MANY ARE OPPOSED TO CONSCRIPTION

Question Raised by Congressman Evans the Cause of Much Discussion.

Anacoda, April 14.—The question of conscription for the army raised by Congressman John M. Evans' telegram to Montana constituents has caused all sorts of discussion in and around Anacoda. The telegram came directed to the Anacoda Chamber of Commerce. There being no organization of that name it was delivered to the secretary of the Anacoda Business Men's association, which has in the past few years taken over and cared for matters of this sort, as well as all others in which organized effort was called for in this city.

Those telegrams were published in the Post of yesterday and are self-explanatory. Exceptions to the reply have been taken and another message was sent to Congressman Evans last evening as follows: "Reply of the Anacoda Chamber of Commerce to your telegram in no wise represents the sentiments of the community. Anacoda stands loyally behind the president in his request for authority to raise an army by conscription."

"It is not a question of a lack of volunteers, but of raising an army in the manner which will be the best for the lasting good of the nation. In asking for conscription, we feel that the president has been advised by the best authorities in the country. We urgently request you to back up the president by voting in favor of conscription." The message of the business men, sent the night before, was as follows: "A consensus of opinion gathered tonight from citizens of Anacoda is that Montana will rally to the colors with men and resources, and that conscription is not necessary at this time. Anacoda and Montana are strictly loyal and will support any measures adopted by our president and representatives in congress to the limit of powers."

It is evident that Anacoda men of all classes are of one mind as to loyalty to the administration, and that their differences are largely as to means rather than as to the aim. A few of the prominent citizens who could be reached today expressed their opinions on the subject as follows: L. V. Beader—"I do not think conscription is necessary at this time. Montana will rally to the colors if it is necessary."

J. M. Minor—"Volunteers first, if we need more soldiers get them." W. H. Duff—"I am for conscription."

L. G. Smith—"I do not believe in conscription at this time. I do not think it necessary." John W. James—"I think that conscription is useless. The American people are too patriotic and too loyal to need conscription. So far as Deer Lodge county is concerned the response will be in excess of the pro rata called for."

George P. Wellcome—"I am in favor of conscription if an army cannot be raised any other way first, but let us try the other way." J. P. Stagg—"Let those who want to go, go first. If that is not sufficient then conscription."

J. B. Gnos—"If that demonstration last Monday night meant anything at all, if there was any patriotism or loyalty in that immense throng, conscription is not needed in Anacoda."

Chauncey L. Beal—"No, conscription at this time would be a sham at the patriotism of the American people. Give our boys a chance. They have not had time to make ready for the response they are ready to make to President Wilson."

Tom McGrath—"No, we do not need any such measures in Montana yet." Mayor Ed O'Brien—"I do not think conscription is necessary in Anacoda. This city will furnish its full quota of men for the service."

Albert Klein—"My boy has volunteered. If other boys do not do likewise, I favor conscription." G. W. Sparrow—"I do not think that American boys will have to be forced into the service of Uncle Sam."

T. J. Kelley—"Yes, I cannot see how else the army is to be raised." Frank Muller—"Under present conditions, conscription is not needed." E. E. Hauser—"For invasion there will be plenty of men but we are going across the water. Conscription may be necessary."

J. H. Murphy—"No, conscription is not necessary." Brush Backwith—"The enthusiasm and patriotism shown here indicate that locally conscription is not necessary at this time."

C. R. Fuller—"If Uncle Sam needs men there will be plenty forthcoming." R. M. Greig—"Let everyone take his own shift. I favor conscription." Fred Gangner—"Not at all necessary here, but give the president full power."

C. R. Rae—"I believe we will find that, when called upon, there will be plenty of young men in this country willing and ready to go." Judge Pringle—"After three years of the Great Britain has not resorted to conscription. Why should we?"

Circular letters were issued today by the committee.

In part the circular reads: "The committee feel that in view of the arrangements that can be made, and the generous offer of the Anacoda company to pay one-half of the amount to be raised to finance this undertaking, it should not be difficult or burdensome to subscribers to secure the other half and thus enable the public, as well as visitors to our city, to have the opportunity of enjoying the renditions of this famed musical organization."

The money to defray half of the expenses will be raised by popular subscriptions. The place for the concerts will be designated at a later date.
