BUSINESS WOMEN TO PRESENT PIANO TUESDAY.

Next Tuesday will be an occasion of special interest for the Business Women's club which will meet at the Y. W. C. A. for dinner at 5:30. Following dinner the club will conduct formal presentation ceremonies giving the new piano to the association and fastening the engraved copper plate to the instrument. At the meeting of the club last Friday evening, they adopted their constitution and the president, Miss Powers, appointed her committees. Louise Scudder will have charge of the publicity department. Hazel Davis is chairman of the membership committee and Miss Josephine Brown has charge of the recreation committee.

PRETTY DECORATIONS FOR "Y. W." EASTER BREAKFAST.

At tables made spring-like with bowls of yellow daffodils and pretty flower decorated place cards Great Falls girls will enjoy an Easter breakfast at the Y. W. C. A. next Sunday morning at 8:30. Easter lilies will be used profusely as decorations and will do their part in bringing to the girls the spirit of the day. Fifteen girls from the High School Star-dent club will serve the breakfast which is being planned by Miss Charlotte Garrick with the aid of the cafeteria committee. Following the breakfast there will be special music and Miss Josephine Brown will give an Easter talk. Tickets for the breakfast will be sold at the desk for 50 cents, until Friday.

The club is financed by the Commercial club and therefore no dues are necessary. It is a social organization and after an hour of business and program mixed a social hour and refreshments are enjoyed.

A short program has been arranged for this afternoon, during which time Mrs. George Carpenter will give a reading. Refreshments will be served.

HOMEBUILDERS' CLUB WILL MEET

DOMESTIC SERVICE COURSES PLANNED

Courses for training home assistants, who will go into the home by the day, hour or week and work on a schedule of hours and fixed wages, have been inaugurated by the Young Women's Christian association as a means for meeting the problem of domestic service.

The object of this course, now being tried out in New York, is to place domestic service on the same dignified basis as clerical work, trained nursing or other professions open to women. The home assistant will work eight hours a day for a salary of $15 a week. She will not live in the home of her employer or take her meals there. She will have an hour for luncheon, when she can go to a restaurant or eat a lunch which she has brought with her just as she would were she employed in a factory. The employer will not address the home worker by her first name. She will be Miss Smith or Mrs. Brown, as the case may be.

Applicants for the course are carefully selected, and registrants are appearing in large numbers. With the same independence as to recreation hours, places of eating and living as the factory girl, house-work has a greater appeal, as being a less monotonous and more interesting work to the average woman.

The course is a thorough one in plain cooking, waiting on table and door, chamber work, plain sewing, care of children, making of menus and the washing and ironing of light things. Heavy work is to be done by outside workers. On graduation the students receive a certificate which proves her qualification as a dependable home worker capable of attending to all ordinary duties in a home.

The Y. W. C. A. has been interested in the problem of domestic service both from the standpoint of the employer and from that of the worker for some years. The first commission on household employment made its report at the fifth national convention of the Y. W. C. A. held in Los Angeles, in May, 1915. The difficulties of attracting capable women in this field of work were laid to the long hours, lack of independence in arranging recreation hours, lack of opportunities for growth and progress and lack of social standing.

Girls have acquired a distaste for the conditions which govern household work since the freedom they have experienced in working in munition factories. By standardizing domestic service it is believed by the Y. W. C. A. that a higher type of worker may be attracted to the necessary work in homes.

LENTEN SERVICES ARE IMPRESSIVE

Y. W. C. A. Program This Week Is Proving Very Successful One.

Impressive lenten services are being held each evening from 6:30 to 6:50 in the club rooms of the Y. W. C. A. around the fireplace. On Monday night Mrs. William Fergus, one of the Y. W. C. A. board members, was in charge of the services and Tuesday the meeting was led by Miss Hattie Wing, president of the Younger Business Girls' club. Last evening Neva Johnson, one of the Student club girls, led the meeting and tonight Miss Esther Powers, president of the business women's club will be in charge. The services will be concluded Friday evening with services led by Miss Helen Smith. Maude Burghardt has given special piano selections at the lenten service.

