SIDE A FEATURE
Yeomen Lodge Plans for Greater Activities—Membership Is Growing.

At the last regular meeting of Rainbow homestead of the Yeomen, held on Saturday evening, February 1, it was decided to have a series of dances to be held on the last meeting night of every month. At every regular business meeting, which is held on the third Saturday of each month, it was also thought advisable to serve refreshments, the ladies and gentlemen alternating at the task, and gentlemen alternating at the task, and furnish music for the balance of the evening.

The field force has been very active during the past month. 16 new candidates being given the obligation, with five more to be obligated.

In a letter received from State Manager John D. Tewksbury of Billings, he states that homesteads all over the Yeomen jurisdiction are doing good work and that the insurance is practically 90 per cent statutory.

The homesteads at Valer, Big Sandy, Fort Benton, Gilford and Haure all report renewed activities, and are doing their utmost to have class adoptions.

In a letter received from Grand Foreman Frank of Des Moines, stating the children's insurance and whole family protection law had passed in a great many states by the state legislature and that it was going to be a great success. This is a new departure with the Yeomen and members are responding liberally in having their children affiliate with the order.

Henry Angermeier and Charlie Peters have returned from the training camps and judging from their appearance the service has certainly agreed with them.

The Paris Is Rapidly Filling Up With New Spring Goods and There's More Coming in Every Day

Before You Have Your New Garment Fitted

You must be certain that your corset is accurately shaped to portray the figure lines so necessary. Perfect gowning is the result of perfect corseting. Last season's model will not answer, unless it is last season's model brought "up-to-the-minute" in line and curve.

With such an extensive range of makes and models it is a simple matter for us to fit you with "your model." Properly fitted—a corset should never fatigue one, no matter how many hours a day it may be worn. It should give just the right support and yet allow perfect freedom. New shipment are arriving almost daily.

Wirthmor Day

Pretty New Waists at . . . $1.50

A new allotment of this nationally known and nationally favored Wirthmor Waist will go on sale Monday. Beginning with the March issue The Ladies' Home Journal will carry a series of advertisements telling the story of Wirthmor Waists, of the unique plan under which these waists are made and sold, of the wholesome and happy conditions amid which they are produced, and just why we are able to sell waists of such splendid, never-disappointing quality at a price so extremely moderate. The same new styles at the same low price the nation over.

New Face Veils

Here in Montana where the wind blows and blows, stray locks are pretty sure to be seen flying in all directions, unless one has a veil. And it is because of this that we are apt to view face veils from a practical standpoint as well as from a point of elegance. The veils that we wish to show you are so softly meshed and the patterning is so nicely placed that they are sure to win your admiration.

The New Spring Hats

Are Most Attractive

Fresh every day from our workroom—also new tailored and pattern models coming in almost daily. Fabric hats with straw edges or straw trimming; straw hats with the perkiest wings and bows; soft straws with quilts and flowers; two-tone straw turbans—in delightful combinations of colors. There are plenty of the medium-sized hats, rather flat and simply trimmed, that are such true heralds of spring.

Moderately priced at $5.00, $7.50, $10.00 and up.
