

TO RUSH PAVING ON PARK STREET

Council to Consider Resolution at Meeting Wednesday Night.

That no time will be lost by the city council in acting upon the petition of Park street residents for street improvements was indicated last night, when the petition was turned over to the street and alley committee and instructions given for a report next Wednesday night. City Engineer Ed Kane declared he will take action immediately and hopes to have the street improved before fall.

"It's a question of material," he said. "I would like to see the resolution acted upon as soon as possible. Right now cities all over the country are having troubles in obtaining the necessary paving materials. We should lose no time if we expect to have the street improved this year."

More than 80 per cent of the property owners on Park street signed the petition. They wish that bituthite will be used as a cover for the granite blocks. It is understood, however, that if their desire as to the form of paving stops competition to such an extent that the price will be raised, another form of paving similar to bituthite may be considered.

It is understood that property owners along other streets in the downtown district are getting busy and that petitions for the paving of Main, Broadway and Granite streets will be turned over to the mayor within a few days.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I am an orphan girl, and when only seventeen years old had to support myself, but I would have such sick spells every month that I would have to stay at home from work, and I could not afford to do it. AUSTIN ELECTED TO COUNCIL JOB

Choice of Seventh Ward Receives Support of City Council.

Frank I. (Key) Austin, in accordance with the wishes of the Seventh ward voters, was elected to a position in the city council at a meeting held last night. Many friends of the new alderman were on hand and applauded when he was escorted to the chair he will occupy for the next two years.

Austin's election to the city council establishes a precedent. Several weeks ago Alderman Foltz resigned. In the past when an alderman resigned the council chose his successor. That was the procedure planned in the Seventh ward case, but Mayor Maloney put his foot down and declared the people of the Seventh ward should decide for themselves as to who should represent them.

A mass meeting was held several nights ago and Austin received the most votes of the several candidates seeking the office.

Mr. Austin is a democrat.

"I am glad to be a member of this administration," he said. "I feel that the people will remember for some time to come the administration of Mayor Maloney. I am well pleased to be associated with him because I feel he is a mayor who will do things."

Backache—Rheumatism—Gout—

It is now asserted with confidence that these painful effects due to uric acid in the system are entirely eradicated. A new remedy, called Anuric, has been discovered by Dr. Pierce, which is many times more potent than lithia, and is the cause of a drainage outward of the uric acid with which it comes in contact within the body. It will ward off backache, headache, and the darting pains and aches of articular or muscular rheumatism—of those diseases which are caused by too much uric acid, such as gout, asthma, sciatica, renal calculus. Anuric prolongs life because old people usually suffer from hardening and thickening of the walls of the arteries, due to the excess of uric acid in the blood and tissues.

Anuric can be obtained in 50c and $1.00 packages at the principal drug stores in town.

HARD WORK FOR EMBRYO OFFICERS

Harden the Men in Training at the Presidio to Become Officers.

San Francisco, June 1.—The 2,500 men mobilized at the Presidio military reservation here, where they are taking a three months' intensive course of training to fit them for commissions in the new United States army, are in their third week. During that time only 30 men have dropped out of the same. This is only a slight fraction over 1 per cent and is considered an excellent showing when it is taken into consideration that the men now are living a life the routine of which is revolutionary to that which they have been accustomed all their lives.

The departed 30 were retired for various reasons. A few were found to be physically unable to stand up under the strain of the grind. Some were unable to leave for the reason that they failed to show sufficient enthusiasm and interest in their work. Others were excused because of vital domestic or business exigencies which unexpectedly arose and which it was impossible to ignore.

Three Shots in the Arm.

The remaining 2,470 men now are getting over the effects of the third prophylactic shot against immunization—to which every man in the outfit was subjected. "Feeling pretty rotten" is the individual and collective physical condition just at the moment. This is general throughout the entire camp. Even the strongest and sturdiest have wilted more or less under the influence of the third and last shot in the arm. When the effects of this wear off in a day or so the men will feel better than ever, according to the medical men in the camp.

Time was, in the early days of the camp, when the hospital corps was lenient on the men and took cognizance of their minor ills and hurts for the reason that it appreciated the results were drawn from all sorts of lines of business of a sedentary nature which did not tend to keep the men physically hardened. It was comparatively easy then to enlist sympathy and get a lay off. The scale was something like this:

Sore finger—One day off.
Blister—One day off.
Medium size boil—One day off.
Large boil—Two days off.
Charley horse—One day off.

Eliminating Sympathy.

These silver linings to the dark cloud of the military grind no longer obtain. One isn't supposed to have sore fingers or blisters any more, and if one does have them, one is supposed to be sufficiently hardened by this time to take no account of such trivialities.

Occasionally surprises are sprung on the men in order to determine just how far they have progressed in the various lines of preparedness. The commanding officer of the Seventh company surprised his men one day, or so ago by skipping inspection and taking the men on a four-hour march through the sand. Several members of the company are reported to have passed the afternoon in bed recovering from the surprise.

Notwithstanding the grind there are many things of a humorous nature constantly occurring which keep the men in good spirits. A high private in the Eleventh company was recently called to task for appearing at an inspection of arms with a dirty bayonet. "I should think a dirty bayonet would be much more effective against an enemy than an antiseptic one," he remarked later to a group of company mates.

Weeding Out.

Beginning next Monday the officers in charge of the camp plan to start a "weeding out" process, and the knowledge of this fact has served to heighten the tension among the men. No chances will be taken in the matter of having men in command who are not thoroughly fitted in every way to assume the responsibilities which they will be compelled to undertake.

FAVOR SETTING CLOCKS AHEAD ONE HOUR

Stromberg and E. Gray. Reuben Maury delivered an address on "The Present War Situation."

CHICKEN FEED IS NOW PROHIBITIVE IN PRICE

Petaluma, Cal., June 1.—The feeding of vegetables to chickens as a solution of the high cost of chicken feed is suggested by a poultry farmer of this city. Chicken feed has now become so costly that many poultrymen are dressing their hens for the market instead of keeping them for egg-raising purposes. The vegetables can be raised by the poultrymen themselves. The diet of vegetables and greenstuffs, in addition to grains, will keep the hens healthy, says the poultryman.

PROSPECTORS GO OUT IN SEARCH FOR NEW METALS

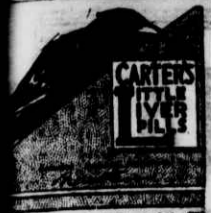

Golden, Colo., June 1.—The war is developing certain metal needs in the United States which offer an opportunity for prospectors and miners who may know of new mineral deposits, according to teachers at the Colorado School of Mines. Chief among the needed metals are molybdenum, uranium, manganese, platinum and nickel. Among the non-metallic metals there is a great demand for clear, colorless fluorapatite. The school has offered its identification service to prospectors who discover minerals unknown to them.