WORTHY STUDENTS REWARDED

High school students who have been doing good work for the past month were rewarded Tuesday afternoon when informed that all whose grades were above 80 during March, will be excused at 3:25 each afternoon this month and permitted to study for the last period at home.

All whose work is under 80 are held until 4. They have the opportunity to raise their grades this month and if they reach the required standing may be on the list of those who will be excused.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS OPENING TO FARMERETTE

Results Achieved During War by Members of the Woman's Land Army Were So Good That They Are Being Recognized.

By ELINOR WOLF

New York, April 16.—The "green" farmerette will soon be a thing of the past. Training farms for her enlightenment in things agricultural have sprung up in several states, and now comes the announcement that the historic conservative old University of Virginia at Charlottesville has voted to turn over to the woman's land army its student army training corps barracks together with 25 acres of farm land as a training school for 600 girls and women.

This is the first university in the country to take such action and it did so only after the university authorities became convinced that the barracks and their expensive equipment would serve the most useful purpose possible when they served that of the woman's land army.

Three Distinct Courses.

The school will open in June and run thru September. It will be open to girls and women all over the United States for a nominal tuition. Three distinct courses have been outlined to serve different ends—one, a brief course of two weeks in the art of handling farm tools, for girls who wish to qualify for immediate farm work; another, a course of four weeks duration covering such subjects as camp organization and camp management, land army policies, etc., for women who wish to qualify as supervisors of units of girls; and a third and more technical, two equally brief courses in agriculture and farm management for women who hope some day to own their own farms or to become farm managers.

These courses represent the best that of experts, notably Miss Edith Diehl, national director of training of the woman's land army, who last year planned and directed the Wellesley College training camp, and Charles G. Maphis of the University of Virginia summer school professor, Edwin H. Scott, professor of agriculture at Georgia Normal, will be advisor on, and director of all courses on agriculture.

Entrance qualifications are few and mild. Absolute physical fitness and a minimum age limit of 18 are practically the only ones demanded of registrants for the short course; personality and executive ability and a "discreet" age are demanded of those who would be supervisors; while an ambition to own or operate a farm and the demonstrated intelligence to grasp the technicalities of scientific agriculture will admit any girl or woman to the agricultural course.

At first that Virginia may seem a warm climate for such an experiment, but the site of the camp is among the Virginia hills more than 600 feet above sea level and altho the days are warm the night breezes are cool and refreshing. The working day will be planned to make allowances for climatic conditions, so that a holiday spent at the camp should be the directors of the work believe, one of pleasure as well as profit.

The university grounds themselves are very beautiful. The university is one of the most beautiful groups of classic buildings in the country.

It is significant that this conservative old institution should be the first in the country to put its stamp of approval on the work of the Woman's Land Army to the extent to which it has. That it has done so is a tribute particularly to the work accomplished by the Virginia division of the land army which last year did excellent work in several counties in the state at picking and packing fruit. It has been said that the superior standards of camp management as demonstrated in the land army camps there have doomed the old type of insanitary camp and "insanitary" migratory labor.

Any girls or women interested in the courses may communicate with the university. The courses and conditions of entrance are outlined in the spring catalogue of the university.

SALVATIONISTS CONTINUE DRIVE

Not Half of $12,000 Quota Has Yet Been Turned in to Headquarters.

Adjutant M. G. Sainsbury of the Salvation Army announced the organization will continue its drive for funds with which to carry on the work of the army during 1919. The Cascade county quota is $12,000 and the campaign was commenced almost two weeks ago. However, due to the widespread belief that everyone took such a deep interest in the army's work since the world war, those who were expected to contribute heavily did not do so. This has made the drive long and to date just a little less than one-half of the amount needed has been turned in to headquarters. Just a few less than a thousand subscribers have been reported. Of course, many of the outside districts have not reported at all yet and some of the largest contributors have not been approached. But it is reasonably certain the quota cannot be reached this week.

