WHAT WE NEED POLITICAL parties are the evolution of principles. When the dynamic of the principle is exhausted the party dies. Organization machinery cannot make a political party. There isn't anything binding nor inspiring in the mere frame work of organization.

We should force the riff-raff of the United States who believe in every ism, who are unstable in government, unsound in patriotism, unwelcome in citizenship, unworthy of leadership, who are opportunists, political vagabonds and beggars into a party which should be called the anti-federal party.

They are opposed to this government. Let us force them to go so in a political organization and in a political declaration and by political machinery, for which we can hold them responsible.

As our parties exist today they have in their rank and file men who are guilty of treason, who are unworthy of respect, who are cowardly, who are anarchists, socialists and traitors to the constitution and the flag.

America's greatest need is a party made up of brains and character and statesmanship and courage; made up of men who believe in the constitution, who are controlled by fundamental principles, who will never be moved by expediency, who will never yield to the cowardly doctrine of compromise, who will live to establish the right, or die to defend principle.

THE CHURCH CHIMES

By H. M. L. Her chimes, in soft, sweet measure Ring out some grand, old hymn About "Unfading Treasure", And earthly wealth grows dim.

The breezes waft her music So fine and true and sweet, And in our hearts' deep centers We feel it on the street.

So softly, gently, kindly, In business house and home, Its mellow-ringing blessing Enshrines us in its dome.

We pray a deeper blessing On this Lord's Day may fall Through God's own peace descending Directly on us all.

FOR SALE—Eight Milch cows, some fresh and others coming fresh, see Wm. Knatz.

Admission to Son Irish Father (to promising son)— Be a good boy and study hard, Denis, and some day you may be president of the Irish Republic and have every body in Ireland respecting your memory.—Tatler (London).

Let Government be Best. Government which governs least governs best, for one reason, because doesn't cost so much.

Canine Figures Flouted. In every town the federal canine figures are flouted by a good many some of the statutes are.

How Elephants Are Killed. Mashona natives of South Africa, kill elephants by hamstringing them with a broad-bladed ax when they are asleep or by stabbing them from an ambush between the shoulder blades with a heavy assegai.
