Capital and Labor in Italy Are on More Cordial Terms

Rome, Oct. 3.—Italy has gone through a radical transformation in the relations existing between employers and workers with little injury to persons, property or the order of things, says Premier Giolitti in a statement to the Associated Press. He explains the significance of the settlement reached between the owners of industrial plants and their employees, and says that more cordial relations between capital and labor will exist in future. Incidentally, the premier, upon whose initiative the controversy was settled, takes occasion to ridicule alarming stories printed in the United States and other countries relative to conditions in Italy during the past month.

HOUSE SOLD OUT AT PALACE SUNDAY

"The Girl He Couldn't Buy" Makes Hit on First Night by Associate Players.

Every seat was sold by the time the curtain rose Sunday night on "The Girl He Couldn't Buy" at the Palace theater, when the Associate Players produced one of the best melodramas ever seen on the stage in Great Falls. The play is a melodramatic comedy of a distinctly original type and it was exceptionally well received by the audience.

The interest centered on Viola Hanes who, as Hope Nelson, did the best work of her engagement in Great Falls. She brought out every detail of the character and proved herself an emotional actress of the first degree. As Hope Nelson she is brought up in luxury and refinement, but is suddenly thrown on her own resources by the death of her father, who has been ruined by an unscrupulous partner. The partner then tries to get the daughter in his power and stops at nothing to accomplish his end.

Will H. Gould as Joe Maynard also appeared to great advantage last night. He had a part that gives him an opportunity and he made the best of it. Camille Purdy as Kattie Burns showed deep study of the part and she made a decided impression with her interpretation of the Bowry language and manners. Earl Moore, cast in the role of "Flip" Edwards did good work, as did Miss Myrtle Peppin, who took the part of the "Crab." Howard Foster in the role of David Durban carried the character part in fine shape and Adeline Rundell as Mrs. Edwards showed her wonderful ability as a character woman.

The role of Fred Armstrong was well handled by William Heater, and Ed Clisbee as Detective Clancy made a great part of a minor character of the production. Phil Thompson and William Hattefor as the policeman and the "crabs" husband did not have much to do with the play but they displayed talent while they were on the boards. The play will be produced again tonight (Monday) and every night the remainder of the week.
