MCADOO HOME FROM RUSSIA; HE SAYS RECOGNITION WISE

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Return today after a trip to Russia, Senator William G. McAdoo described as "very wise, indeed" the decision of President Roosevelt in making overtures looking toward the recognition of the Soviet Union.

Pointing out recognition does not mean approval of a form of government, the former secretary of treasury said "there was never any reason why recognition should have been withheld."

The California senator was accompanied by Mrs. McAdoo.

People on the Moscow streets Senator McAdoo related, were well dressed, seemed to be well fed and happy.

None Idle

"I was much impressed by the progress and activity that I saw. There were no loafers around" the senator said, "and I was assured that there was no unemployment."

MOSCOW, Oct. 26.—Maxim Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, left Moscow tonight for Washington, where he will confer with President Roosevelt regarding American recognition of Soviet Russia.

In our capitalist press Julia Wirth has this to say about Litvinoff:

He is a big man with a fat stomach, graying light hair, pale eyes that are cold and calculating at one time, warm and friendly when he looks at his children. He looks like a successful Jewish cloak-and-suit merchant, whose hands like a western cowboy, talks English with a London West-end Jewish accent, wears eyes out with his dynamic energy, and can out-argue anybody on earth.

Criticism doesn't bother Litvinoff. He always has met with it. He knows that he has a longer and better record for sticking to Bolshevik ideals than practically anyone in Russia. He is, in fact, one of the "Old Bolsheviks," a title reserved for the small group which included Lenin, Trotsky, Stalin and others lucky enough to have been in on the 1905 revolution.

His business training is one of his biggest assets in his present job, for he is the only Russian commissar who thoroughly understands how to deal with representatives of bourgeois countries on their own ground. Moreover, he thoroughly enjoys it.

LIBERAL RELIEF IS HANDED OUT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The names of former President Hoover and several of his cabinet members were brought into testimony again today before the special senate committee investigating mail contracts.

The questioning centered on the purchase by the Colombian company of the steamship Haiti from the government for $10,000 and its sale in 1928, to the Ocean Dominion Steamship corporation known as the Aluminum line, for minimum considerations totaling $205,000.

The committee chairman said the government paid $1,000,000 for the vessel and spent more than the $10,000 Colombian purchase price in repairs.

COUNTY OFFICE FOR UNEMPLOYED WILL BE CREATED SOON

An office where unemployed can register for public jobs is going to be set up in each county. Our county commissioners are preparing to have an office of this kind functioning in Plentywood before long.

A board of three directors has been mentioned, consisting of county commissioner A. J. Olson, Leo Zeidler and Hans Rasmussen. It will be up to this board to appoint a manager of the office as soon as the final arrangements have been made, which is expected to be done at the first commissioners meeting, where a government man has promised to be present.

This undertaking is financed by the county and it is expected the office will be located two doors west of Riba's bank building. At this time Niels Madsen is doing the registering.

1147 SEEK WORK IN FLATHEAD COUNTY

KALISPELL, Oct. 27.—Fewer families are expected to apply for relief in Flathead county in November because of increased employment, the local committee has announced.

In October there have been 450 families depending on the emergency relief organizations as compared with 1,100 in March.

A supply of 10,000 pounds of salt pork from the government will be distributed.

Although the re-employment office has officially opened, applications have been recorded for more than a month and now total 1,447.

Loses Part of Hand

CULBERTSON, Oct. 26.—Louis Johnson, for many years employed as pumpman for the Great Northern at Blair, lost part of his right hand when it became caught in gears of the pump. He was taken to a Williston, N. D. hospital.

Deer Slayers Return

Jens Jensen, local oil baron, Orval Johnson and Dr. Hall are among those from here who brot back a deer apiece from along the Missouri this week. It is reported there are far more deer along the river than people think but due to the dense brush getting a good shot at one is rather difficult. It is whispered about, confidentially, that several of the go-getters from here suffered from buck fever or endeavor to talk the deer to death. A tale is told of one fellow, a prominent member of the upper stratum, who was observed with out-stretched arm pleadingly calling "come bossy, come bossy" to a fine big buck. After listening for a brief spell the antlered king turned his caudal appendage toward the zenith and with a disgusted snort fled unharmed from the scene.

OUT OF STATE LABOR WARNED FROM GLASGOW

HELENA, Oct. 24.—A warning that it would be futile for out of state laborers to go to Glasgow in search of employment on the Fort Peck dam project was issued tonight by Gov. Frank H. Cooney.

Cautioning that Montana winters are cold and that there will not be sufficient employment to take care of more than half of the laborers in the northeastern part of the state, the governor said.

"Outside workers don't need to come. There will be no work for them. There are plenty of workers available for the entire period of construction."

He said he had been advised that reports circulated in California said 15,000 laborers were needed for the project.

Through Offices Only
Men will be employed only thru the federal re-employment offices in each county. Men who are not registered in the counties in which they reside will be out of luck. They should not expect to go to Glasgow and register there, for they will not be permitted to do so. All calls for labor will be made thru these federal offices.

Glasgow is not equipped to handle a large influx of job seekers. It has no extra housing facilities and, with winter weather prevailing in the district, men who go there on their own are bound to suffer severe hardships.

