shows that their growth or expansion can be attributed to manufacturing industries. With few exceptions wherein climate and natural resources have been the contributing factors, the towns and cities which have forged to the front as leaders in their part of the state and which have become prosperous communities, have had alert and progressive business men who pioneered in various manufacturing industries. This move always provides work for residents and payrolls to be distributed with local business houses.

In this respect, Butte is fortunate in having in the Russell Oil Co. refinery a concern which is one of the leading oil refiners in Montana.

This concern refines and wholesales Russell brand of gasoline and motor oil, and kindred oil products. All of these products are the equal or the superior of similar products refined and shipped in by other companies. They have gained a merited popularity with local people who have tried them and motorists in other communities where they are distributed. Russell gasoline is retailed locally at a number of service stations where you will be extended all the courtesies, such as radiator and battery water, air for tires, and other incidentals necessary to motoring which tends to produce a super service.

Inasmuch as the Russell Oil Co. is a locally established and managed institution, it is deserving of local support to the fullest extent. Through taxes on their holdings here they contribute substantial amounts toward county and mu-
