Washington, Nov. 12.—A petition for rehearing in the so-called Alaska rate investigation was filed with the Interstate commerce commission today by former Delegate James Wickersham. ### JURISDICTION OF BOARDS SETTLED

Judge Bourquin of Federal District Court Rules in Habeas Case.
 That the local boards under the draft have full jurisdiction to see that the text of the conscription act is obeyed, was the decision given today by Judge Bourquin of the federal district court in the case of the application of George Raguz for a writ of habeas corpus. Declaring that the failure of Raguz to fulfill all the requirements of the conscription act made it impossible for him to resort to alienage as a defense against the draft, the court denied the application.
 Raguz was registered before the city board. He was given a registration number, chosen in order with other registrants, and called for examination before the city board. The man failed to appear for examination. The man was certified to the service, but failed to appear for enlistment. He was arrested.
 After Raguz was arrested he claimed that he is an alien and thus without the jurisdiction of the board that certified him for service. In failing to appear for the habeas writ, he started action for the habeas writ. He started action to appear for examination the court held that Raguz lost his right to claim alienage as a grounds for exclusion from the draft.
 The habeas corpus petition of Walter Odinski was granted by the court and the chief of police ordered to show cause. Odinski is an alien who has followed all the rules prescribed for aliens, but whose exemption claim was denied from the draft.

MANY SOLDIERS MOVED RECENTLY

Since August 502,000 Soldiers Have Been Transported on Roads.
 Since early in August 502,000 soldiers have been transported to various points in the United States without interfering with the regular passenger business, according to a telegram received here today by C. H. Mitchell, division freight and passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, from the head offices in Chicago. The telegram reads:
 Commenting on the work done by the railroads in connection with the mobilization, Secretary of War Baker said figures now available show that since early in August, when large troop movements began, the roads have transported 502,000 soldiers to various points without any serious derangement of their regular passenger schedules and at the same time have absorbed an enormous additional freight traffic brought on by war conditions.
 "This striking co-operation of American railroads with the government and also the tremendous capacity of American railroads," he added.
 Five days after congress declared war the chief executives of the leading railroads met in Washington to consult with the council of national defense and pledged themselves with the government of the United States, with the governments of the several states and with one another, that during the present war they will co-ordinate their operations in a continental railway system, merging during such period all their individual and competitive activities in the effort to produce a maximum national transportation efficiency.
 The executive committee of five then selected now directs the operations of all the railroads as a single system. In doing this the railroads acted voluntarily and no law has been enacted to enforce co-ordination. They have received no guarantee of compensation such as the British government guaranteed the English railways which are assured the same net returns that they earned before the war began.

The general public is invited.

The fact that Dr. Haxo is a native of that country, a land that is so intimately bound up in the history of the United States and a country that has suffered so much in the present war, makes the coming lecture one of abiding interest to the people of this city.

VEGETARIAN IS HIS OWN REASON FOR EXEMPTION

Los Angeles—J. W. Velzy, who registered for military service in Santa Clara county and who was picked up and questioned by Detectives Staughter and Finlayson, stated that he had filed a claim for exemption on the grounds of being a vegetarian.
 "The government food would make me sick, so I have asked exemption on that ground," was his excuse for not having answered his country's call to the colors.
 His father-in-law, who lives in this city, reported to city district No. 17 that he believed Velzy would claim exemption on the ground that he had a wife and baby, but that as he had left his wife and baby without visible means of support to deny the claim.

PLEADS GUILTY TO PRIOR CONVICTION

Dan T. Boone Placed on Trial for Taking $1.50 From J. Eberst.
 Dan T. Boone is on trial before Judge Dwyer today charged with robbery in holding up and taking forcibly from the person of Joseph Eberst on the night of May 19 of this year the sum of $1.50. Boone was also charged with prior conviction, and had entered a plea of not guilty to the robbery as well as the prior charge some time ago.
 This morning before proceeding with the trial he withdrew the plea of not guilty to a prior conviction and pleaded guilty. When the information was being read to the jury there was an objection made to the reading of that part of the information charging prior conviction on the ground that it did not now enter into the case as Boone had pleaded guilty, but the county attorney contended otherwise and the judge upheld the county attorney's view of the case. Attorneys Dan T. Malloy and F. A. Silver appear for the defendant, while the state is represented by County Attorney Joseph R. Jackson and Chief Deputy County Attorney N. A. Rotering.
 The prior conviction to which Boone pleaded guilty was had in San Joaquin county, California, in March, 1914. At that time he was found guilty of grand larceny, and under the name of Ed Ryan was sentenced to five years in the state prison.
 The selection of a jury occupied the morning and the taking of evidence is proceeding this afternoon.

THE HECKLER

William Jennings Bryan said in a temperance address in Kankakee: "We temperance people should make no rabid, exaggerated or false claims. With the truth we can win and easily win. Inaccusations only harm us."
 "A temperance lecturer once ruffled up his hair and roared:
 "Every glass of beer a man drinks shortens his life one week."
 "Question!" shouted a stout, red-faced chap in the gallery. "Question!"
 "Well, what's your question, friend?" said the lecturer.
 "Did I understand you to say, sir, that every glass of beer a man takes shortens his life a week?"
 "That's what I said. Why?"
 "Oh, nothing," said the stout chap said, "I've been doing a little mental arithmetic, and I find I ought to have been dead 650 years ago."

WOMAN WARNED NOT TO RETURN

Judge Tells Mrs. Osaynich Will Not Give Her Another Divorce.
 Divorces took up the greater part of the time of Judge Lynch during a morning session of the court today. Annie Osaynich was granted a divorce from George Osaynich, although she was warned by the judge that she appeared for the third time for a separation from a husband who was not liable to get it. The plaintiff was twice married and each charged cruelty as the grounds for divorce. She married her second husband on Jan. 29, 1917, and according to her story, it was only a short time until Osaynich started in to abuse her.
 "You seemed to be very happy the day you got your first divorce," the judge said; "the decree is issued, but remember, don't you go back here again looking for another divorce. You had better stick to the husband. I will not allow any woman to be a woman again, to be dragged here across herself." Attorney Dan T. Malloy represented the plaintiff. Kate Owen, who is seeking a divorce from William J. Owen on the ground of cruelty, was allowed $40 a month for the support of herself and two children pending the determination of the trial. The couple were married Feb. 1910.
 Isabella Cross secured her divorce from the ground of desertion. She said she married Cross at Vancouver, B. C., and that he was a marine engineer, living on one of the Canadian liners to China. While in the company of the steamship company he contracted the morphine habit and through habitual use of it he lost his mind. Previous to leaving her, he was said that her husband by Joe Brown appeared in behalf of the plaintiff.
