

Mrs. Anne Myrhang Passes Sept. 14th

Mrs. Anne Myrhang (Myrhaug) was born in Trysil, Norway, Europe on October 17, 1871, and passed away at the home of her son, Ed (Oddmar) Myrhang here in Libby September 14. From infancy she was a member of the Lutheran church.

In 1902 she came with her husband and three sons to America. The family lived first in southern Minnesota and then settled in the northern part near Cook, Minn., where Mr. Myrhang continued his occupation, that of farming. In 1931 Mr. Myrhang passed away but Mrs. Myrhang continued to live on the old homestead with her youngest son until eight months ago when she came to live with her son in Libby.

In spite of the fact that for the last six months of her life she was bedfast, she never uttered any word of complaint. She had a humble and sincere faith in her Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. This sustained her to the end, which, although not unexpected, came suddenly last Sunday.

Three sons, Oddmar of Libby, Osbjorn of Coeur d'Alene, Ida., and Agnar of Cook, Minn., survive here. There are two grandchildren, Robert and William, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Myrhang, and two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Ed Myrhang and Mrs. Asbjorn Myrhang.

Funeral services were conducted at the Gompf Funeral Home by Rev. Hjortholm, pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Libby, on Wednesday evening at 8:30. A mixed quartet from the First Lutheran Church sang two songs. Pall bearers were: Carl Knudson, Don Roberts, Theodore Kessel, Walt Kessel, Gunnar Larson, John Solem.

Readjustment Act Helps Farmer Vets

Lincoln county's farm population is probably as large today as it was in 1930, according to D. O. Mount, manager of the Libby office of the Montana Employment Service, who made the comment in connection with the results of a study being made of assistance given self-employed farmer veterans under provision of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act.

Mount stated that the 1930 census gave Lincoln county 503 farm units and the 1945 total was 488. "Because of the help given veterans in the Eureka, Rexford, Yaak, Troy and Libby areas in establishing their own farming businesses," he explained, "the Lincoln county total of farm units now is almost certain to be considerably over 500." Under this law, Mount pointed out, honorably discharged veterans owning their own businesses can draw up to $100 per month minus the net profits of the business, if any, for the month. Credits vary in accordance with length of service but no veteran is entitled to more than $1040. In Lincoln county veterans taking advantage of this help include logging contractors, owners of retail businesses, builders and farmers.

Commenting further on the impetus given farming-ranching activities in Lincoln county by the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, Mount said only nine self-employed veterans had submitted claims in August. Inasmuch as few veterans have exhausted their rights, he is of the opinion that most of them now have their businesses on a paying basis most of the year.

"Indicative of the good accomplished by this program in Lincoln county is the file of commendatory and appreciative letters received from Lincoln county self-employed veterans," Mount said, calling attention to excerpts from two:

"I sincerely believe that the readjustment allowance program is completely satisfactory in its present form. It certainly was a wonderful help to me when I needed the allowance and I appreciated the help I received."

"I know several veterans who are operating a rather successful business, who without aid wouldn't have had the opportunity."

Thirteen letters, most of them favorable, are in the files of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, which administers the law in Montana, Mount said, adding that he believes the one that follows expresses the reaction of the typical self-employed veteran in this section:

"It's a lot more than I had expected, and although I haven't had to draw many checks, those I did draw have helped to get me started, and I have surely appreciated the courteous service I have received in the employment office."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to the Moose Lodge, the Union, and our many friends and neighbors who were so helpful and sympathetic following the loss of our loved one.

Legislature May Meet To Curb The Gambling Problem

Gov. Sam C. Ford has reported that he has received assurance from about one-fourth of the State's legislators that they are in favor of a special session to curb gambling in Montana "if other methods prove fruitless."

Ford said that only "three or four" persons of those replying to his letter had opposed a special session if that became necessary.

Ford wrote to all the State's legislators asking their opinion on a special session of the legislature in order to curb what he termed "flagrant gambling" in Montana. The letter particularly referred to the so-called non-profit social clubs, which have been incorporating under a law passed this year.

Ford said the response had been good to his letters, and added, however, that most of the legislators replying had urged him to exhaust all other means to combat the gambling problem.

Mary Lee Taylor's Braised Beef with Noodles
Broadcast: September 20, 1947
1 1/2 lbs. beef shoulder or chuck
4 teaspoons flour
1 tablespoon paprika (can omit)
1 teaspoon salt
few grains pepper
2 tablespoons hot shortening
3/4 cup thinly sliced onion
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup Fat Milk
3 cups hot, cooked noodles
1 1/2 cups hot, drained peas, cooked or canned
Cut beef into 1 1/2-in. pieces; roll in mixture of flour, paprika, salt and pepper. Brown in shortening. Sprinkle remaining flour mixture over meat. When meat is brown, push to side of pan and add onion. Cook 5 minutes, or until onion is lightly browned. Add boiling water; cover; cook slowly 1 hour, or until meat is tender. Stir milk in gradually. Heat slowly; do not boil. Arrange noodles on warm platter, putting meat mixture in center. Put peas around meat mixture. Serves 4.