So the army will continue the campaign until Saturday night and then abandon it until after the "Victory" loan drive has been completed, after which it will be taken up again and kept up until the $12,000 quota is procured. The fact that the Salvationists are discontinuing the drive until the conclusion of the "Victory" loan campaign is another indication of its loyalty to country and community.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, hies the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. FELT LIKE MUSCLES WERE TIED IN KNOT

That Is Exactly the Way Tindall Says His Rheumatism Acted.

"I had never taken a dose of Tanlac in my life until some six weeks ago, but I have received more benefit from the three bottles I have just finished than from all the other medicines I have taken put together," said George R. Tindall, of 6002 Eighteenth avenue south, Seattle, the other day. Mr. Tindall is employed at the Skinner & Eldly ship yards.

"For several years," he continued, "I suffered terribly from muscular rheumatism and kidney trouble. The muscles of my right arm would draw up at the elbow, and feel like they were tied in a knot. I had no appetite and the little I forced down didn't do me much, if any, good. My kidneys worried me night and day. I had an awful misery up and down my spine, and my back right over my kidneys would hurt so bad that if I stooped over it would almost kill me to straighten up again. I couldn't rest well at night, and many a time I would wake up at midnight and never sleep another wink the balance of the night, then my back would start hurting so bad that I could hardly get up out of bed.

"I guess I have taken most every kind of medicine sold without getting a bit of relief, and I was in mighty bad shape when I decided to see if Tanlac would help me. Well, I can honestly say that I haven't had an ache or a pain since shortly after I started on Tanlac. I sleep like a log at night, and my wife tells me that I am liable to eat us both out of house and home if I keep on with the appetite Tanlac has given me. I feel so well and hearty in every way that I have told the boys down at the shipyard how much good Tanlac has done for me, for I hope that my experience will be the means of helping others who may have troubles like I had."

Tanlac is now sold in Great Falls by Model Rx Pharmacy, 312 Central avenue, and Cascade Rx Pharmacy, 110 Third street south.—Adv.

OFFICIAL FILMS OF DESPERATE FIGHTS

"The Price of Peace," a Victory Loan Picture, to Be Shown Free Here.

Motion pictures taken in the thick of action on the American front from Scissons to Chateau Thierry have been released for exhibition before the public for the first time in "The Price of Peace," the treasury department's Victory Liberty Loan film which will be shown free of charge at the Grand next Saturday evening, between 7 and 9. To enable those who may not be able to attend this evening performance the film will be shown once at the 1 p. m. performance at the Sexton theater the same day.

Among those stirring scenes of real war are those showing the Americans as they went over the top and out in the wheatfields in the light of the sky, red with the angry fires of war.

In the Argonne sector our artillery is shown in violent action, in one of the last of the gas gun duels of the war. An American battery on a ridge cent in a hail of German shells is shown seeking a new and safer position, eluding the enemy guns.

From the St. Mihiel sector are pictures of U. S. infantry advancing over a field swept by shrapnel. Bursting shells at the field, while clouds of gas swirl over the scene.

A battle in the air, with German flyers attacking our observation balloons, and American flyers in turn attacking the Germans, is pictured in a swift sequence of scenes. A German plane is shown shot down and falling like a twirling leaf from the sky. A terrific barrage is raised about the balloons to protect them with a wall of bursting shell.

And then after all this turmoil comes scenes showing the American army encamped in Germany, with a captain of Uncle Sam as the new "Watch on the Rhine."

He Escaped Influenza

"Last spring I had a terrible cold and gripe and was afraid I was going to have influenza," writes A. A. Newese, High Point, Ga. "I tried many kinds of medicine, but remained clogged with cold. I then took Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, feeling relief from the first. I used seven small bottles. It was a sight to see the phlegm I coughed up. I am convinced Foley's Honey and Tar saved me from influenza." Checks coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Great Falls Drug Co.—Adv.
