

News of Huntley Project

Local and Personal.

William S. Arthur, chief clerk and fiscal agent of the reclamation service, left for points west on his vacation trip Wednesday evening. Mr. Arthur will visit the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, several points in California, and spend some days at his home in Denver, thence returning to Huntley.

C. D. Howe, assistant engineer of the reclamation service, returned Monday morning from a week's visit at the Lower Yellowstone project at Glendive.

The young people of Huntley gave a dance in Day's hall last Friday evening. The dance was well attended, Billings being generously represented, and all enjoyed a good time.

The erection of the new residence of T. P. Walter, one of Huntley's leading merchants, is being watched with interest as it promises to become a big improvement and addition to Huntley.

During the past few weeks a great number of homeseekers have visited the Huntley project and all were favorably impressed with what they saw, the crops and conditions in general on the project being a good drawing card. The result of this season's crop certainly shows what the soil on Huntley project can do if properly taken care of, and in many cases exceeded expectations.

C. H. Pollard and wife, accompanied by Mrs. M. A. Hooton and granddaughter, arrived Tuesday afternoon from Chadron, Neb., to visit Ella L. Hooton, proprietress of the Hotel Huntley, who is the daughter of Mrs. Hooton and sister of Mrs. Pollard. Mr. Pollard is a printer and came here primarily on a visit and for recreation, but is so pleased with the project and the community that he may decide to make his home here.

R. Richards of the United States geological survey at Helena has been at Huntley the past few days on business in connection with the river gauges.

Everywhere on the project signs of prosperity and improvement are in evidence. More cement sidewalks are appearing on Huntley's main street and it is hoped the good work continues.

Women and the Home

The best dustclothes are made of old silkline.

Grass stains may be removed by cream tartar and water.

Scotch snuff put in holes where crickets come out will destroy them. Salt on the fingers when cleaning fowls, meat or fish, will prevent slipping.

To clean aluminum wash with strong soapuds with a little of ammonia and soda.

Mustard water is useful to clean the hands after handling any odorous substance.

A few drops of oil of cloves added to paste will prevent the latter from turning sour.

For blood stains use cold water first, then soap and water. Never use hot water, as it sets the stain.

Wood ashes put in a woolen bag and placed in the water is a simple means for making hard water soft for washing.

Yellow soap and whitening, mixed to a stiff paste with a little water will stop a leak in the pipes as quickly as solder.

Use vinegar instead of water for mixing stove polish; this will make it stick much better and will also give a better polish.

Half a teaspoonful of sugar thrown into the embers, will nearly always revive a dying fire, and it is always safe to be used for that purpose.

To prevent lamp wicks from smoking, soak them thoroughly in vinegar and then let them get dry before putting them into the kerosene lamp to be used.

If the ceiling should become smoked from an improperly regulated lamp underneath, the blackened surface may be cleaned by washing it with a little weak soda water.

When packing away white summer dresses or any white goods for the winter, wrap each piece carefully in blue paper. It will prevent the white material from turning yellow.

Writing ink, especially if kept in an open bottle, quickly becomes thick and unfit for use. In that case dilute the ink with a small quantity of vinegar and shake the bottle well.

If soot should fall on the carpet, cover it liberally with salt before making an attempt to sweep it up. It will then be possible to remove the soot with the salt, leaving the spot clean.

Rugs often have a tendency to curl at the corners. To prevent them from doing so, bind them on the underside with a strip of narrow webbing of the kind that is used to hold the springs in furniture in place.

It is a thing well worth knowing that a few drops of oil of lavender scattered upon book shelves back of the books will prevent dampness from injuring the bindings of books during prolonged seasons of rainy weather.

Moths do not like to make their nests in any place where salt has been and one may often get rid of them by scrubbing the floor with a hot and strong solution of salt before laying down the carpet and scattering dry salt on the carpet when sweeping it.

Deferred.

Locals From Osborn

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Bingaman are receiving a visit from her parents, who arrived this week from Kansas.

The two Misses Colliers of Lockwood spent Tuesday at the Johnston ranch at Osborn.

Mr. and Mrs. Cohan are entertaining friends from Billings.

William Jeffries, Vasco Jeffries, Ray White and Arthur Spence are spending a week with Ray Spence on the ranch.

Relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Elker, after a pleasant visit, departed for their home in Illinois last Wednesday.

Miss Edna Eiker took charge of her school at Pompey's Pillar last Monday.

Miss Violet Peterson is teaching the Myers school.

Miss Eugenia Elker has returned to Billings to enter the high school.

A carload of lumber was received Monday at Osborn for the new buildings on the demonstration farm.

Miss Jessie Riley entertained a school friends from Townsend last week.

A musical given at Osborn Tuesday night was highly appreciated by all. Mrs. Cohan rendered several vocal selections and Mr. Sheats played a violin solo. The violin solo by Attie and Frank Russell was good, showing they are on the road to success. A recitation by Rev. Gault was good, while Miss Haw, who accompanied, needs no praise, as it was all so well done.

C. Campbell of Illinois, who has been visiting at the home of William Seagle, has filed on a farm and will settle here.

Ballantine Briefs.

School opened Monday with a full attendance in both rooms. A number of new pupils were enrolled.

Miss Phyllis Trask left this week for Minneapolis, where she will become a student at Graham Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Trask accompanied their daughter for a short visit.

E. A. Boschert and A. A. Boschert made a trip to Helena last week.

Rev. Joseph Pope will preach at Ballantine Sunday morning, Sept. 19. Mrs. Edgar Hibbs and Miss Re Bryson entertained recently in honor of Miss Nora Holbush of Billings and Curry Bryson of Nebraska. About 20 young people were present and spent a pleasant evening.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet Wednesday, Sept. 22, with Miss Grace Mackinson.

James Silvey of Custer was visiting Ballantine friends last week.

Charles Kinnmouth is building a new house on his ranch east of town.

J. W. Webb has rented his farm unit to I. L. Brooks for the coming year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brooks have gone to Billings for the winter.

Why Pat Dropped.

An Irishman fell from a house and landed on a wire about 20 feet from the ground. After he had struggled a moment the man let go and fell to the ground. Someone asked why he let go. "Faith," was the reply, "I was afraid the domn'd wire would break."

Appropriation for Indians Unnecessary

Payment to Minors of the Sac and Fox Tribes May Be Made When 21.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—A specific appropriation by congress is not necessary to pay interest on Indian moneys provided for either by treaty or general law, according to a decision of the comptroller of the currency.

The comptroller holds that until the minors in the Sac and Fox of Missouri tribe in Kansas, shall arrive at 21 years of age, their respective shares in the fund accruing to the tribe for the cession of their lands to the United States, shall draw interest at 5 per cent.

The $100,000 fund of the tribe, representing an unexpended balance, was ordered by congress to be distributed per capita to the members of the tribe, the per capita to the minors, however, being retained in the treasury until the minors become of age. The minors' shares aggregate $3,227.
