Denies Reports of Break and Says Idaho and California Senators Are Quoting His Views.

Marion, Oct. 3.—Reports of a break between Senator Harding and leading irreconcilables over the treaty issue again were denied tonight by the Republican presidential nominee, who said he had received detailed information of public speeches by irreconcilable senators and had found in them no lack of harmony with his own views.

Confidence in Johnson "Senator Johnson repeatedly quoted from the League of Nations address which I delivered on August 28, giving his unqualified approval of it. His speech with this general endorsement of the party's platform and my own interpretation of it, brings no surprise to me. More than that, it adds to my confidence that when we have recorded America against the men who were being set in motion we are going to be able to have America agree on a program which shall hold us forever free and still play our part in expressing the new conscience of the world."

WORLD AWAITING BALLOT VERDICT HE TELLS NATION

Denounces Misleading Statements About Article 10, and declares There Is Nothing in Covenant Which Impairs Power of Congress to Declare War—Pleads for Honor of the Country.

Washington, Oct. 3.—President Wilson, in his first campaign appeal made directly to the people Sunday night, urged the indorsement of the League of Nations issue at the election, and declared "the whole world will wait for your verdict in November as it would wait for an intimation of what its future is to be."

Hits at Ignorance. The president said that those who had spent their lives, as he had, "in familiarizing themselves with the history and traditions and policies of the nation must stand amazed at the gross ignorance and impudent audacity which has led them to attempt to invent an 'Americanism' which has no foundation whatever in any of the authentic traditions of the government."

Have Wrong Conception. "Their conception of the dignity of the nation and its interests is that we should stand apart and watch for opportunities to advance our interests, involve ourselves in no responsibility for the maintenance of the right in the world or for the continued vindication of any of the things for which we entered the war to fight."

Rejoice at Issue. "Everyone who sincerely believes in government by the people must rejoice at the turn affairs have taken in regard to this campaign. This election is to be a genuine national referendum. The determination of a great policy upon which the influence and authority of the United States in the world must depend is not to be left to groups of politicians of either party, but is to be referred to the people themselves for a sovereign mandate to their representatives. They are to instruct their own government what they wish done."

Misled Regarding Treaty. "You have been grossly misled with regard to the treaty, and particularly with regard to the proposed character of the League of Nations, by those who have assumed the serious responsibility of opposing it. They have gone so far that those who have spent their lives, as I have spent my life, in familiarizing themselves with the history and traditions and policies of the nation, must stand amazed at the gross ignorance and impudent audacity which has led them to attempt to invent an 'Americanism' which has no foundation whatever in any of the authentic traditions of the government."

World Awaits Verdict. "Those who do not care to tell you the truth about the League of Nations tell you that Article X of the covenant and the league will make it possible for other nations to lead us into war, whether we willed it by our own independent judgment or not. This is absolutely false. There is nothing in the covenant which in the least interferes with the right of congress to declare war or not declare war according to its own independent judgment, as our constitution provides. Those who drew the covenant of the league were careful that it should contain nothing which interfered with or impaired the constitutional arrangements of any of the great nations which are to constitute its members. They would have been amazed and indignant at the things that are now being ignorantly said about this great and sincere document."
