

FEELING LOTS BETTER NOW

Writes Ethel May Snider Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Hartford City, Ind.—Doing housework and taking care of a sick woman proved to be too much for Ethel May Snider, R. R. 1 of Hartford City, until she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overwork had so undermined her health that she had to give up all outside work, and when she saw this medicine advertised in the "Star" and other papers, she went to drugist and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She took it regularly, was greatly benefited and now feels very much better.

Ethel May Snider's experience is similar to that of thousands of other women in all walks of life, who have sent testimonials to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass.

Among those who praise the Compound are young girls who have been enabled to attend school regularly—working girls who have gained strength and endurance so necessary to them, housewives and mothers who have found that the tonic-effect of the Compound has enabled them to perform their daily tasks more easily.

Camp Corn Bread.
 2 C. flour 1 tsp. sugar
 2 C. cornmeal 2 tbsp. lard or butter
 4 level tsp. Calumet Baking Powder 8 tbsp. evaporated milk
 1 egg 1 1/2 C. water
 1 level tsp. salt

Mix flour and cornmeal together. Add baking powder, salt, sugar, lard or melted butter, egg mixed with evaporated milk and water. Mix well and pour into a well-greased pan. Bake in a Dutch oven 40 minutes. If the camper has no oven, bake in a pan covered and buried in hot wood ashes.

THE AMERICAN LEGION

DELAWARE WINS IN MEMBERSHIP WORK

Delaware department, by its sturdy membership work and an unprecedented increase, topped the honor roll of all Legion departments when the books were closed at national headquarters at Indianapolis in June for determining honor position in the convention parade, housing arrangements and seating arrangements in the convention hall at Philadelphia.

First state in the Union to ratify the Constitution of the United States on its adoption in 1787, Delaware resolved to be the first in the great sesquicentennial parade of the Legion to commemorate the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

To win this honor, Delaware rolled up a percentage of 208.33 for 1926, as figured against the average membership of the department for the four preceding years.

Not far behind Delaware came Florida, with 161.21 per cent. Idaho, winner of the Lindsay trophy, was third with 150.70 per cent.

The next ten of the forty-nine departments in order of rank were: France, 147.44; Wyoming, 138.01; West Virginia, 132.13; Arizona, 129.03; Colorado, 125.65; Canada, 120.83; Philippine Islands, 120.50; Alabama, 118.22; Georgia, 111.52; and Panama, 110.57.

An unusual feature of this year's race among the departments was the fact that 23 of them had at that date surpassed their average membership for the preceding four years as against only four departments to do so in 1925. Five departments had a higher percentage this year than enabled Florida last year to win first place.

One week after the closing of the books the Legion, as a national entity, had surpassed its total membership as of December 31 of the preceding year. This result, the first time it has ever been attained since the Legion was founded, was accredited to a national membership campaign launched by National Commander John R. McQuigg immediately following his election at Omaha in 1925. He then called upon department commanders to "go back to your departments and make 1926 the greatest membership year the Legion has ever known."

Paris Limits Number of Legionnaires to 30,000

The National France convention committee of the American Legion announces that the French government has limited the number of American Legionnaires who can be cared for in Paris during the Legion convention in September, 1927, to 30,000, that total being as many as the housing accommodations will permit. There are no large hotels in Paris, as Americans know them in the large cities of the United States. No other conventions will be permitted in the French capital during the proposed Legion convention week, September 19-23, 1927.

Because of this limitation, an allotment of space on the 24 ocean liners that will carry the Legionnaires to France has been determined, based on Legion membership in each state. The booking of berths, beginning November 15, 1926, will be done in each state by the department France convention officer until March 1, 1927, when those unfilled will be returned to John J. Wicker, Jr., national travel director of the committee, who will then fill them direct from his office from states whose allotments were not sufficient to care for the demand.

700 Candidates Are Initiated at One Time

More than 700 candidates were inducted into the American Legion at a recent monster outdoor initiation ceremony conducted on the athletic field of the General Electric company at Lynn, Mass., by Lynn Post No. 6. Fifty thousand persons watched the scene while giant searchlights played upon the field. Amplifiers made it possible to hear every word.

Preceding the initiation, 35 Legion posts and battalions of the National Guard and the naval reserves held a parade. A banquet attended by 475 persons was held earlier in the evening. Addresses were made by National Commander John R. McQuigg, Department Commander Francis J. Goode, Lieut. Gov. Frank G. Allen of Massachusetts; William J. Young, president of the Lynn Chamber of Commerce; Mayor H. S. Bauer of Lynn, and Post Commander Henry O. Silsbee II.

Legionnaires Assisted
 When the Eucharistic congress was held at Chicago recently, 300 American Legionnaires assisted in marshaling the crowds at the call of Senior Vice Commander Ferre C. Watkins, of the Illinois department. They helped to conduct 62,000 children through downtown Chicago streets on one day. They restored several hundred lost children to their parents. Chicago Medical post acted as emergency units during the congress.

Will Use Reflectors in Astronomical Work

New methods of research of astronomers call for the use of telescopes of enormous size, and the apparatus of the future, it is believed, will be the reflector. This type, of which there are several forms, employs a concave mirror with a silvered surface, instead of a lens. It is easier to construct in large sizes than the older form, the refractor. Large disks of pure optical glass are difficult to produce. That is why the biggest object-glass ever made is only 40 inches in diameter. In a mirror, internal faults that would be fatal in an object-glass do not matter. The light of the star does not pass through the glass, but is reflected from its concave face. This surface is covered with a highly polished film of pure silver deposited by a chemical process.

Youth and Age

Cortlandt Bleecker was talking at a New York supper club about a dance of very much undressed young girls that had just electrified, or at least shocked his guests.

"An aged captain of industry," Mr. Bleecker said, "was here the other night, and when this dance began he was all excitement.

"Would you kindly remove your hat, miss?" he said to a girl who sat in front of him.

"The girl turned and sized him up contemptuously.

"Certainly not," she said; "and besides, you're too old a man to look at a dance like this."

Aviator's Life Insurance

Fascist Italy's latest step in the promotion of aviation is a decree granting life insurance to military aviators and to civil aviators if they are members of the Italo Aero club. The decree states that "men engaged in the magnificent defense of the serenity of our skies" are naturally above any fear for themselves, and must not be worried over their safety, but that their families deserve every aid and protection. There is also a proposal on foot to give free airplane rides to children interested in aviation.—Chicago News.

Germany's Game Bag

Despite an area less than one-seventeenth as great as that of the United States and a density of population 10 times greater, Germany's fields and forests yield each year an amount of game that probably exceeds the total bag here. The total number of deer of all kinds shot yearly is estimated at about 250,000, equivalent to more than 5,000 head for each of the 48 states of the Union. Nearly 3,000,000 hares and rabbits are shot each year in Prussia alone. Germany places the food value of its annual game bag at $13,000,000.

Lead for Cancer

Out of 227 "hopeless" cases, 80 have had no recurrence of cancer after treatment with lead, according to an Edinburgh hospital authority. Lead salt injections are poisonous, however, and an effort is being made to find a lead colloid that will not have poisonous results. The 80 cases reported cured showed no effects of lead poisoning.

To the Point

"Censorship, or rather too much censorship," declared Tod Browning, famous director of crook and Oriental pictures, "is sapping the films of their vividness and vitality.