Quarters will be provided by the government for the employed as soon as it is possible to do so. It is probable that bunk houses will be erected at the dam site.

Glasgow, Oct. 27.—Eighty more men went to work today clearing brush for construction of the Ft. Peck dam project. This brought the number of employees to 230, and 60 additional men are to be hired tomorrow. All are residents of Valley county.

BIG JOB AHEAD OF ALLOTMENT BODY

By Emergency Agent Peterson
A big task faces the Wheat Allotment Committee of Sheridan County during the next ten days while computing the number of allotment bushels that each individual farmer is justly entitled to.

It was that when the county average or pooled plan was adopted that would simplify the work of the county wheat allotment office which it would but for one factor, i.e., the heavy acreage over run amounting to 27% as an

NEW STATE LIBRARY IS BEING PLANNED

HELENA, Oct. 25.—Plans for construction of an historic library building on the spacious grounds of the Montana state capitol took definite shape today as the state board of examiners awarded an architect's contract to R. C. Hugin and Norman DeKay of Helena. The board of library commissioners at the same time adopted a resolution asking the board of examiners to apply at once to the public works administration for a loan and grant of $235,000 for the undertaking.

Plans submitted by the Helena firm call for a two-story and basement structure, 200 feet long and 70 feet deep, to be constructed with Montana granite on the exterior and Montana travertine marble on the interior.

The plan contemplates the inclusion of two large halls, one to be known as the hall of governors, the other the hall of pioneers.

The historical library now is housed in limited quarters in the statehouse basement.

PALUBICKI-FRISVOLD

Stanley J. Palubicki and Miss Cora Frisvold were united in the holy bonds of matrimony early Saturday morning, Oct. 28, 1933, at the Catholic parsonage by the Rev. J. Pratschner. The couple was attended by Erwin "Bud" Marsh and Miss Lucille Goodman. The contracting parties have lived in Plentywood many years and are well and favorably known to a large circle who wish them every happiness in their new venture.

A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Miss Frisvold by the Lutheran Ladies at the prettily decorated church parlors Monday evening, a week ago. Sixty guests were present. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents.

TO PROVIDE FOR WANDERING IDLE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Millions more pounds of food-stuffs were sought today by the government for the dual purpose of feeding the needy and strengthening the commodity markets.

In a simultaneous move to erect a buffer for the unemployed against winter's cold, the relief administration announced plans for a chain of relief camps among the states to care for penniless wanderers.

Harry L. Hopkins, the emergency relief administrator, asked for bids on 15,000,000 pounds of canned beef to be distributed thru wholesale and retail grocery stores—bids to be opened Nov. 6, at the relief office here.

Meanwhile it became known that the federal surplus relief corporation up to today has purchased 6,800,500 bushels of wheat of which 700,500 was cash wheat. Official sources declined to state amount of wheat that is to be bought, but it was learned that further large purchases are intended.

All of the food distributed thru grocery stores is to have stamped on the can or label "Not to Be Sold."

In addition to the wheat and beef, the relief administration is purchasing apples, butter and pork for the jobless and their dependents.

At the special session of the legislature, which is to take place the middle of this month, raising of additional tax for relief funds will be the most ticklish question coming up.

No doubt governor Cooney would like to see a general sales tax imposed on all the people of Montana. In that way even the people who are on relief would have to pay back a goodly share of it in the form of tax.

But the governor saw how the sales tax idea was snowed so completely under by the people in North Dakota and he knows the same thing would happen in Montana if taken to a vote. So the governor takes the easiest way out and plays neutral. He is going to leave it to the legislature and pass the buck to them.

HELENA, Oct. 24.—Governor Cooney said today it is apparent that means of raising additional tax money to provide relief funds must be devised at the special session next month of the Montana legislature.

Explaining that he does not intend to make any specific recommendations as to what form the additional taxation shall take, the chief executive said he will "leave the matter to be worked out by the legislature."

Although the governor said he will not recommend any particular taxation measures, discussions at the statehouse centered about a sales tax. It remains to be seen what action the assembly will take if it is uninstructed on this point when it meets.

Governor Frank H. Cooney announced yesterday that he would include in his legislative call a provision for the revision of the motor vehicle license act to reduce the fee on light cars to $5 as intended by the 1933 session.

The act was passed and approved by the legislative assembly but an error by an enrollment clerk kept the license fee on smaller cars of 2,750 pounds or under at $10. The case was taken to the state supreme court which held that the enrollment act must stand.

Four Definitions

The following will be definitely indicated in the call of the extraordinary session, the governor has said:

Creation of a water conservation board so high that federal funds may be secured for flood control projects.

Taxation measures to the extent of at least $1,500,000 so that federal relief funds may be obtained by the state.

Appropriation for the state liquor board to launch the state liquor business and possible revisions in the form of the present law.

Revision of the motor vehicle license act.

TAXPAYERS ASSN. MET WEDNESDAY

The Sheridan County Taxpayers Association, that somebody that was dead and gone, came to life again Wednesday by holding its annual meeting at the court house.

The meeting was called to order by R. R. Ueland of Antelope, but not very many were present and it was decided to hold another meeting in the near future.

This meeting went on record as favoring hydro-electric tax, luxury and cigarette tax, but being opposed to a general sales tax.
